and mother, the little girl remained firm, and today the following letter appeared in several Chicago papers:

"Mr. Kidnaper: Please leave my brother Angelo in Lincoln Park at North avenue and Clark street, with anyone you may choose, and if you must have one of us I will go with you willingly instead. I think you have the wrong boy, for my papa has no money. We are very poor. We cannot even pay our grocery bills and we will starve if papa does not get work. I do not know where to reach you, as you sent no address. I hope you will see this in the papers.

"STINA MARENO, Angelo's Sister."

The girl today said she would go to the place named in her appeal at 10 a.m. Wednesday if she received an answer in the morning mail. She also expressed faith that the "bad men," when they realized they had a little boy whose father had no money and who was out of work, would yield to her request and would not take her.

WILLING VICTIM.

"They can hold me for a ransom instead of Angelo, if they want to," said Stina. "Even if they kill us all, they can't get money, because we can't even pay our grocery bills. I believe they think they have some rich man's boy and when they find out they are mistaken they will be willing to leave him.

"I would die to save Angelo, if it is necessary, but the kidnapers have not even sent their address and they haven't told us where we could reach them if we had any kind of a bargain to offer."

Leading Italian residents of Chicago today declared it to be the duty of the police and the Italians of the city to put an end to the Black Hand carnival of crime, which, so far this year, has resulted in a score of murders and a hundred bomb blasts, besides numerous kidnapings.

That these crimes can be stopped and the criminals driven from the city is the opinion of such well-informed men on Black Hand criminology as Dr. Joseph Damiana, former president of the "White Hand Society;" Oscar Durante, editor of L'Italia, and John Garibaldi, supporters of that society while it was in existence.

LONG PUBLIC LIFE ENDS.

Senator Frye Dies Suddenly.

Maine's Distinguished Statesman Passes Away at Home of Daughter.

Was Oldest Member of Upper House Both in Years and Service.

Democrat Will Succeed Him in the United States Senate.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

LEWISTON (Me.) Aug. 8.—The State of Maine lost its senior United States Senator and almost life-long faitful servant when Williame Pierce Frye died today at the home of his daughter, Mrs. Helen White, here.

At his bedside were Mrs. White and his other daughter, Mrs. Alice Briggs, who also resides here. Although he had been ill for a long time, death came suddenly.

Forced by the condition of his health to resign his position of President pro tempore of the Senate at the beginning of the present special session of Congress, although he retainted his membership in the Senate, Senator Frye soon afterward made his last journey to the city, which always had been his home.

For several weeks his condition was not considered necessarily dangerous. Up to last week he rested in comparative comfort, spending much of his time in reading or in having some member of his family read to him.

Last week the Senator's illness took a serious turn, but again he rallied, and this week his physicians expressed the hope that he might recover. As late at 3:15 o'clock this afternoon he appeared to be in a comfortable condition. Shortly afterward it was seen that he was sinking rapidly and at 3:55 o'clock he died.

A general breakdown, due to age and his extremely arduous career, is ascribed by physicians as the cause of death. Funeral arrangements had not been completed tonight.

DEMOCRATS WILL GAIN SEAT BY FRYE'S DEATH.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

WASHINGTON, Aug. 8.—News of Senator Frye's death reached the Senate informally this afternoon while Admiral Togo, the Japanese naval hero, was being given an ovation during a ten minutes' recess.

As the Senate was still in the legislative session of Monday by reason of continuing under the agreement to vote on the statehood bill on the legislative day of August 7, it was decided that no announcement should be made today of the loss of the Senate's oldest member—oldest both in years and service.

There was a unanimous desire that when adjournment out of respect for his memory was taken, it be for an entire day. This formality will be complied with immediately after the Senate convenes tomorrow.

Senator Frye was famed for his fairness to all members, whether as the presiding officer or in debate on the floor. He never let politics interfere with his unwavering consideration for the feelings of his colleagues.

DEMOCRAT WILL SUCCEED.

By reason of the recent Democratic victory in Maine and the resultant election of a Democratic Governor and Legislature, Senator Frye will be succeeded by a member of that party. The change will reduce the Republican membership of the Senate to forty-nine and increase the Democratic membership to forty-one. Senator Frye's term would have ended March 4, 1913.

There are said to be a half dozen prominent Democrats in the State who will aspire to the short term appointment, but Senator Johnson, the Democratic Senator from Maine, declined to venture an opinion as to who his colleague was likely to be. The appointment will rest with Gov. Plaisted.

The accession of another Democrat to the Senate will make the Maine Congressional delegation, for years solidly Republican, four Democrats and two Republicans. The Democrats already have half the Maine membership in the House.

REMARKABLE COTERIE.

Senator Frye was one of the last two of that remarkable coterie of Main statesmen which began with Hannibal Hamlin, ended with himself and Senator Hale, who retired at the close of the last session of Congress, and included James G. Blaine, William Pitt Fessenden, Thomas B. Reed and Nelson Dingley.

Both he and Hale began service in the Senate is 1881 and served side by side for thirty years, a much longer time than any other two men sat together in the Senate.

Frye began his service as the successor of Blaine, and Hale as the successor of Hamlin. Both entered the Senate after conspicuous service in the House and both began their Congressional careers in the latter body almost simultaneously.

The parallel would have been complete if Mr. Hale had not skipped a term between the termination of his House and the beginning of his Senate service, and if he had not practically voluntarily severed his connection with the Senate by announcing long in advance that he would not be a candidate for re-election after the conclusion of his Senatorial term ending in March, 1911.

IN CONGRESS FOUR DECADES.

Mr. Frye was in Congress forty years, giving him the longest continuous Congressional record, with the two exceptions of Justin S. Merrill of Vermont and William B. Allison of Iowa.

For fifteen years Mr. Frye had been president pro tempore of the Senate by virtue of the fact that he held this office when the late Vice-President Hobart died; he assumed all the functions of Vice-President of the United States during the latter part of McKinley's administration. Previous to the assumption of duties of presiding officer, Mr. Frye was one of the most active debaters in the Senate.

Coming to Congress before the close of the reconstruction period, following the Civil War, and being a pronounced partisan, he immediately became an active participant in the discussions of that thrilling period. He soon took front rank as a speaker and by the time he had served ten years had attained to a position of such eminence that but for his elec-

Dissatisfied Actress Customer Plies Horsewhip on Dog Fancier of Note; Wife of Horsewhipped Man Lays Blame on Business Deals; Says no Taint of Scandal Attaches; Proves It by Kissing Husband's Bruises.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

CHICAGO, Aug. 8.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Frank T. Brown of this city is a lawyer. He likewise has fame in two continents as a breeder of thoroughbred bench dogs. Brown was the victim of a severe lashing at the hands of an angry woman—Jeanette Carpenter, an actress of St. Louis—last Sunday. Brown tells one story about the affair; his wife backs him up. Other parties give another version.

Brown says Miss Carpenter was dissatisfied with a deal whereby she became the owner of a kyoodle with a pedigree supposedly of the bluest. In this version his wife concurs, and, just to show that she believes it, she put on her prettiest dress the other evening and accompanied her husband to dinner at one of the haut ton restaurants of the city.

ANOTHER REPORT.

Dame Rumor, however, would have it that there is more behind the affair than a mere dispute over the dog in question. There are hints of scandal, in which the name of the actress and the lawyer are coupled in significant fashion.

However, the fact remains that Brown is a dog fancier. He undoubtedly sold Miss Carpenter a dog, pedigreed, blue-blooded, worthy of a place on any bench show in two continents. Those, who support the theory that the horsewhipping came about because the actress discovered her canine acquisition boasted a yellow streak along with the blue, point to the fact that rumors have been rife for months that Brown's dog business hasn't been, so to speak, on the level.

QUITE A FANCIER.

Brown numbers millionaires of two continents among his patrons, and it is more than whispered that these millionaire fanciers have paid fabulous prices for canines, which they entered in bench shows only to have them ruled out because of lack of class.

These critics of Brown's kennel pets intimate strongly that he could pick a mongrel dog out of the streets, put it through a course of canine calisthenics and high living and sell it at whatever figure he choose to mark upon the price tag.

It is still an open question which story is right.

CALIFORNIA OIL CONTRACT FOR NICARAGUAN WOR

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 8.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] By an agreement today in this city between representatives of the Nicaraguan government and the Associated Oil Company, California oil will be supplied to the Isthmian republic for use as fuel for all public utilities, which are government owned.

This agreement was reached by J. Weinberger, a wealthy planter and merchant of Managua, acting as special representative of the Nicaraguan republic, and F. T. Hutchinson of the Associated. Confirmation is expected tomorrow morning by wire from President Diaz of the Republic of Nicaragua.

"At the start," Hutchinson announced, "the transaction will mean the shipment of several hundred thousand gallons of oil annually to Nicaragua, and eventually many millions, for the introduction of oil as fuel will hasten the development of the country and increase the consumption of fuel rapidly."

At present there are about two hundred miles of railroad in Nicaragua, and tramway lines are in operation in Granada, Rivas, San Jua Del Norte, all owned by the go ment. For several years the go ment has projected a railroad the Atlantic to the Pacific, a portion of this has been constr

ROME, Aug. 8.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] The situation caused by the sanitary measures taken by the governments of the Argentine Republic and Uruguay is causing much inconvenience to emigrants, especially in the south, where it is feared that the United States will follow the example of the South American republics. The emigrants want the government to test the feeling by asking President Taft to use his good offices in persuading the Argentine Republic to desist from what is considered an insulting action.

This step is considered unnecessary by the government here, which is certain that the United States will never follow the example of the Argentine Republic, but will trust to the good faith of the Italian doctors. Many emigrants who had booked passages for South America and were compelled to return home, are now clamoring to have their passage money refunded and some are also claiming damages.

lley returned from California re- y and went to his former home, occupied by his family which he n January, 1910. It was rumored the couple had effected a reconciliation. Attorneys state that the Kelleys will probably remove from Seattle at an early date and begin life again under new conditions. The couple were married at Sumner, this county, January 20, 1897, and have three children, a boy of 12, a boy of 5 and a daughter 2 years old.

Shortly after the disappearance of Kelley and Mrs. Henry from Seattle in January, 1910, Mrs. Kelley filed her complaint in divorce proceedings and procured an order from the court tying up her husband's property. Kelley for some time before his departure had been closing up his affairs and turning much of his property into cash, but a small fortune in real estate and improvements could not be readily converted into coin. This Mrs. Kelley tied up.

Courts were appealed to by the husband and officers searched for the mother and children for nearly two weeks. When they were found in San Francisco, S. [BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

WASHINGTON, Aug. 8.—The long-expected reorganization of the American diplomatic corps involved in appointing successors to Dr. David Jayne Hill, as Ambassador to Germany, and to Charles S. Sherrill, as Minister to Argentine, both of whom resigned, was announced today, when the nominations of three Ambassadors and five Ministers were sent to the Senate.

John G. A. Leishman of Pittsburgh, Pa., now Ambassador to Italy is transferred as Ambassador to Germany.

Thomas J. O'Brien of Grand Rapids, Mich., at present Ambassador to Japan, is transferred as Ambassador to Italy.

Charles Payne Bryan of Chicago now Minister to Belgium is promoted to be Ambassador to Japan.

Lars Anderson of the District of Columbia, who has previously been in the diplomatic service, is appointed Minister to Belgium.

John Rigley Carter of Baltimore, Md., Minister to the Balkan States, is transferred as Minister to the Argentine Republic.

John B. Jackson of Newark, N. J., now Minister to Cuba, succeeds Mr. Carter as Minister to the Balkan States.

Arthur M. Dupree of Aurora, Ill., now Minister to The Netherlands, becomes Minister to Cuba.

Lloyd Bryce of New York, the only one of the nominees who is not now or has not been previously in the diplomatic service, is appointed Minister to The Netherlands.

Secretary Knox announced the resignation of Charles H. Sherrill as Minister to the Argentine Republic after today's Cabinet meeting. Mr. Sherrill was asked by President Taft to remain in the service and it is said, was offered an embassy. He declined on the ground that he had been in the service a long time and wished to retire with the idea of going into business.

SENATOR FRYE DEAD.

tion to the Senate he undoubtedly would have been elected Speaker of the House.

EMINENTLY PRACTICAL.

Both as Senator and as Representative Mr. Frye gave most of his time to practical questions. He was for many years chairman of the Senate Committee on Commerce and in that capacity became an expert of all questions dealing with shipping, navigation, river and harbor improvements, lighthouse, revenue cutter and bridge legislation. He was one of the principal promoters of the movement in favor of subsidies for the promotion of American shipping. So highly was his judgment in most of these matters regarded that no ordinary bill reported from the Commerce Committee was ever questioned.

Mr. Frye was also a member of long standing of the Committee on Foreign Relations. In some respects this is regarded as the most desirable of all the Senate committees, yet so anxious was he to serve the commercial world that, when Senator Sherman retired from the chairmanship of the Foreign Affairs Committee, the Maine Senator voluntarily surrendered the vacated place to remain at the head of the Commerce Committee.

INTERNATIONAL AUTHORITY.

Of international questions, Mr. Frye gave most attention to matters involving Oriental relations. No man in public life had a better command of the situation in the Samoan Islands while they were a bone of international contention. He also was familiar with conditions in Hawaii before the annexation of the islands and was an effective advocate of American control there.

He was one of President McKinley's ardent supporters in the Spanish War and when that conflict was brought to a close he was selected as one of the American Commissioners to negotiate a peace treaty which he afterwards signed in Paris. Before entering Congress, Mr. Frye had attained distinction as a lawyer in his native city of Lewiston. The financial outlook was most flattering, but he always declared that while he probably would have been able to amass a large fortune he had no regrets over his course in foregoing this opportunity. Senator Cullom now becomes the ranking member in point of longest service.

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 8.—An order of removal was made by the United States Commissioner today in the case of M. O. Goodner, a salesman of Houston, Tex., who deserted his wife and ran away with his stenographer, Anna Block, now detained here as a witness. The arrest was made under the white slave act and Goodner will contest extradition on the ground that he had no intention of taking the girl to an immoral resort.

and, perhaps, changes in the law, were mentioned as the prime essentials to rid Chicago of these Italian criminals.

"What we need is one or two hangings at the County Jail," declared Dr. Damiani. "If the police will send just one of these murderers to the gallows, the people of Chicago will hear nothing more of the Back Hand for a year. They are not such fearless criminals as they like the public to believe them."

KIDNAPERS RENEW AND AMPLIFY OLD THREATS.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

CHICAGO, Aug. 9.—Antonio Mareno, whose 5-year-old son was kidnaped by "Black Hand" blackmailers, received a third letter from the kidnapers late today. The writers made a direct threat to kill the boy if ransom is not paid by daybreak.

"If you don't send us the money," read the grim letter, "we will send the boy home to you in a box salted."

Fully believing that the blackmailers will carry out their threat to kill his little son, Mareno begged the police to use all possible haste in running down the gang. A score of detectives, including several Italian members of the force, hurried to the Canal street Italian quarter soon after the letter was received by Mareno. No arrests were made, however, and the detectives returned to Gault court, which has been the pivotal point in the peculiar case thus far.

Today's letter was in the same handwriting as the other two and was unsigned. It follows:

"Listen, big spy, dishonest scoundrel! You turned to the justice telling them that you had no money, but it is not as you say, that you have no mony. We know how much you have. It is not that you have no money, but that you have no affection for your child. We have affection for your money, more than you have. If you have no affection for your child, how do you expect us to have any? If in four days, which will end tomorrow at daybreak you don't send us the money we will send the boy home to you in a box, salted. And our time we will spend at work looking for you and your big son. We will pay you a nice compliment with our hand. Wherever you go you will find us at your back. Look out and think well before you do something that you will be sorry for. Find friends, for you can find them, because it will be to your advantage. And if you don't come to our order, we will do away with you and your family."

REAPPORTIONMENT SIGNED.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 8.—[By A. P. Night Wire.] President Taft signed today the reapportionment bill, under which the House of Representatives is increased from 391 to 433 members, with two more if Arizona and New Mexico are admitted to the union.

and added that Mrs. Force was in an extremely nervous condition.

"For the past couple of years," he said, "Mrs. Force and the two girls have been traveling much and were not closely affiliated with any particular church. Prior to that they lived in Brooklyn and attended Holy Trinity Episcopal Church. They were confirmed there by the late Dr. Hall.

"It is a terrible thing that a minister should give out a statement of the nature of that given out by Rev. Richmond. My family is dreadfully upset about it, and especially Mrs. Force. She and the girls will remain several days in Newport and then return to the city in Col. Astor's yacht."

SLAYER STILL AT LARGE.

M'CLOUD (Cal.) Aug. 8.—Elmer M. Mitchell, who shot and killed Harry M. Ryan last night when the latter remonstrated with him for using vile language in the presence of his wife, is still at large. Officers are searching for him. Though no clew to his whereabouts has been obtained, he is believed to be hiding in the nearby forests. A Coroner's jury returned a verdict today, declaring that Ryan was killed by Mitchell without cause.

ESCAPE WHILE SHERIFF SLEEPS.

PUEBLO (Colo.) Aug. 8.—[By A. P. Night Wire.] While handcuffed together, James Blackburn and Jack Ingham, who were being taken from Cheyenne, Wyo., to Tascosa, Tex., by Sheriff Armstrong of Oldham county, for stealing live stock, escaped at Bragdon, Colo., at 3 o'clock this morning. Sheriff Armstrong fell asleep and the men walked from their seats in the train.

FLASHES

By Wire to The Times Yesterday.

BOSTON. In the first five days of its existence the Postal Savings Bank in this city took in $14,500 on 800 accounts. Business on the opening day amounted to $1200, and has increased steadily each day since. The authorities believe that the bank will soon be receiving more than $5000 a day.

GIBRALTAR. The American practice squadron, consisting of the battleships Iowa, Indiana and Massachusetts, sailed for Annapolis Tuesday. The squadron, under Commander R. E. Coontz of the Annapolis Naval Academy, and having on board the Naval Academy midshipmen, sailed from Annapolis on June 3 for a summer cruise to European ports, covering about 7000 miles. The voyage will end August 28.

ALEXANDRIA (Egypt.) A boat overloaded with natives who were on their way to attend a fair at Dessuk foundered in the Nile. Nearly 100 persons were drowned. Thirty-six bodies have been recovered.

BOSTON. A public welcome was extended Tuesday in Feneuil Hall to the visiting delegates to the national convention of the Independent Benevolent and Protective Order of Elgs (negro.) Thursday afternoo nthere will be a street parade. The convention will close with a picnic Saturday.

NEW YORK. Because of the absence of rioting Monday in the Brooklyn street car strike, the company announced its intention yesterday of operating 135 cars manned by nonunion men. The strikers are anxious to bring about an arbitration of the demands and grievances, while the company persists there is nothing to arbitrate, and none of the men's demands will be granted.

TRINIDAD (Colo.) Five buildings were destroyed by fire Tuesday, believed to have been of incendiary origin, at Starkville, five miles west of here. The loss is estimated at $10,000. The blaze was discovered at 2 o'clock and for four hours men, women and children battled with the flames that threatened the entire town.

LAHORE (British India.) The ravages of the boll worm are so widespread in the Punjaub that unless it can be speedily checked the belief is expressed that there may be little or no cotton crop in the province this season.

ALBUQUERQUE (N. M.) Dr. Salomon L. Burton, city physician, was driving through a prominent street of the city when a formaline solution and acids in his buggy came in contact and exploded. The physician escaped injury, but the buggy was partly destroyed and the horse was saved from burning to death by prompt action of spectators.

NEW YORK. The directors of the Chicago and Alton Railway Tuesday declared the regular semi-annual dividend of two per cent. on the prior lien stock.

LONDON. Car men joined the other strikers on the London docks Tuesday and union officials claim that 70,000 men are now affected. Work on the south side of the Thames River is at a standstill. The strikers are peaceful.

MINOT (N. D.) Judge James G. Witten, who will be here August 11 to take charge of the opening of the Berthold Indian reservation August 14; estimates that practically 100,000 persons will register at the four registration precincts, Minot, Bismarck, Ryder and Plaza.

Woman Bests Four Bandits in Husband's Saloon and Makes Them Return Money.

[A. P. NIGHT NEWS REPORT.]

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 8.—Mrs. Frederick Caviglio reported to the police today that she held up four men in her husband's saloon and forced one of them to return the $15 she had seen him take from the cigar box till under the bar. She was drawing the four "steams" ordered by the men when she chanced to see the thief rummaging under the bar. A description of the men, who afterwards escaped, was furnished the police by her.

DOGS LEAD WAY TO MASTER'S BODY.

FAITHFUL CANINES ARRIVE WITH HELP TOO LATE.

Former Californian Torn to Shreds When Ashes from Pipe Ignited Dynamite, Drags His Bleeding Twenty Feet, and Covering Himself With a Blanket, Dies.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

RENO, Aug. 8.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] J. S. Smith, a former California lawyer and brother of G. W. Smith, an insurance man of Los Angeles, met death in a horrible form at Lodi, Nev., last Saturday, and his remains were discovered through the actions of his dogs who came into Lodi and howled and whined until a relief party was sent in search of Smith, who was engaged in mining for W. E. Hurley of Reno at the Valley View shaft.

Smith was evidently smoking a pipe and the hot ashes falling on a lot of dynamite caps which he had in front of him exploded, disemboweling him, tearing the front of his body into shreds. The explosion also destroyed Smith's eyesight, but in spite of his terrible condition, Smith dragged himself twenty feet to the mouth of the shaft, and putting a blanket over himself, lay down to die.

Following the lead of the dogs, his body was discovered and word sent to his brother in Los Angeles, who arrived and buried the remains yesterday.

Smith had been a lawyer in California when the mining fever overtook him and he prospected the hills of Nevada. He was working for the Valley View property under contract and just fired a round of shots and prepared to leave the mine for a friend's house to have dinner. Before leaving he sat down upon a log and stooping over, the hot ashes from his pipe ignited the dynamite caps which lacerated and blinded him so that he died in terrible agony some time after crawling into the shaft.

FIGHTING FOREST FIRE. SHASTA TIMBER DESTROYED.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

SHASTA, Aug. 8.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] The greatest forest fire that has ever raged in Shasta county is spreading today in the country in the vicinity of the Shasta mine, three miles west of this place. The mine hoists and buildings were in danger this morning, but it is now believed they are safe. The flames are being swept along at a rapid rate by a fierce wind. Three ore four prospectors' cabins have been destroyed. The flames have swept over a territory six miles square. Every man that can be sent out has gone to the scene, and is fighting to save the mining and other properties.

HELENA MAYOR RESIGNS. CITY ATTORNEY SUCCEEDS.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

HELENA (Mont.) Aug. 8.—Mayor F. J. Edwards, whose term will expire next May, resigned his office today and the City Council elected Edward Horsky, City Attorney, as his successor. Mr. Edwards would give no reason for his resignation. However, he told the Council, in executive session, that the voters at a recent bond election did not appear to be in sympathy with the proposed new water system, which the Mayor had advocated.

THAW'S NEPHEW "DOING TIME."

Heir to Huge Fortune Behind Oregon Pen Bars.

Pawned Sweetheart's Watch; Then Lost Tcket.

Prisoner Admits Identity; Would Hide Secret.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

SALEM (Or.) Aug. 8.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Masquerading under the name of Curry Kirkland, Dr. Harry Thaw Kirkland, nephew of Harry Kendall Thaw, is in the Oregon penitentiary, according to a statement made by John Wilson, an eastern tourist, here today. Kirkland, when questioned, admitted he was the son of the first Mrs. William Thaw's daughter, the Countess de Vail, and showed by his talk complete familiarity with the Thaw family. If he is Dr. Kirkland, he is now heir to a vast estate in Scotland.

According to Wilson, Dr. Kirkland, when a young man, was sent to America and became a "remittance man." After arrival in this country he married a woman in New York and shortly afterwards became addicted to drink, and leaving his wife, came West. He located in Oregon City, where he became acquainted with a young woman, and failing to secure his regular remittance and being hard pressed for cash, pawned his sweetheart's watch and lost the pawn ticket. His arrest followed and the Klackamas county court sentenced him to a year in the penitentiary for the crime of larceny by bailee.

Dr. Kirkland is a graduate of the Edinburgh Medical College and is the only heir, under Scottish law, to the Thaw estate. His mother is a daughter of the Countess de Vail and a half-sister of Harry K. Thaw of New York and a sister to the Duchess of Yarmouth. The late William Thaw was a widower when he married Harry's K. Thaw's mother and had three daughters by the Countess de Vail. Mrs. J. Kirkland was Miss Mary Edna Thaw, who contracted a secret marriage with the young Scotchman. Her father opposed the marriage to the last, but after his death she came in for a share of the estate, which amounted to over $9,000,000.

Harry K. Thaw is the next heir to the estate. Kirkland's sister, Mrs. Hazel is one of England's greatest actresses, her stage name being Alice Tempest. Mrs. Capt. Reed of Washington is another one of the prisoner's sisters.

Dr. Kirkland stated today his incarceration was unknown to his relatives.

ITALIANS DON WAR PAINT.

"Black Hand" Uprising in San Francisco Results in Wholesale Attempt to Burn Homes of Fishermen.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 8.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] War has broken out among the Italian fishermen at Meiggs Wharf. The "black hand," the sign of an unending vendetta, has been placed on a number of houses and saloons where fishermen reside, and within the past month three attemps have been made to burn the houses while their occupants were asleep. The latest attempt was made between 11 o'clock and midnight last night, when some one saturated a large roll of old fishing nets with coal oil, placed the inflammable stuff at the side of the Neptune Saloon, at the foot of Taylor street, and set fire to it.

A large Newfoundland dog, owned by G. Marioni, one of the proprietors, gave the alarm. A few minutes later the bartender smelled the fumes of the oil through a window leading to the saloon in the shop for Italian fishermen. The police are using this as a clew to solve the mystery.

On the side of both the "Neptune" and Sanguinetti's saloon, a large black hand was daubed crudely. The police are working on the theory that a feud exists among the Italian fishermen.

CHAUFFEUR IN JAIL. MIXED AUTO AND BOOZE.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

SAN JOSE, Aug. 8.—Lacking $1000 bail, William Drury, a San Francisco chauffeur, is held at the County Prison charged with violating the new State law prohibiting the operation of automobiles while intoxicated. This is the first case of the kind in this county, and is the result of a collision near Mountain View between Drury's automobile and a rig driven by J. B. Daly, a farmer. Drury denies that he was intoxicated at the time of the accident.

DEPUTY SHERIFF KILLED.

Starts Saloon Row With Old Enemies, Is Shot Thrice and Has Head Beaten to Pulp.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

KLAMATH FALLS (Or.) Aug. 8.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] John Lambert, deputy sheriff and marshal of Fort Klamath, is dead; Al Wood has a broken leg from a wound inflicted by Lambert, and Will Donald was shot through the fleshy part of the leg by Lambert. Both wounded men have been camping around Fort Klamath for several months and have been recognized as determined characters. Lambert had trouble with Wood before he arrested him on a previous occasion and roped him until he got sober.

The shooting was opened by Lambert in Jack Berry's saloon. Lambert entered and said: "I understand you fellows are looking for me." With this he drew a revolver and opened fire, shooting each man in the leg. The three men then started for the outside. Donald fell with a broken leg. Wood then drew his automatic revolver nad fired six shots three taking effect. Donald then beat Lambert's head in with the butt of his revolver.

CAR TOWER WRECKED. TWO WORKMEN INJURED.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

SAN JOSE, Aug. 8.—A car tower was wrecked here today and two men engaged in repairing a trolley wire were thrown fifteen feet to the ground and seriously injured. Henry and Charles Woehl were in the "crow's nest" when it was raked from the tower by an unnoticed guy wire. The men were carried from the scene of the accident on stretchers in an unconscious condition and placed in the care of physicians.

Await Coroner's Verdict.

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 8.—[By A. P. Night Wire.] Harry Dunphy, charged with the murder of Miss Sophie [illegible], whom he shot after she had refused to permit him to escort her home from a dance, appeared today before Police Judge Weller. After instructing the prisoner as to his legal rights, the court continued the case until Saturday for arraignment, and to await the result of the Coroner's inquest.

Extradition Granted.

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 8.—[By A. P. Night Wire.] United States Commissioner Wright ordered today the extradition of William Rodgers, alias Turner, and Maud Rodgers, also known as Maud Phillips, to Auckland, New Zealand, to stand trial on a charge of stealing $4050 worth of jewelry there from the jewelry shop of Adolph Cohn. The couple will return to Auckland in the custody of Detective Edward Scott of that city, by whom they were traced to San Francisco.

Optometrists in Session.

SALT LAKE, Aug. 8.—[By A. P. Night Wire.] Optometrists from all sections of the country gathered today for the opening session of the fourteenth annual convention of the American Optical Association. Illness prevented the president, C. N. O'Donnell, from being present. A manufacturers' exhibit is one of the interesting features of the convention.

Victim of Unionites Dies.

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 8.—[By A. P. Day Wire.] Dennis Cornin, one of the men shot during the labor troubles at the plant of the California-Hawaiian Sugar Refining Company at Crockett on Sunday night, died at a hospital here today. He was a by-stander and took no part in the fight between the union and non-union men. Edward Decker, accused of having done the shooting, is in jail at Martinez.

Makin's Prove Costly.

STOCKTON, Aug. 8.—[By A. P. Night Wire.] Juan Vargas, convicted of stealing two sacks of tobacco from a grocery store, was sentenced today by Judge C. W. Norton of the Superior Court to two years at Folsom penitentiary.

REVENGEFUL ORPHANS.

CHICAGO, Aug. 8.—Four inmates of the Uhlich Evangelical Lutheran Orphans Home set fire to their dormitory, where there were 100 other children, today because three of them had been denied the daily privilege of a visit to Lincoln Park. Firemen extinguished the blaze, after $200 damage had been done.

SHANNON UNDER FIRE OF LEGISLATIVE COMMITTEE.

State Printer Admits Buying Paper Stock When the Warehouses Were Full—Zellerbach Company Got Orders and Supported Him Politically—Official Kept Incomplete Set of Books.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

SACRAMENTO, Aug. 8.—Without any advance warning of its intention the special committee appointed at the last session of the Legislature to investigate the text-book situation in this State, met today at the Capitol and began its probe of the printing of text-books by the State.

State Printer W. W. Shannon was the first and only witness called. The committee learned from him that twice during his incumbency as State Printer the State has had so much paper stock on hand that it had to hire space in private warehouses. Once was in 1906 and the other time is the present. In each instance the heavy overstock was purchased from the Zellerbach Paper Company of San Francisco and in each instance the order was placed in the month following the general election. Questions showed that the Zellerbach people had supported Shannon.

The other telling points made during the day were to the effect that Shannon has not kept a complete set of books, that he never was present personally when an inventory of stock was taken, that most of the work of conducting the office was left to his employees and that, after all, he knew but little of what was going on in the office.

Tomorrow the committee will continue its investigation and Shannon will again be put on the stand. It is likely that the questioning of Shannon will be completed by tomorrow evening and then the committee will adjourn for four weeks, when the investigation of the text-book situation will begin. At that time not only will the members of the four firms who are said to have received nearly all of the State printing business be called as witnesses, but every one else connected with the printing and distribution of text-books in the State, including State Superintendent of Public Instruction Edward Hyatt and the members of his office.

IT GROWS HAIR

Here Are Facts We Want You to Prove at Our Risk

Marvelous as it may seem, Rexall "93" Hair Tonic has grown hair on heads that were once bald. Of course, in none of these cases were the hair roots dead, nor had the scalp taken on a glazed, shiny appearance.

Rexall "93" Hair Tonic acts scientifically, destroying the germs which are usually responsible for baldness. It penetrates to the roots of the hair, stimulating and nourishing them. It is a most pleasant toilet necessity, is delicately perfumed, and will not gum or permanently stain the hair.

We want you to get a bottle of Rexall "93" Hair Tonic and use it as directed. If it does not relieve scalp irritation, remove dandruff, prevent the hair from falling out and promote an increased growth of hair, and in every way give entire satisfaction, simply come back and tell us, and without question or formality we will hand back to you every penny you paid us for it. Two sizes, 50c and $1.00. Sold only at our stores—The Owl Drug Co., Inc., Los Angeles, San Francisco, Oakland, Cal.; Seattle, Wash.; Portland, Ore.

Successful Treatment of Hay Fever

The demand for Dr. Hayes' book describing the new and successful method of relieving and curing Asthma and Hay-Fever has been so great that a new edition of one hundred thousand has just been put to press and will be ready in a few days. Dr. Hayes is distributing the book free to all sufferers and if you want a copy send a two-cent stamp with name and address at once to P. Harold Hayes, M.D., Buffalo, N. Y., asking for Bulletin B-114. Reports from cases treated the past few years show that the disease does not return.

BAILEY PEEVED OVER COLQUITT.

Will Not Support Governor in Re-election Campaign.

Favors Tom Ball Because Once Helped by Latter.

Texas Politicians Get Shock in Public Statement.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

AUSTIN (Tex.) Aug. 8.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] A distinct sensation was furnished political circles today by the publication of recent telegraphic correspondence between Senator Bailey and W. H. Dougherty, of Gainesville, Tex., in which the Senator flatly denies that he said at any time that he would support Gov. Colquitt against Chairman Thomas Ball of the State-Wide Prohibition Committee for the Governorship.

Bailey's telegram, which is under Washington date of August 4, denies that he told Colquitt on one occasion last year that he was for him (Colquitt) against the world, though "they were fixing up Ball to run next year."

The message says, in part:

"I said distinctly, and without qualification, that I would support Tom Ball for Governor or for any other office for which he might offer himself as a candidate. When I was fighting for my life—indeed, when I was fighting for my good name, which is more than my life—Tom Ball did everything he could to help me, while Colquitt did nothing in my behalf."

The telegram then declares that Bailey would cheerfully support Colquitt for a renomination, that being the unbroken rule in Texas, but that he would not allow that consideration to control him to the extent of supporting Colquitt against Ball.

Bailey controlled the Texas Legislature until he opposed State-wide resolutions indorsing his reciprocity. Since then the Legislature, dominated by prohibitionists, has shelved resolutions endorsing his reciprocity attitude. He has announced his candidacy for re-election.

Also Sentenced to Jail and Disfranchisement for Sending Bullets to Enemy With Challenge.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

HAMMOND (Ind.) Aug. 8.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Lako Bulatovich, of East Chicago, who challenged Rodovan Milashovic to a duel to death, inclosing two bullets with his challenge, was heavily fined, sentenced to jail and disfranchised by Judge Walter J. Riley in court today. The sentence is the first ever inflicted in Indiana under the statute for challenging to a duel. The trouble between the men grew out of the dismissal of Bulatovich from a secret society.

Supposed Accidental Death of San Francisco Lawyer Now Believed Myth; Stole and Fled.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 8.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Further developments today in the disappearance of Joseph H. Jordan, attorney and clubman, who was believed to have been drowned while sailing opposite Belvedere in his sloop, the Sea Fox, on July 26, only served to convince his wife and other relatives that he arranged the supposed drowning in order to gain sufficient time to reach Canada or South America.

For the past week former clients of the missing lawyer have appeared daily with claims against him for money borrowed for mythical personages or upon stock in the firm of Pingree & Brengel, lithographers, which, upon investigation, proved to be forged.

Attorney Vogelsang, who represents Mrs. Jordan, said:

"The case of Mrs. Jordan is pitiable in the extreme. She is left absolutely destitute, for Jordan did not even have the manliness to leave with her a few dollars of the sum he undoubtedly had with him the day he disappeared. The friends of Jordan, who have recently heard of the expected birth of a child, are filled with indignation at his coldness and cruelty in leaving his wife to face alone the disgrace he has brought upon her at a time when every woman needs the support and protection of her husband."

Physicians Hope for Rapid Recovery With Cooler Weather—Suffering from Severe Attack of Gout, But Heart Action is Much Better and He is Resting Easier.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

ROME, Aug. 8.—Pope Pius is suffering from a severe and painful attack of gout in his right knee and upon the orders of his physicians, is keeping closely to his chamber. Dr. Petacci, private physician to His Holiness, and Dr. Marchiafava, consulting physician, are prescribing a treatment of alkaloids, and are insisting upon absolute rest. If there is a change to cooler weather they hope for the patient's rapid recovery. The doctors declared tonight that the case would not be considered of the slightest importance were the Pope not an elderly man—he is 77 years old—or if his constitution recently had not been weakened by an attack of laryngitis, and by the excessive heat.

Today the physicians found his condition somewhat better and the patient taking nourishment, but with the approach of night the pain became acute.

The physician's examination today revealed a heart fairly strong and respiration reasonably good, considering "shortness" of breath common to stout persons of advanced years. The pulse was rather intermittent, but the temperature only slightly above normal.

His Holiness remained in bed today and saw no one except his secretaries and his sisters. He was restless during the night, owing to the intense heat, although electric fans were going. The doctors advised quiet, but His Holiness insisted that Monsignor Bressan read to him, saying that it soothed his nerves.

Engagement of Heiress to Lord Camoys of England Is Announced. Pair Met at Famous Wedding.

[BY A. P. DAY WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

NEWPORT (R. I.) Aug. 8.—Announcement of the engagement of Mildred Sherman, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William W. Sherman of Newport, to Ralph Francis Julian Stonor, Lord Camoys of England, was made yesterday. The couple first met a few months ago at the wedding of Lord Decies and Miss Gould in New York, at which Lord Camoys was an usher. Miss Sherman is a granddaughter of the late Mrs. John Carter Brown, from whom she inherited millions. She is 23 years old and Lord Camoys 27.

BACKS UP WOMAN MAYOR.

[BY A. P. DAY WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

TOPEKA (Kan.) Aug. 8.—Gov. Stubbs is to take a hand in the controversy between Mayor Ella Wilson of Hunnewell, Kan., and the Hunnewell City Council. He said today he would begin ouster proceedings against the Councilmen if investigation justified such action. Mayor Wilson and the four men have been at outs since Mrs. Wilson's election on a reform ticket last April, the Councilmen having steadily refused to ratify any of her acts. After last night's meeting with the Council had failed to bring results, Mayor Wilson telegraphed the Governor, asking that the Councilmen be ousted. "I shall begin an investigation of affairs at Hunnewell at once," said the Governor today, "and if the law and the facts justify it, the members of the Hunnewell Council shall be ousted."

LABORITES DYNAMITING.

[BY A. P. DAY WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

CHICAGO, Aug. 8.—A bomb partly destroyed the plant of the Victor Jensen Electrical Supply Company on the South Side today. Windows within a block of the building were shattered by the force of the explosion. The firm employs non-union workmen, and the police believe that representatives of a labor union were responsible for the explosion. The rear end of the building was wrecked. The damage will exceed $2,000,000. The police are searching for two men who were seen loitering in the vicinity of the factory before the explosion occurred.

SHOT DEAD IN CHURCH.

[BY A. P. DAY WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

ALEXANDRIA (La.) Aug. 8.—While attending services at Hopewell Church, ten miles north of this city, last night, Joseph Stilley, a farmer, was shot dead, his wife was dangerously wounded and his mother slightly wounded. A load of buckshot was fired through a window of the church by an unknown person.

SPEAKERS FOR BIG EVENT.

[BY A. P. DAY WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

KANSAS CITY (Mo.) Aug. 8.—Nelson W. Aldrich, ex-United States Senator, has accepted an invitation to address the Trans-Mississippi Commercial Congress, which meets in this city next November, on "Currency Legislation to Prevent Panics," according to an announcement made today by Congress officials. Lieut. George R. Goethals, son of George L. Goethals, chairman of the Isthmian Canal Commission, will read an address prepared by his father on the progress of the building of the canal. George M. Reynolds, president of the Continental and Commercial National Bank of Chicago, will deliver an address on a subject similar to that chosen by Mr. Aldrich.

PREDICTS WORLD'S END.

[BY A. P. DAY WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

INDIANAPOLIS, Aug. 8.—"The world will come to an end within a very few years," declared Elder O. Montgomery, president of the Indiana conference of the Seventh Day Adventists, during the service of the camp meeting now progressing here. "I cannot set the year. It may be next, it may be five years. But I do know that it will come before the death of the last man who saw the falling of the stars on November 13, 1833. There are few people living who saw that phenomenon, and I know that the end will come before all of them are gone." Elder Montgomery says that science had been unable to solve the falling of the stars in 1833, and that he had scriptural proof that the millenium would occur within the generation following that event.

TIME NEAR, SAYS CHURCHMAN.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

HUTCHISON (Kan.) Aug. 8.—"While the Seventh Day Adventist church does not believe in setting the exact date for the end of the world, the time is not far off now," said E. Harris, general secretary of the Hutchison conference of that church, today. "The prophecy of Christ that He would come when the generation that witnessed the falling stars passes is about to e fulfilled. The stars fell seventy-eight years ago. The generation which witnessed the fall is already gone."

PARK MEN IN SESSION.

[BY A. P. DAY WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

KANSAS CITY, Aug. 8.—With more than a hundred delegates present from all parts of the nation, the thirteenth annual convention of the American Association of Park Superintendents opened today in this city. "Parks Are to Cities What Lungs Are to Man" was the subject of an address at this morning's session by Henry D. Ashley, Park Commissioner of this city. "Some wag he said that the only thing the American Indian still owns is Indnan summer," said Mr. Ashley, "but are we American pale faces much better off? Now that coal and water are controlled by the trusts, how long will it be before we city dwellers have to buy our fresh air in congealed cakes and pay dearly for what we get, plus the weight of the scales?"

SCATTERS CASH LAVISHLY.

[BY A. P. DAY WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

CLEVELAND (O.) Aug. 8.—A physical mishap to Thomas Laws, 76 years old, wealthy mine and land owner of Santa Cruz, Cal., together with his horror of having anyone do anything for him gratis, was the means of enriching a number of Clevelanders. As Laws stepped from a Lake Shore train at the Union Station late last night he sprained an ankle. To the passengers who assisted him he dispensed five-dollar bills. The man who telephoned for an ambulance was similarly rewarded, as was the porter who brought him a glass of water. Soon the aged man was surrounded by a crowd of men eager to offer any assistance. Each member of the crew of the ambulance that took him to Huron Road Hospital was given $5. At the hospital $2500 in bills were found in Laws's pockets.

MEXICANS PLANNING REVENGE.

Americans Will Be Massacred Should United States Interfere in Southern Republic Says Engineer.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

EL PASO, Aug. 8.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Secret societies are being formed in Mexico to massacre American women and children should the United States interfere in Mexican affairs. This is the statement of J. B. Burke, a mining engineer from Guanajuato, who has moved here with his family to avoid the danger of a conflict between the United States and Mexico.

Burke says that these societies are being formed in Guanajuato, San Luis Potosi, Monterey and other cities of Mexico. Meetings are being held regularly and the merchants, lawyers and business men of the different cities belong. Thirteen families have left Guanajuato for the States, Burke says, and all other American families are ready to leave on short notice.

SECRETARY WILSON TELLS WHY ROBISON LOST JOB.

House Investigating Committee Informed That Wiley's Former Assistant was Too Free in Taking Stand Against Policies of Agricultural Department.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

WASHINGTON, Aug. 8.—The facts about the dismissal of Dr. Floyd W. Robison, State Chemist of Michigan, from the service of the Department of Agriculture, as an assistant to Dr. Wiley, because he opposed the department's ruling in favor of benzoate of soda as a preservative in food, were brought out today before the House Investigating Committee. Dr Robison, who was notified June 30 of his summary dismissal, was called as a witness. He said he wrote Secretary Wilson to know what charges had been made against him.

Secretary Wilson's answer, written July 25, 1911, read:

"At the meeting of the Association of State and National Food and Dairy Departments at Denver, July, 1909, you attracted attention by taking a strong and public position against the policies of this department and of the administration. You appeared in the Federal Court in Indianapolis in opposition to the policies of the administration, with regard to the reports of the referee board on benzoate of soda and the report of three secretaries with regard to it.

"I have approved your dismissal for the good of the service. There are no charges against you; we make none. I recognize the fact that you have a perfect right to occupy any position you see fit, with regard to the policies of the administration of the department, but I do not think you should draw salary while you are taking this stand.

"This is all I have to say. If you want a hearing, you can have one at any time."

Dr. Robison declared he made no address against benzoate of soda, nor did he criticise the Secretary of Agriculture or the Remsen board. He said he did present the report of a committee on the subject and he supported the candidate who was being opposed by the United States Department of Agriculture.

HOLSTLAW TELLS OF BRIBE MONEY.

TOOK CASH TO CAST VOTE FOR LORIMER FOR SENATE.

Aged Illinois Banker and Church Leader Admits, Also, Participating in Graft from State—Merciless Questioning Brings Forth Tale Most Unsavory.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

WASHINGTON, Aug. 8.—Feebly defending his confessed graft, former State Senator D. W. Holstlaw, the 62-year-old Illinois banker and church leader, today retold to the Senate Lorimer committee his story of being paid for voting for Lorimer for Senator.

Incidentally he told of asking and of being promised $1500 for buying furniture for the State from a concern.

Holstlaw was asked many humiliating questions. He was required to tell of being called before the grand jury in Sangamon county on his way back from a Baptist convention in Baltimore to which he was a delegate. He was led by counsel into all the details of his demand to be paid for the furniture for the State.

"You were looking out for the best interests of the State when you demanded $1500?" asked Senator Kenyon.

"I felt honestly that I was not taking anything from the State, but was getting part of the agent's commission."

"You are worth $100,000 and didn't need the money?"

"No, I didn't need it."

"Did you intend to turn it over to sime charity fund," suggested Attorney Marble.

"Oh, no. I intended to keep every cent of it.

He did not get the money because he told the grand jury about it, he said.

He declared it was mostly to get immunity for his part in the furniture deal that he told the grand jury of receiving money for voting for Lorimer. He said that he wanted to correct his testimony in regard to the furniture deal and avoid prosecution for perjury. "State's Attorney Burke sent word that I would not be allowed to go back and correct my statements unless I told all I knew about the Lorimer deal," said Holstlaw.

Former Representative H. J. C. Beckemeyer, who confessed to having been paid $1000 for having voted for Lorimer, also testified today before the committee. The committee announced, when Holstlaw took the witness stand, that it would conclude its Washington sittings tomorrow.

Counsel Hanecy, for Lorimer, concluded the cross-examination of Beckemeyer. The committee ruled that it did not care to know what Beckemeyer expected and with that Hanecy closed his long examination.

Every Piano—Every Player Piano in the House Marked Down

¶ We want everybody to realize that this is a genuine clearance sale of pianos, and that time is money to us under the prevailing circumstances. We need the room and need it badly for the improvements which we are making in our store, remodeling our offices and placing our new fixtures for the small goods and C. G. Conn band and orchestra instruments. We are actually offering pianos at ridiculous figures to dispose of a limited number in a short space of time, and those who avail themselves of this splendid opportunity will certainly have no cause for regrets. Come in and see, hear and investigate, and you will be convinced.

¶ In conjunction with the special bargains listed in lot numbers along the side of this advertisement, you may choose from such famous makes as Knabe, Steinway, Mehlin, Marshall & Wendell, Haines Bros., Fitzgerald, Haddorff, Steger, Singer, Smith & Barnes, Willard and other pianos:- Knabe, Behning, Fitzgerald, Krell Auto-Grand and Jacob Doll Player-pianos. The alteration prices are $167, $212, $240, $267, $293, $327, $367, $393, $447.

¶ The extremely low prices now being made on our high grade pianos and player-pianos (except the Knabe) are creating considerable activity in our Exchange Department. This means that we are receiving each day first class used pianos, which are added to our list of bargains.

Steel Inquiry.

GEORGE W. PERKINS MAY BE HALED BEFORE HOUSE.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

WASHINGTON, Aug. 8.—George W. Perkins, a director of the United States Steel Corporation and one of the men said to have aided in averting financial disaster during the panic of 1907, tonight faces the alternative of answering questions to the House committee inquiry to the steel court bearing on his personal campaign contributions as were made by the New York Life Insurance Company, or of being cited before the bar of the House of Representatives.

Should the House sustain the majority of the committee and order Mr. Perkins to answer, and should he then still refuse, he may be adjudged in contempt of Congress and imprisoned, but it is expected that this crisis will not be reached.

Mr. Perkins, personally willing to talk about campaign contributions, refused on the advice of counsel to answer questions in that line put by Chairman Stanley and Representative Belle of Texas.

AUTHORITY EXCEEDED?

Richard Lindabury, counsel for the steel corporation, and Edgar A. Bancroft, who appeared for Mr. Perkins, insisted that the committee exceeded its authority in making any attempt to inquire into the private campaign contributions of the witness, or his relations with corporations foreign to the steel corporation.

Late today, after a long wrangle over this hitch, Chairman Stanley's decision that Mr. Perkins should answer was sustained and he warned the witness that it might be necessary to cite him to the bar of the House. The chairman later suggested that Mr. Perkins appear before the House tomorrow to avoid being taken into custody by the sergeant-at-arms.

Mr. Perkins said the situation was so critical that he wished time to consider. This was granted, and the investigation proceeded along other lines.

Mr. Perkins admitted that the steel corporation had contributed to the spread of the protective tariff doctrine and verified records produced by Chairman Stanley that the steel corporation, in 1906, sought legal advice which directed that, as a corporation, it should not make contributions to campaign funds.

RIGOROUS EXAMINATION.

The witness was subjected to a rigorous examination by Mr. Stanley relating to the record of the minutes of the Executive Committee of the steel corporation, at which Mr. Perkins proposed a plan for converting $200,000,000 worth of steel preferred stock into $250,000,000 5 per cent. second mortgage bonds, thus gaining $50,000,000 without costing the corporation anything.

After reading the minutes in which Mr. Perkins was quoted regarding the bond conversation transactions, the chairman asked:

"Did you ever propose to operate this transaction so as to get $250,000,000 for nothing?"

"No, sir," said Mr. Perkins.

"You suggested this plan of conversion, did you not?"

"I anticipated you would question me on that line and I have prepared a statement concerning just what I did do," said Mr. Perkins. "which I will ask permission to submit later."

WASHINGTON BRIEFS.

Retire Rear-Admiral.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 8.—[By A. P. Night Wire.] An order was issued by the navy department today placing Rear-Admiral Seaton Schroeder on the retired list August 17. Admiral Schroeder was recently in command of the Atlantic fleet and he was one of the commanders who made the famous world-encircling trip a few years ago. His last duty was president of the Naval War College.

More Postal Banks.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 8.—[By A. P. Night Wire.] One hundred additional postal savings depositories were designated today. One group of fifty will open for the receipt of deposits September 5 and the other group of fifty will begin operations September 8. Including today's list 1450 second-class postoffices and forty first-class offices have been made postal depositories.

Oklahoma State Board of Examiners Believed to be Behind Grand Jury Investigation.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

OKLAHOMA CITY, Aug. 8—[Exclusive Dispatch.] From the witnesses who were called before the Oklahoma county grand jury Tuesday morning, there seems to be no question but that the former management of the Night and Day Bank is under investigation.

C. J. Webster, who bought the bank from Abner Davis and afterward sold to J. N. Wilkins; Frank Reeves, a former employee of the Night and Day Bank; John Garnett, State Bank Examiner and Fred G. Dennis, treasurer of the State Banking Board, were among those called, while I. M. Putnam, reputed to be a heavy borrower from the bank; Thomas E. Sullivan, the former bookeeper, and Charles Post, formerly Chief of Police, who is supposed to know something of some money rumored to have disappeared from a certain Oklahoma City bank in a mysterious manner, were among those who were waiting to be called. While he has been in the juryroom Dennis stated Monday morning that he had not been summoned as a witness, which makes things look more than ever as if the banking board is more or less interested in the proceedings.

NEW YORK, Aug. 8—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Could'st morn for a camel, gentle reader? Then prepare to mourn for Bessie has passed away.

Bessie was a nice old camel, too. For twelve years she lived in Central Park and during that time was never guilty of an action calculated to tarnish her character in the slightest degree. She was a good wife and mother, as Keeper Holmes, who had charge of Central Park animals for fifty-three years, will tell anybody.

The only trouble with Bessie was that she had a thirst. It is said that a camel can go several days without water. Bessie was not that kind of a camel.

She certainly did like to moisten her interior. When the keepers brought Bessie a tub of water she would place her face in it and inhale it like some human beings surround soup. Evidently it is not good for a camel to overindulge in water for the first thing Bessie knew there was something wrong with her liver.

Bessie just sort of pined away: Her appetite failed but she continued drink water. Her husband sym thized with her, but that was all could do. Some time during the ni Bessie expired.

PARIS CRAZY ABOUT BAGS.

Wonderful Combinations of Brocades and Gold.

Don't Dare Venture Out on Street Bagless.

Enormous Affairs Like Unto Suit Cases.

BY GENEVIEVE FUSENOT.

PARIS, July 24.—Paris has gone bag mad and Los Angeles will catch the fever this fall. Your true Parisienne woman would as soon think of going without gloves and hat as of appearing on any of the boulevards without being attached to some wonderful combination of embroidery, brocade, and gold and silver lace which the American calls a bag and the Frenchwoman a sac. Either word fails sadly to describe the marvelous concoctions that are the last cry in matters of fashion.

The particular feature sought for in the making of those handbags is that they must not bulge. Capacious they are and they may contain much, but they must seem to be empty. Every material has been used for these sacs—leather, snake skin, velvet, silk, satin, tapestry, lace insertions. The bags vary in length from a quarter to a half-yard and some are even longer. They hang from the shoulder right or left, according to choice, and they may fall below the knee.

Four or five hundred francs is asked unblushingly for some of the most elaborate of these, and examining them closely you will find monograms, coats of arms, and various designs worked in embroidery. Big buttons, each a work of art in itself, hold the flap loop; the cord is twisted and tied and ornamented along its length with other buttons, and many tassels of gold or silver threads swing on the outer edge. The shape is at your selection—octagonal, square, round.

At one of the stops for the Passy bus you note a young person dressed in middle-class black. The gown is neat and trim, of course, but it has a sort of home-made look about it. It is possibly worn by a young milliner or dressmaker returning from work, but her sac might belong to a Duchess. It is of oyster-colored suede and hangs from her narrow shoulder by a thick cord of silver, twisted along its two yards of length into knots, in the center of which blue stones are inset. The surface of the bag is studded with bits of turquoise, and when she gets into the bus she has to lift it to prevent its scraping the dusty steps.

In the Latin quarter you have stopped for breakfast. Next your table monsieur and madame sip their cognac and cafe. Madame raises her eyeglass and notes your bag. It is a Broadway bag of last year's vintage. With impassive face the lady demands "votre sac" and you resign it into her keeping.

Madame views the sac minutely. It is patterned after one of the old-time bead reticules. She returns it with a suave gesture.

"C'est bien," she says.

Then she looks disappointed. Your companion nudges you and you take the cue.

"Votre sac, madame," you say in turn.

Madame looks pleased and explains, while she motions monsieur to reach it, that it is a mere nothing.

The mere nothing has a surface of kid, champagne tinted. It is large enough to hold a moderate-size sash, and is studded all over its surface with pointed copper articles about the size of thumb tacks, with pyramidal tops.

You become ecstatic, and when you come to pay your bill monsieur politely takes the 50 centime piece with which you had planned your escape from the waiter, picks jauntily two sous and explains that it is quite enough and that foreigners spoil the waiters. The waiter glowers at him, while madame twirls her bag with a gesture of adieu, which seems to imply that the possession of a bag in Paris makes all femininity kin. There might be less important bonds of international sisterhood.

Pursuing your way you meet a figure different from madame, but with her, too, the sac is the most conspicuous object of the toilet. Her dress, the usual pillow case, allows her to make only short steps and in a moment of flight from an impending nacre she has to put her feet together and jump back. When she does it her bag flies forward and hits a dapper Frenchman with a monoplane mustache and you walk on while mutual explanations follow.

She presents the prettiest figure you see on the rive gauche. Her dress is of hairlined striped chiffon, black and white, with crocheted buttons and appliqued buttonholes on each side from hem to corsage. One side is slit to the knee. Her hat sits jauntily over her head, covering the ears and most of the forehead. It is of white straw, with a panache of black aigrettes. Over the side of the short, close-fitting jacket is pinned a triangular frill, another style of the moment.

The black velvet bag, hung by silk cords from her right shoulder, barely escapes the ground. It has a score of tiny black and white tassels for garniture.

Many of the little shops along the Rue de Rivoli and Rue St. Honore have eight and ten embroiderers at work on these sacs. You can get a very smart one here, all handwork, for $14, or you may pay several times as much. Two are being made for an American woman. One is of soft brown material like a moleskin in dun. It is heavily embroidered in gold roses, which, like the garniture of the edges, is in a dull tint. The other is of mauve satin covered with an embroidery of silver fleur de lis conventionalized, and in the intricate pattern the monogram of the recipient is cleverly hidden.

As you are admiring these a third is ordered by an English woman; this is to be of light blue kid glace covered with a design of flowered baskets, the favorite pattern, so all French shopkeepers tell you, of Marie Antoinette; from the basket creep garlands of tiny pink roses on which humming birds are poised.

A dark brown velvet is appliqued with beetles made of tortoise shell, the wings marked by the natural coloring of the material. The subdued coloring prevents the design from seeming too bizarre.

A lesson in the graces and coquetries of life may be acquired by watching the Parisienne with her latest adornment. It is as eloquent in her hands as the fan of a Spanish woman, the mantilla of a Mexican, or the scarlet rose of the Italian signorina. She expresses by it invitation, indifference, dislike, and allurement. Oftentimes she twists the cord many times about her small wrist and holds it behind her. Following the invitation of the leading strings, naturally you note the grace of the figure. Of course, she is unaware of this. You learn this by the mocking note of inquiry that meets your glance when it returns.

Beautiful White Los Angeles Trust and Savings Building, Sixth and Spring streets, soon to be occupied by the bank owning it. Practically all the offices are already taken.

At the northwest corner of Sixth and Spring streets the beautiful Spring-street entrance of the Los Angeles Trust & Savings Building was completed yesterday afternoon. All that now remains to be done on the first story of this most stately of downtown business structures is the finishing of the interior in preparation for the removal of the Los Angeles Trust & Savings Bank to the block. This exodus from the bank's temporary quarters in the Central building will take place within a few weeks.

The Trust & Savings block is without doubt one of the handsomest modern office buildings in the West. Faced with glazed brick and tile, it stands a gleaming white pile that is a landmark on both Spring and Sixth streets. It towers eleven stories above the pavement and extends through a basement and sub-basement for a depth of over forty feet below the surface of the street. Parkinson & Bergstrom were its architects.

The building represents a cost complete of approximately $450,000 that amount having been named in the permit. The block already gives promise of becoming one of the best income producers in the city, practically every office being already occupied. The banking concern which owns the property will occupy the entire first floor.

The leading architectural feature of the building is the classic entrance just completed. This is entirely in marble with the exception of the two huge two-story columns in front of the great bronze doors, these being of glazed terra cotta. The banking quarters will be as magnificent as any in the West.

ST. PAUL MAN WEDS QUICKLY.

Divorced in Reno on Saturday, He Takes Minneapolis Girl to Wife and Starts Home.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

RENO, Aug. 8.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Curtis L. Mosher, formerly head of the St. Paul Publicity Bureau of this city, who was granted a decree of divorce from Martha Mosher Saturday, yesterday took to himself a new bride, in the person of Miss Igna Dahl of Minneapolis. The ceremony was performed by Justice of the Peace Lee Davis and immediately the couple left for St. Paul.

Mosher's case occasioned no little comment at the time it was tried for the publicity man asserted that his wife had made an attempt to leave him alone for a consideration of $10,000. Not having the funds, Mosher informed his wife that she would have to do without, so he came to Reno and secured the freedom he desired without an expenditure running into thousands.

Mosher stated on the witness stand that he had been paying his wife $100 a month and when he cut it down to $50 a person, whom he designated as Maj. Hanly, informed him that unless he came through each month with the $100 to his wife, he would lose his position as head of the publicity bureau. He did not increase the amount and lost his position.

VICTORY FOR RAILROADS.

Intervenors in Famous Land Case Quit After Paying a Fortune to Present Claims in Court.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

PORTLAND, Aug. 8.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] After having paid between $500,000 and $700,000 in fees, the 5000 to 6000 intervenors in the famous Southern Pacific land grant case gave notice in the Federal Court today that they do not desire to plead further. This action was taken preparatory to an appeal to the United States Circuit Court of Appeal. W. D. Fenton, representing the Southern Pacific and Oregon and California Railroads, was in court and asked that the intervenors be not dismissed as he said he wished all issues left open for consideration by the higher court. Federal Judge Wolverton granted his request. The government's attorneys are confident that the intervenors will have no more standing in the Appellate Court than they had in lower court, where Judge Wolverton flatly denied their right to any interest in suit.

It is probable that an average of at least $100 each was paid by the intervenors in attorneys fees, as it was on these terms that advertisements were circulated throughout the East, offering to those who would invest their money, a chance to secure 160 acres each of fine Oregon timber land.

Secretary of Interior After First-Hand Information of Problems of Importance to the West.

DENVER, Aug. 8.—First-hand information regarding land and irrigation problems of the West is being sought by Secretary of the Interior Walter L. Fisher, who arrived here today and will be the guest of the city until this evening. Secretary Fisher is accompanied by F. H. Newell, director of the United States Reclamation Service.

Secretary Fisher will visit Grand Junction tomorrow. He will endeavor to adjudicate the differences of Grand Valley residents who are delaying work on the government high line irrigation project. After visiting Yellowstone Park, Secretary Fisher will go to Seattle and embark for Alaska to investigate departmental matters in that Territory.

Formal Call of Mexican Progressive Party Convention Expected to Bring Out Opposition to Dr. Vasquez.

[BY A. P. DAY WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

MEXICO CITY, Aug. 8.—A formal call for the national convention of the progressive party, August 27, was issued yesterday. This is the party whose organization was suggested by Francisco I. Madero to take the place of the various clubs and societies which had placed him and Dr. Francisco Vasquez Gomez in nomination for President and Vice-President.

The Center anti-reelection clubs may yet keep Dr. Vasquez off the ticket. That Madero will be renominated by the new party is almost a certainty

Prepared.

ESPEE NOT WORRIED OVER THREATS OF UNIONITES.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 8.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Local officials of the Southern Pacific assert the rumors that there will be trouble on the Harriman and other western railroad lines over the recent demand of the shop machinists for an increase of wages and a decrease of working hours, are not well founded.

The demands have been submitted and refused, but the railroad officials deny that there will be any trouble. Ernest Reguin, president of the Federation of Railroad Employees, which was recently formed in Salt Lake City, says the appeal will be taken to the eastern officials of the Harriman lines.

In case of a tie-up or strike, all employees of the shops will be affected, including blacksmiths, car workers, iron molders, machinists and pattern makers. The interest in the outcome of this unexpected development in railroad circles does not seem to be intense along the coast.

The situation in San Francisco seems to be at a standstill. H. J. Small, general superintendent of motive power, says the railroad company will not grant the demands of the men and that no trouble is expected.

High board fences have been erected around the yards of the Southern Pacific Company in San Francisco, Los Angeles, San Jose, Oakland, and other places along the line. The officials of the company deny that the erection of these fences has anything to do with the disagreement that is now before them. They declare that the fences were planned before any trouble was intimated.

UNIONITES BUSY TOSSING BOMBS.

Chicago Police Have Clue to Latest Explosion.

Think Attempt Made to Scare Open-Shop Employer.

Hot Hunt Under Way for Two Suspects.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

CHICAGO, Aug. 8.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Declaring their belief that the bomb which partly wrecked the plant of the Victor Jensen Electrical Supply Company this morning was thrown by union labor men who object to the hiring of non-union workmen at the place, the police of the Woodlawn Station are searching for two men who are suspected of the bomb throwing.

The rear part of the brick building was wrecked and the structure and its contents damaged $2000. The police believe the bomb was exploded to frighten Jensen into discharging his help and to employ only union men hereafter.

The bomb, which was made of gunpowder and dynamite, did not set fire to the place, but tore down part of the walls and knocked supplies from shelves.

Windows for blocks around were broken by the shock, the report of the explosion being heard throughout the neighborhood. A large crowd soon gathered.

Motors, gas and electrical fixtures stored in the rear room were ruined. Forty families occupying the Hayward Apartment building at Sixty-third street and Greenwood avenue, a few feet from the electrical store, were shaken up and frightened when the windows in the building were broken.

CHILD SERVED BEER.

STOCKTON, Aug. 8.—Charged with enticing a 14-year-old girl to a local restaurant, where beer was served her, Mrs. Alice Ayers, also said to be known by the name of Nash, is in jail, pending prosecution by the Juvenile Court for contributing to the dependency of a minor child.

At the time that the woman and the girl were in the restaurant they were accompanied by a man named Williams, who has since disappeared from the city. The girl is being detained at the Juvenile Court detention home.

DEATH FOR MUTINEERS.

MADRID, Aug. 6.—[By A. P. Night Wire.] A court martial at Cadiz today condemned to death twenty-six men who took part in the mutiny on board the Spanish battleship Numancia, while the vessel was at Tangier Saturday. The men received communion at 9 o'clock in the morning, and it is understood their execution followed immediately.

Eastern Expert Talks On Escrow Business

"Undoubtedly, dozens of transactions if placed in escrow in some reliable bank would obviate the losses of which we hear so frequently, particularly in real estate purchases. The completion of any transaction is absolutely guaranteed, insured; there is not a loop-hole by which either party to the deals in question may back water. The bank becomes an automatic power whose efficiency neither can affect to the slightest degree, while both can rely upon it implicitly."

If more of our real estate men would familiarize themselves with this branch of our service they would find it would pay them immeasurably. The Merchants' Bank and Trust Company, at 207-9-11 South Broadway offer an escrow service reliable, trustworthy and complete, well worth your investigation. If that deal isn't closed yet just drop in and see what we can do for you in this department. Especially in out-of-town transactions you'll find we can greatly simplify matters for you. The cost is less than you would expect.

WIFE'S LOVE TOO GREAT.

Newlywed Attempts to End His Life Because of His Bride's Affectionate Nature.

[A. P. NIGHT NEWS REPORT.]

ST. LOUIS, Aug. 8.—Philip H. Nickerson, a salesman, cut his arteries in an attempt to end his life, because he said at a hospital today, where he is recovering, his wife is too affectionate. He has been married only three months.

"I'm fond of my wife," he said, "and I want her to be fond of me, but there is a limit to all things."

"She wants to sit continually on my lap and hug and kiss me. If I stand up she stands up, too, and places her arms about me. It got on my nerves."

AUTUMN GIRL TO DISCARD CORSET.

NO RATS, NO CURLS; NATURE PURE AND SIMPLE.

All But the Face—There Back to White Enamel, With Painted Shadows Underneath the Eyes to Make Madonna Yet Too Wise, Full Red Lips to Tempt a Saint.

BY ETHEL LLOYD PATTERSON.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

NEW YORK, Aug. 8.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Have you seen her?

She has a too-white face, too white because, pale though it is, she has made it paler still with an artificial paleness.

Her eyes have painted shadows to deepen the reflection of her painted thoughts.

Her hair is parted and brushed until it shines like satin and combed close to her head, Madonna-wise, but yet too wise, so that it only makes a paradox.

Her hat is small and very chic, and pulled down so far and perched at just the angle to cast the shadow of suspicion even upon innocence.

Of course, she does not—but there is no earthly reason why she should not—walk with a fine free stride; that is, no real reason, except her too narrow skirt and her too buckled shoes, for she wears no stays of any kind. The soft brocade of her gown clings to her ankles and is caught in high above the waist of her uncorseted figure.

And so—have you seen her? For it is thus she comes to you—the Autumn Girl—walking toward you out of August, into your arms and into September.

NOR PUFFS, NOR RATS.

You will think from all this that I have seen her. Of course, I have not. I cannot see through a month or two any more than you can. But there are certain terribly wise people, such as milliners and modistes, who can see a long ways ahead, particularly when it comes to a matter of fashion. And some of these very wise milliners and modistes have caught glimpses of the autumn girl. Many of them have even traveled all the way to Paris or Vienna for their glimpse.

"Will the autumn girl wear puffs and rats and things?" I asked.

"Dear, no," replied a milliner, who had caught a glimpse. "She will not wear any false hair at all. It is to be a season of nature. No false hair, no hatpins in the hats, no corsets. Nature, pure and simple. Except the face. The Parisian women are going back to the heavy white enamel; a dead white face, with full red lips, but the newest think in 'make-up' is the eyes. The eyes of the autumn girl must be made shadowy and deep.

"The Parisian women rub in a sort of green-blue powder, or powder of a brownish color about the eyes and beneath them. Then there is the heavy blue or blown penciled line at the roots of the lashes.

UNCORSETED? REALLY!

"Some women, the women with palest skin, are tracing with a pencil delicate blue veins upon their lids. And with the Empire gown cut very low, the veins of the throat and breast are also traced lightly with a blue pencil. It makes the skin seem more fair."

"And will the Autumn Girl really go uncorseted?" I asked the wise dressmaker.

"Surely," she confirmed. "The women of Paris have been uncorseted for months. Sometimes they wear a quite stiff fitted band over their hips, but from the waist up the lines of the figure must be natural. It is a revival of the Empire period, and the real Empire gowns are not pretty over corseted lines."

REFUSE TO FORFEIT FREEDOM.

Labor Union Bosses Fail in Attempt to Organize Independent Timber-Workers in South.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

GALVESTON (Tex.) Aug. 8.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] What is believed to be the wedge which will defeat the efforts of the Brotherhood of Timber-workers to organize the lumber mill employees of Texas and Louisiana is the refusal of 6000 workmen to join the brotherhood. Of these about 4000 are employees of the Kirby Lumber Company, the largest employing company in the South, and the 2000 scattered between three other companies.

The men say they have no grievance against their employers and after an investigation have decided that the brotherhood does not offer proper inducements. The result of this action of the Texas workmen is that ten lumber mills which have been shut down for several weeks will resume operations.

CROWDS THRONG TO SEE MUNYON.

Health Expert in Permanent Home in Los Angeles.

Large New Offices at Fifth and Broadway.

Easterner Given Greeting by Local People.

Crowds visited the new permanent headquarters established in Los Angeles yesterday by Prof. J. M. Munyon, the eastern health expert. Many called with greetings and felicitations expressing a welcome to Prof. Munyon in his determination to make California his permanent home. The new offices are located at Fifth and Broadway, in the heart of the business district, and are directly over the Owl Drug Store, at that corner.

Many of those who called brought stories of remarkable results secured through the use of Munyon's preparations, in their own experience and in the experience of friends. The big bulk of the crowd, however, consisted of what Munyon terms "future converts." Says Munyon:

"Every patient who tries my new form of individual treatments for individual cases is a future convert to my methods. I can say this emphatically for the reason that I know what happens after they take my medicines. Of course, I can not cure every case, but I do not allow my physicians to accept a case unless we are confident we can effect a cure. I have had my greatest success in Los Angeles with my uric acid treatment for rheumatism. This mild, gentle method of neutralizing the uric acid poison in the blood, liver, kidneys and throughout the general system is the most marvelously effective treatment I know. My treatment for stomach trouble has also met with great success. It sweetens stomach, eliminates gas belching, dizziness, headaches, constipation, and the other distressing symptoms of this distressing disease, and it does it in a wonderfully short time. For catarrh I have a new form of treatment which is both internal and external, and it gets positively great results. My inhaler device, which is part of the treatment, sends a medicated vapor through all of the air passages, going direct to spots that ordinary medicines could never touch. The internal treatment acts through the blood, and builds up the general system to a point where the cause of the disease is entirely eliminated, thus securing a permanent cure of this stubborn complaint.

"I especially want every weak and all-run-down woman, or man, to call on my physicians for advice, which will be given without a penny of charge. I want every ailing and despondent person to come and find out what we have done for others and what we can do for them."—[Adv.

KIDNAPER OF GIRL IN TOILS.

NATION-WIDE SEARCH OF A YEAR COMES TO END.

Prominent Woman Child Worker Arrested in Colorado, Accused of Spiriting Away Fifteen-Year-Old Marion Harris from Her Home in Washington Twelve Months Ago.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

DENVER (Colo.) Aug. 8.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] A year's search for the kidnaper of 15-year-old Marion B. Harris, daughter of James H. Harris of Washington, D. C., which has involved the police of every large city in the country, pastors of all the large churches and members of the National Union, a fraternal organization, ended at Las Animas with the arrest of Mrs. Letitia White Owen, and the finding of the girl.

Mrs. Owen, according to her statements, is the head of the American Industrial League, an organization which she says she organized to promote the welfare of the boys and girls of the country. In June of 1910, while she was in Washington, she called at the Harris home and represented herself to be a relative. After some persuasion she managed to secure possession of the girl, saying that she wished to take her for a sea trip to Boston. Then she dropped completely out of sight. Occasionally Harris heard of her in different parts of the country where she was lecturing in behalf of her organization.

Failing to secure any answer to the letters he wrote the woman demanding the return of his daughter, Harris appealed to the Washington police. Then he appealed to the Federal authorities and two months ago a Federal grand jury returned an indictment against Mrs. Owen and a bench warrant was issued.

Pastors of large churches all over the country were notified and asked to aid in the search. The National Union, of which the father is a member, took up the hunt.

Several months ago the woman was located at St. Louis. She was traced to Denver and on to Butte, Mont. Then she came back to Denver and went to Lamar, thenceto Leadville, and to Las Animas.

The arrest was made on instructions from Chief Armstrong and Detective Ira Wiedman, who has been handling the case in Denver. The girl will be returned to her parents at once.

CHOOSES DEATH UNDER WHEELS.

UNIDENTIFIED MAN MANGLED BY MOTOR CAR.

Carried Watch as Birthday Gift, New Testament and Two Notes Which Seem to Be Unpaid—Drawn in Favor of Detroit Man—Dies in Hospital.

Throwing himself in front of an approaching Southern Pacific motor car, apparently with suicidal intent, an unidentified man, supposed to be Chester A. Elwell, formerly of Detroit, and later of Hollywood, was crushed by the wheels, one mile south of Burbank last night and died at the General and Emergency Hospital an hour later.

The man was last seen by Frank R. Mason of No. 1731 West Thirty-eighth street who was standing in the road a short distance from him. The injured man was wrapped in a blanket and placed in the baggage compartment of the car. At the Arcade station the car was met by the Bresee Brothers' ambulance. A large hole in the side of the head was the immediate cause of death although the body was terribly cut and bruised. On his person was found a good watch with the inscription "From Papa to Chester on his twenty-first birthday, 1905," and a copy of the New Testament, and two notes drawn in favor of Chester A. Elwell, No. 823 Majestic street, Detroit, signed by E. W. or E. U. Rider. The notes for $250 cash were dated April 15, 1907.

There was also a water bill made out to C. A. Elwell by the Hollywood Water Company, and another bill for plumbing in the name of Myra Hershey.

No money was found in his clothes, and the fact that the notes seem to have been unpaid, lends color to the supposition that Elwell may have been despondent over money matters and decided to end his life.

BOTTLE-STOPPER FACTORY.

New York Attorney Announces that Establishment Will Be Built Here to Manufacture His Invention.

A new factory for Los Angeles, to be the Pacific Coast distributing point, is the object of a visit of S. P. Landers, a New York attorney who arrived at the Angelus yesterday.

Landers is the inventor of a contrivance which seals bottles that have been opened, and which cannot be recorked with the ordinary caps.

"We expect to locate a factory in this city because it is the largest city of the future," Landers declared. "At present it has only one rival and there is little doubt but what it will have none in the next ten years. For that reason we have selected Los Angeles as the place for a suitable factory. Work will be commenced on the plant as soon as a location is decided on and we expect to be manufacturing the cork within the next six months here.

SAGE'S SAVIOR NOW DEAD.

Man Who Twenty Years Ago Had Body Used as Shield by Financier, Passes Away.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

NEW YORK, Aug. 8. William R. Laidlaw, who twenty years ago was maimed by a bomb thrown at Russell Sage by H. W. Norcross of Boston, died here today. When Norcross hurled the bomb at Sage in his office Laidlaw said the financier thrust him in front of him so that he stood the brunt of the explosion and thus saved Sage from injury

BREAD

Climate Failed—
Medicine Cured.

Fresh air, rest and good food help many who suffer from Tuberculosis. We argue that, in addition, Eckman's Alterative should be used in every case.

Weldon, Ill.

Gentlemen: "During 1905, my physician sent me to Texas, from there to Colorado. I became worse and was sent home to die. Hearing of Eckman's Alterative I began treatment, and was cured."

(Signed Affidavit) ARTHUR WEBB.

Fuller details of above case on request. Eckman's Alterative is for Bronchitis, Asthma, Hay Fever; Throat and Lung Affections. For sale by The Owl Drug Co.'s Stores, and other leading druggists. Ask for booklet of cured cases, and write to Eckman Laboratory, Philadelphia, Pa., for additional evidence.

WILD INSPECT DOCK YARDS.

LONDON, Aug. 8.—[By A. P. Night Wire.] George von L. Meyer, American Secretary of the Navy, arrived here today, and will be the guest of Ambassador Reid and Mrs. Reid at Dorchester House, where members of the British Cabinet, admirals and naval experts have been invited to meet Mr. Meyer at dinner tomorrow. It is understood that the Secretary will inspect some of the European dock yards

FOR SALE—

THIS BUSINESS LOT

Will Make the Buyer a Grand Profit.

THE PRICE IS ONLY $1500

MONTHLY PAYMENTS.

This is "One Chance in a Thousand" for a small investor—that is, one who must buy on monthly payments—to buy a real business lot. This is not a "business lot" just because we set the block off and called it "business property," but it is situated so that it MUST BE IN DEMAND as a site for a store or other business building in a few months at the longest. Almost straight across the street the contract has been let for a business block to cost about $35,000. The district, "39th and Western," is developing and building up more rapidly than any other Southwest, and with the very best class of homes. When you consider the development of this CLOSE IN home place in ONLY NINE MONTHS, it doesn't require much imagination to see where a business lot like this—at ONLY $1500—will DOUBLE IN VALUE within 12 months. It's an EAST FRONT, 45 feet wide, right on Western ave., the most important Southwest thoroughfare; 40 foot residence lots, on side streets, a little farther north, COST MORE MONEY. We have never been able to offer a bigger bargain.

It's the best buy—for investment—Southwest, and you lose if you overlook it.

Our Branch Office, corner "39th and Western," open every afternoon. Take University car (upper sign reading "West 39th st.") on Spring st., and ride to end of line. Or call at downtown office mornings.

FOR SALE—

THIS IS UNUSUAL.
72x300 FEET.
PRICE ONLY $375.

Do you realize how big this lot is?
Do you realize what 72 feet frontage means—with a depth of 300 feet? It's practically a double lot; yet the price is only $375, and you can secure it for only $10 cash. Pay $10 monthly on the balance. This lot is very desirable. Don't judge it by its price—for it just HAPPENS that I can sell it at this figure, and on these terms. It is located only 17 minutes out on the best car line; it's level, with garden loam soil; and abundant water free. Build a little bungalow on this lot and raise chickens or set out vegetables and fruit trees. The lot will supply your table and make you a profit besides. Come in and get full description. Don't delay about it for this lot will sell quickly at the price.

THE WESTERN END
VAN NUYS-LANKERSHIM
LANDS.

Wells have been driven in practically all parts of the ranch and universally the results have been the same—water and lots of it. In the report of the Board of Aqueduct Engineers, 4575 inches were apportioned out of the total 18,000 inches for the Chatsworth District, which is comprised mostly of Van Nuys-Lankershim Lands.

The soil of Van Nuys-Lankershim Lands is recognized as the most fertile in Southern California, growing all the deciduous fruits to perfection.

These lands are located 4½ miles from Los Angeles with transportation facilities the best, a $500,000 asphalt boulevard running through it, and with magnificent improvements and homes going up all around.

Buy here to your best advantage where the water is right, the land is right, the location is right, the prices are right and the terms right. Get busy and buy. Come and see us.

YUCAIPA VALLEY—

FOR SALE—

WHAT EXPERTS SAY REGARDING
RED APPLE LAND.

J. W. JEFFREY, STATE COMMISSIONER OF HORTICULTURE, SAYS: "IN THE YUCAIPA VALLEY, 60,000 APPLE TREES WERE PLANTED LAST SPRING. WHEN THESE NEW ORCHARDS COME INTO BEARING, WE MAY EXPECT TO SEE A LARGE PRODUCTION OF FRUIT FROM THIS DISTRICT, OF SUCH HIGH GRADE IN TYPE AND QUALITY THAT A DISTINCTIVE INDUSTRY WILL RESULT, SUCH AS WE NOW HAVE WITH THIS FRUIT IN OREGON, WASHINGTON AND OTHER PARTS OF CALIFORNIA."

F. H. NORTON, CHEMIST IN CHARGE OF THE AGRICULTURAL EXPERIMENT STATION AT RIVERSIDE, CAL., SAYS: "I WOULD SAY THAT THE SOIL OF THE YUCAIPA VALLEY HAS THE FIRST QUALITY THAT I WOULD LOOK FOR IN ANY SOIL AND THAT IS THE PROPERTY OF ABSORBING LARGE QUANTITIES OF WATER AND HOLDING IT IN AN AVAILABLE FORM FOR PLANT GROWTH. THE SOIL HAS THE APPEARANCE OF BEING FERTILE."

C. E. TAIT, IRRIGATION ENGINEER IN CHARGE OF EXPERIMENTS IN THE SOUTHERN CALIFORNIA SECTION, SAYS: "THE WATER NOW BEING SOLD WITH EACH TRACT BY THE REDLANDS & YUCAIPA LAND CO. IS AMPLE FOR ALL KINDS OF FRUIT GROWING. THE CHARACTER OF THE SOIL MAKES IT POSSIBLE FOR THE VERY BEST RESULTS WITH EVEN LESS WATER THAN IS NOW AVAILABLE WITH EACH TRACT SOLD. THERE IS NO BETTER IRRIGATION SYSTEM IN SOUTHERN CALIFORNIA THAN THAT INSTALLED BY THIS COMPANY."

THE YUCAIPA VALLEY HAS BEEN KNOWN FOR A LONG TIME TO PRODUCE A VERY HIGH GRADE OF JUICY RED APPLES. THESE APPLES HAVE BEEN SELLING ON THE LOS ANGELES MARKET AT FROM $1.75 TO $2.75 A BOX WHOLESALE.

THIS LAND CAN NOW BE BOUGHT AT $275 AN ACRE WITH DOMESTIC AND IRRIGATION WATER, PIPED TO EACH TRACT, UNDER PRESSURE.

A Wonder.

MARICOPA EDGAR, TIMES CONTESTANT, AGAIN GETS GUSHER IN THE OIL FIELDS.

Delburt Myers Skyrockets Over Twenty Competitors and Lands Well Up With Third Prize.

Railway Lieber Stays in the Van and Advances His Score With More Than 12,000 Points. No Let Up in the Battle for Daily Results—Scholarship Contestants Have But a Limited Time to Make Their Finishing Scores.

SPECIAL DAILY AND MONTHLY PRIZES.

Prizes for August in the Greater Contest will be awarded as follows:

First prize	$50
Third prize	15

Prizes will be awarded as follows each week day:

First prize	$6
Second prize	5
Third prize	4

Subscription points only will be counted for these prizes, as points counted from coupons do not apply.

SPECIAL PRIZES FOR STUDENTS.

At noon on Saturdays, until further notice, the scholarship contestant having scored the greatest number of subscription points for the week ending at that time will be awarded a prize of $5.

The custom of computing points for the daily prizes, which has been in vogue in this contest—that of counting for the day, all that comes in during the twenty-four hours, as well as that is mailed during that time—has caused some confusion especially with the contestants who have mailed scores.

We have decided to change the method of count from tomorrow, after which the daily prizes will be awarded upon the count of points reaching this office between the hours of noon of the two days.

Points coming through the mails will be counted for the day received, instead of the day mailed. This will be fair to all concerned as points can only count for one day's prizes.

Points for monthly prizes will be computed as before.

It is hot right now in the oil fields and very much getting about over the dry country there is done with considerable inconvenience, therefore the heavy report from our contestant at Maricopa is all the more to be commended, for every subscription secured there means plenty of work. The leases are scattered over an enormous territory, and the usual means of travel in the fields is over dusty roads.

In spite of this handicap, F. M. Edgar, the Times contestant at Maricopa, secured yesterday's first prize with a total of 15,000 points, making his total 42,007. By a misprint of the types yesterday this total was made to read 32,007 in the bulletin. While these points were counted in the bulletin of yesterday, they reached us after the official day had closed at noon—consequently they counted for yesterday's prize instead of the day before. The correct figures show Edgar in eighteenth instead of twenty-third place.

After winning Saturday's prize with 15,000 points, it would seem that Railway Lieber is going to it mighty fast for the dull days of August, for he showed up again yesterday morning with 12,100, closely pressing Edgar for first place, and securing the second prize for himself very easily.

During Lieber's absence in the East, where he was one of that jolly body of Shrine hustlers who secured next year's meeting for Los Angeles, his friends here conducted his campaign and carried it on very ably; but in a contest of this kind where the personality of the contestant himself figures so largely in the results attained, any prolonged absence will necessarily lessen his average. Your friends can never accomplish the same results for you that you can for yourself. Consequently since Lieber returned his score has been moving a little more actively than during his absence.

NEWS REPORTS FROM CORRESPONDENTS OF THE TIMES.

ON THE BEACH.

BY CAPT. LESLIE T. PEACOCKE.

On the beach, 'neath the sun, with your toes in the wet
And the board walk and throng in the rear,
You can drink in ozone and your troubles forget.
This is Beach Time—the best of the year.
If you sprawl on the sand with your head in the lap
Of your mother-in-law or your wife,
And make eyes at a peach in sweet bathing cap,
Don't get caught, or there's apt to be strife.

On the beach, 'neath the shade of a big parasol,
With a mermaid or two by your side,
You will find it delightful to lazily loll,
And give ear to the murmuring tide.
You can take a brief crawl to the bath-house and plunge
And gaze down on the freaks in the tank,
On the frisky old souls who are shaped like a sponge,
On the fat and the lean and the lank.

On the beach, in the dusk, when the soft zephyrs blow,
You should take a stroll down on the pier,
To some nice quiet spot which you probably know,
And breathe foolishness into Her ear.
If you find that your pleading has not been in vain,
Urge her steps to the soft, yielding sand,
And repeat the sweet nothings again and again,
Far away from the crowd and the band.

On the beach, late at night, 'neath the moon and the stars,
When the seagulls have flitted for home,
You can watch the bright lights of the vanishing cars
And the phosphorus glinting the foam.
Then, if clasped in the arms of the one that's to be,
With your lips far too busy for speech,
I think you'll agree that, between you and me,
You can have a nice time on the beach.

Pasadena.

SAYS FLANGES WOULDN'T FIT.

Traffic Man Tells Council About Grooved Rail.

Says It Would Require a Change in Car Wheels.

Difficulty Over Payment of Summer Teachers.

[Office of The Times, 52 S. Fair Oaks Ave.]

PASADENA, Aug. 9.—The proposed ordinance, which provides that where permanent street improvements are made, a rail, known as the grooved-girder rail must be laid by the traction companies, instead of the T-rail at present in use, brought Southern Pacific and Pacific Electric Railway Company officials before the City Council at yesterday's session.

Vice-President Shoup of the former company and General Manager McMillan and Engineer E. C. Thompson of the latter were present and each had reasons to advance why the grooved-girder rail should not be adopted by the city. That the setting of such a standard by Pasadena would mean greater danger of accidents, and consequently a slower schedule, and that it might necessitate alteration of the wheels of interurban cars, were some of the contentions made.

The result of the controversy was that the Council voted to defer action on the ordinance until next Tuesday and in the meantime investigate the situation.

Shoup declared the T-rails used are not to blame for defective railroads, but rather inferior roadbeds that are sometimes found under them. He said no better nor safer road could be asked for than one constructed of 100-pound T-rails upon a concrete base. McMillan declared that speed would have to be reduced were grooved-girder rails to be used, and it was also asserted that there would be constantly great danger of accidents, as nuts might work loose and fall into the grooves of the rails. The flanges of the wheels of interurban cars are too deep for the grooved-girder rails in question, although it was admitted by the railway men that it would be possible to have rails rolled to fit the wheels, rather than to change the wheels to conform to the track.

Aside from these arguments, Thompson estimated that the additional cost of laying track with grooved-girder rails would be $17,000 a mile.

The real estate firm of J. H. Woodworth & Son yesterday protested to the Council against the delay of the Santa Fe Railroad in placing bells and warning devices at the corner of Chester and Hill avenues. Superintendent of Streets Beyer reported that he had served written notice on the railroad company.

A Carmelita playground difficulty has arisen from the fact that George Swarthout, who has charge of the playground, after being promised $1000 by the City Council for the maintenance of the playgrounds and summer schools, proceeded to engage teachers and turn in to the city demands for their salary. The claims were not allowed as the ordinance provides that teachers shall be engaged by the Council. The rejected demands have been referred to Mayor Thum and City Attorney Carr, who will try to devise some means of paying the teachers for their work.

An ordinance was introduced yesterday providing for the planting of grass between sidewalks and curb on South Orange Grove avenue from Colorado street to Columbia street.

MRS. ADAMS DIES.

Mrs. Eliza Adams, mother of former Gov. Alva Adams of Colorado, died yesterday morning at her home, No. 619 North Madison avenue, aged 79. For twenty years she had been a resident of Pasadena and a prominent members of the Presbyterian Church. She was an invalid the last four years of her life.

She leaves four sons and one daughter. Besides the ex-Governor, another son, John A. Adams, is prominent in Colorado politics. He has been a State Senator there for many years. Other sons are William Adams of Alamosa, Colo., and Frank Adams of Denver. The daughter is Miss Elizabeth Adams, who lived with her mother in Pasadena.

The funeral will be held at 7 o'clock this evening at the Reynolds and Van Nuys chapel. The body will be taken to Blackerth, Wis., for burial.

BOY-LIKE.

Though bold enough to commit burglary, George James, a 15-year-old boy arrested yesterday morning by Detective Schultz, was as much concerned in filling his pockets with candy and chewing-gum as with money when he broke into a store at the corner of Marengo avenue and Ramona street last Monday night. The lad was living with his widowed mother at No. 184 Bruce street. He is a ward of the Juvenile Court, having been placed in the Detention Home two years ago and subsequently released upon condition of good behavior.

The owners of the store yesterday morning found the front door had been forced and their cash register rifled of $5.75. Evidence pointed to young James, who admitted the theft while on his way to the Police Station in an automobile. His pockets were stuffed with candy and chewing-gum with which he had taken the time to fill them the night before.

The boy was taken to the Detention Home in Los Angeles.

ON TRIAL.

The trial of A. F. Wallace, Frank Wallace, George Bear and Carl Bear, who are charged with cruelty to animals as the result of their riding horses rented from a Pasadena livery stable to Camp Rincon and back, July 3, was begun yesterday before Justice of the Peace McDonald. Although the greater part of the day was consumed, the defense had not begun to present its testimony at 5 o'clock last night and the case was continued until 9 o'clock this morning. Witnesses examined yesterday were J. C. Cox, W. Bergman, V. A. Burke, Charles F. Hiber and D. Griffin.

T. R. Acres, who was summoned as a juror, made a spirited speech when asked whether he could give an impartial verdict in the case. His answer was that he would have nothing to do with the case. He said it was not right that cases of so little importance should be tried before a jury and business men be compelled to listen to them.

As he had such decided views upon the subject it was not thought that he would make a desirable juror anyway, and he was excused.

CITY BRIEFS.

Seven Pasadena men who were sent out by the Southern California Edison Company to fight the San Bernardino Mountains forest fire have returned home, thoroughly tired out with the severe strain. They are J. C. Shelton, W. P. Shelton, J. Copeland, F. M. Wickham, A. Johnson, Cecil King and N. J. Shaver.

The fund being raised for the relief of the widow of Patrolman Clarence E. Peck of the police force, who died from injuries received by the accidental discharge of a revolver while in the performance of his duties, has now reached $126. At a special session, the Police Commission yesterday appropriated $329.90 to defray expenses coincident with the illness and death of the late policeman. The commission was advised that under provisions of the city ordinances it is not empowered to do anything further toward the relief of Mrs. Peck. Resolutions of sympathy were adopted, both by the commission and the police force.

The Salvation Army yesterday took fifty-six mothers and their children to Santa Monica for a day's outing.

A call from No. 27 Peach place, requesting that Justice of the Peace Dunham come at once on urgent business, last night, took the magistrate, accompanied by Constable Austin and Deputy Constable Gouger, to the house, only to find upon arrival that he had been sent for to perform a marriage. The bride was Miss Chona Arnett and the bridegroom Fred A. Langdon.

Miss Ethel Shorb of San Francisco is a guest of Mrs. George S. Patton of this city.

Miss Clarice Ryther, who has been visiting Miss Rachel Coolidge since the close of the Kappa Alpha Theta convention, left yesterday for her home in Providence, R. I.

It was reported yesterday that the Lake Vineyard Water Company will submit a plan to Mayor Thum tomorrow looking toward a settlement of the water difficulties of the "dry tract." Suffragettes of the district will discuss the situation at a meeting to be held this afternoon at the home of Mrs. Abbie Rodreick, No. 1609 Kirkwood avenue.

Dr. Up de Graff has returned from Europe. Offices, Chamber of Commerce.

Hotel Vista del Arroyo, Pasadena.

WATCHMAN ENDS LIFE.

Returns Home Late at Night in San Pedro and Later Sends a Bullet Through Right Temple.

SAN PEDRO, Aug. 8.—Fritz W. Schroeder, aged 60, employed as a night watchman by the San Pedro Lumber Company, committed suicide about 3 o'clock this morning at his home on East First street, by shooting hemself through the right temple with a revolver.

Schroeder returned home shortly after midnight intoxicated, and had a violent quarrel with his wife, who, becoming alarmed, left the house and spent the rest of the night with a married daughter, who lives near by. Mrs. M. E. Read, who had an apartment at the Schroeder house, heard a pistol shot about 3 o'clock this morning, but made no investigation until after daylight, when the lifeless body of Schroeder, grasping the revolver in his hand, was found in his room.

The family, consisting of the widow, a son and a married daughter, waived an inquest and none will be held.

SANTA MONICA.

SANTA MONICA, Aug. 8.—Election day will be here again September 5, the City Council having called upon the voters to authorize a bond issue of $50,000 to be used in extending the sewer mains, building storm drains and buying two auto fire trucks.

An order will soon be given by the city for the boulevarding of Montana avenue from Seventh street to Sawtelle on the east; for paving Twentieth from Colorado to Montana; and Seventh from Nevada to San Vicente. Fifteenth and Sixteenth streets are also to be paved through the bean fields, thus breaking up the last of the big ranch holdings to the northeast.

VENICE.

VENICE, Aug. 8.—A call has been issued by the City Trustees for an election to be held in September, when the voters are to be asked to authorize the levy of a special tax. The money raised by this tax is to be used in supporting the band and advertising the city. The Trustees are also giving consideration to the matter of a bond issue for storm drains to cost about $70,000.

Long Beach.

BLOCKS GO UP AFTER LEASE.

POSTOFFICE SITE DECISION STARTS LOCAL BOOM.

Outlook for One Hundred and Fifty Thousand Dollars in Improvements to Be Started Within the Month—City Assessment Total Exceeds Twenty-one Million Dollars.

LONG BEACH, Aug. 8.—The announcement in The Times this morning that the Postoffice Department had concluded a lease for postal quarters on Pine avenue, between Fifth and Sixth streets, has brought joy to that section and corresponding gloom to American avenue, the present location. Property owners, in the latter vicinity, had subscribed sufficient to reimburse the owners of the postoffice building, but their offer came too late.

The Land and Navigation Company, owners of the new site, purchased the property four years ago from the Methodists, a quarter of a block, paying for it $75,000. The postoffice site will occupy 50x100 feet on the alley and facing Pine and the owners will erect a one-story building thereon, with plenty of skylight room. Adjoining it they will also erect on a 100-foot square, a two-story brick building for stores and apartments.

Following receipt of the news, Reuben Reynolds and W. L. Campbell, who own adjoining corners, announced that they will improve their corners at once with business blocks. These projected plans, together with the Farmers and Merchants Bank building at Third and Pine, give an outlook of $150,000 in improvements to be started within the month. The new postoffice quarters are to be ready for occupancy December 1.

ASSESSMENT TOTAL.

City Assessor Boynton this morning completed his totals of taxable property, real and personal, in the city and announced the figures as $21,199,660, which is $1,360,618 less than last year, due to the operation of Amendment, No. 1. Estimating the revenues on a $1 tax rate they will fall short $23,600 from last year, but this will be met in part by the added valuation of non-operative property of public service corporations which is taxable by the city. Tonight the City Council in executive session, considered the city budget, which must be fixed this week, and will be passed upon Friday night.

WILL SUE DEPUTIES.

C. B. Linton, head of a company which has pearl and shell concessions at San Nicholas Island, has instructed his attorney to bring suit against the fish and game deputies who caused the arrest and prosecution of sixteen Japanese in the company's employ charged with fishing without licenses. The arrest was illegal, Mr. Linton avers, because the John Doe warrants were issued in Los Angeles county, while the alleged offense was committed in Santa Barbara county. In addition the men were not fishing, but were gathering abalone shells from the rocks exposed at low tide, a case in which fishing licenses do not apply. Mr. Linton says the warrant was read to one Jap and then the entire sixteen were arrested, most of who did not see or hear the warrant read. Because of the arrest, the company is losing $100 daily.

ASSEMBLIES RELIGIOUS.

Forty-four churches are represented in the annual assembly of the Seventh Day Adventists now in session here. Included in these are eight new charges established in the last year. President Andross today announced his committees, the chairmen of which are: Nominations, T. S. Nightengale; plans and resolutions, Elder W. C. White; credentials and licenses, Elder G. A. Erwin.

At the Baptist assembly today Rev. E. W. Righter, district secretary of the Baptist Foreign Missionary Society, spoke on the meeting of the Baptist world alliance held recently at Philadelphia, and A. P. Brown spoke on "The National Conservation for Tigers or Boys," which was an attack on the liquor traffic and especially the license system. Dr. Ainslee spoke on "The Church and Good Citizenship." Tonight at the Auditorium Dr. Brougher delivered his lecture, "What's Under Your Hat?"

COOL THIEVES.

Late last night two young men entered the Hoffman apartments and told the landlady they wanted to see some friends upstairs. In a few moments they came back and walked out of the hotel. Later M. S. Runkle, returning to his room, discovered that it had been ransacked and about $25 taken, in addition to a diamond pin, valued at $250.

Tomorrow the Pacific Electric will make a 25-cent round-trip rate from Los Angeles to Long Beach. Preparations are made for a big crowd. All the launches and Pike concessions have agreed also on half rates for sea trips and entertainments.

Although the School Board has taken no formal action on the matter, it is understood that the Polytechnic High School will open for the fall term on September 4, and the grammar schools, on September 11.

Under one of the heaviest bonds ever fixed by a local court Henry Johnson was, this afternoon, bound over to the Superior Court on a statutory charge, bail being fixed at $15,000. Two girls are alleged to have been victims of Johnson and a Jap named Sakon, who will have a preliminary hearing tomorrow.

GROCERS COME TO BLOWS.

Battle Royal on Avalon Street Between Men from Rival Establishments of Island Town.

AVALON, Aug. 8.—A battle royal in the middle of Crescent avenue this noon resulted in the swearing out of a warrant for the arrest of George Lenhardt, an attache of the Island Grocery Company on complaint of A. D. Davenport, similarly attached to the Judd grocery. Business rivalry was apparently the reason why these two gentlemen tried to beat each other. Soliciting on the streets is the bugbear of Avalon business life, those who favor street soliciting and those who oppose it and uphold the rules restricting it being constantly in argument.

Witnesses are divided as to which of the two grocers got the worst of the encounter, but Mr. Davenport carried the fight further than the mere fistic degree, and will have Mr. Lenhardt tried in court.

Mrs. Hancock Banning was hostess to a coaching party which made the trip to Middle Ranch yesterday, where an old-fashioned country dinner was served and some pleasant hours passed under the giant fig trees, said to have been planted by Guerro, a Chileno squatter, in 1865. The party included Mrs. W. T. Johnston, Mrs. Fred Walton, Mrs. J. R. Scott, Miss Smith and Alfred Allen, all of Los Angeles. Today another party of prominent visitors spent the day at the interior resort, some going by horseback and others by vehicle. The party included Mrs. Modini-Wood, Mrs. Carrie Jacobs Bond, Miss Elizabeth Wood, Miss Florence Wood, Miss Isabel Scott and Oscar Seilig.

Jesse P. Dunn, one of the prominent figures of Oklahoma life, is at the Metropole with Mrs. Dunn. The former, whose home is in Alva, is an ex-chief justice of Oklahoma and at present an associate justice of the Supreme Court of that State. He is spoken of as a probable Democratic candidate for the United States Senatorship.

Mr. and Mrs. Von Stein of Los Angeles are guests at the Metropole. They are both enthusiastic anglers and spend most of every day fishing.

This morning at 3 o'clock a tourist angler, carrying a picnic hamper in one hand and a wealth of fishing apparatus in the other, walked off the float at the end of the pleasure pier into the deep sea. Dick Jennings was just approaching with his launch to take the visitor on a trip to San Clemente, and the unfortunate gentleman was almost crushed between the launch and the float. However, he was fished out, lunch and all, and embarked on the excursion, with manful spirit. He did not leave his card with the public, and has apparently made a pact whereby his name shall remain among the unknown. He was deceived by the reflection of the pier lights in the water, and thought the float was about three feet longer than it is.

GRIEF FOLLOWS WRECK.

Man Alleged to Have Obtained Automobile at Pomona Under False Pretenses Still in Jail.

POMONA, Aug. 8.—Harry Clayton, the alleged clever schemer, who secured the now wrecked $1800 automobile of Mrs. R. C. Steele from Trickey's garage on Sunday, on what are declared to have been false representations, coming to grief when the car containing Clayton and his acquaintances overturned on the San Dimas road, is in jail here, as he has found no one to go on his bond. He has had numerous hallucinations and has told several stories about relatives who will help him out of his trouble. The matter will be thoroughly gone over at Clayton's preliminary hearing.

The report of Postmaster Avis for July shows an increase of 21 per cent. in receipts over the amount received in July, 1910. The receipts for last month were $2108.36 and for July, 1910, $1730.22.

The voting contest for queen of the Pomona Valley carnival will open here Saturday, and will close September 9. Any young woman contestant must be a resident of the valley bounded on the east by Cucamonga and on the west by the San Gabriel River. Votes may be secured at 1 cent each.

Commencing today there will go into effect an ordinance compelling owners of dogs to muzzle the canines as a safeguard against endangering the public from rabies.

The County Supervisors have had poisoned wheat placed out here in the locality where a small pest of English sparrows was discovered by Deputy Horticultural Inspector C. H. Vary.

The members of the City Council commenced yesterday to sit as a board of equalization. They will continue in session for ten days. The assessment roll as computed by the City Assessor and turned over to the Council, in view of the rapid growth of and public improvements in the city during the past year, will be considerably larger than a year ago.

Rev. M. D. Clubb, who for the last four years has been pastor of the First Christian Church here, has resigned and has been elected corresponding secretary of the Missionary Society of the Christian Churches of Southern California with headquarters in Los Angeles. Mr. Clubb will take up his new work on September 1.

Numerous improvements are being made at the George Junior Republic here and two new dormitories will be erected at once.

PLAN TO FEED MANY.

Barbecue for a Multitude to Mark Opening of New Trolley Line Reaching to Burbank.

BURBANK, Aug. 8.—The promoters of the celebration to be held at the completion of the Glendale-Burbank electric railway have about decided to hold it on Labor Day, September 4. The feast, which will be a feature, will consist of barbecued meat, beans, relish, crackers, cookies and coffee. Preparations will be made for feeding between 3000 and 5000 persons. The barbecue will be served from 11 o'clock until all are cared for.

CITIZENS STOP CANYON FIRE.

QUICKLY PREVENT SPREAD IN LITTLE DALTON.

In Absence of the Ranger, Who is Away on Other Service, They Rush to the Scene and Within a Few Hours Have the Flames Under Control.

GLENDORA, Aug. 8. — Citizens, aided by good roads and trails, made an effective fight this afternoon and evening on a fire which got a start in Little Dalton Canyon.

It was noticed at 3:30 o'clock this afternoon by Frank Lewis, a deputy ranger, who made a fast run with his team to give the alarm here in town.

Fifteen men responded promptly. With the co-operation of Dan Fay, a livery man, they rushed to the canyon, where the flames were eating their way up toward the crest. Within a few hours the fire was under control, with only a rather small acreage burned over.

Ranger Sloan, who was in service fighting the fire in the San Bernardino Mountains, returned to Glendora this evening. He paid a high compliment to the work of the citizens, declaring that if their fight had not been successful, a large extent of watershed might have been burned over.

OFFERS CITY HALL SITE.

Resident of Whittier Proposes to Give Centrally Located Lots There for That Purpose.

WHITTIER, Aug. 8.—There was a pleasant surprise at the City Trustees' meeting last evening, when C. W. Harvey, who has always been greatly interested in the welfare of this city, offered to donate two of the best lots in Whittier for the location of a new City Hall. The lots are located on the corner of Hadley and Greenleaf. Mr. Harvey proposes putting the deed for them in escrow, authorizing the same to be turned over to the city when the City Hall is completed. He has also offered the use of a large two-story brick building, which he owns on the northeast corner of Greenleaf and Hadley, for a temporary location of the City Hall at a nominal rental, until the city can afford to erect such a building as desired.

Another proposition now before the Council is the construction of a temporary home on the property now owned by the city on South Comstock avenue, which would cost in the neighborhood of $3000. Mr. Harvey's offer and the plans already drawn up for the proposed building were referred to the committee of the whole.

The lots offered by Mr. Harvey to the city have a frontage of 100 feet on North Greenleaf and 147 feet on West Hadley.

A Bit of Advice

Stop wasting. Have a purpose in living. Save a part of your daily earnings. Then put it into a reliable stock. Banish that dread of want, sickness or accident and assure yourself an income for old age.

You can buy "Home Makers" stock on small monthly instalments—it is a good stock to put your savings into. You can pay a cent a share cash and the balance at the rate of a cent a share per month. When stock is purchased on the instalment plan, a signed note for the unpaid balance should accompany the first cash payment.

"Home Makers" is guaranteed by the Los Angeles Investment Company. Every stockholder in "Home Makers" who wishes it will be given a guarantee in writing that the Los Angeles Investment Company will purchase his stock at a price which will protect him from loss, should he wish to sell. There is nothing evasive or entangling in this guarantee. If you want your money back, hand your stock certificate to the Los Angeles Investment Company.

The Los Angeles Investment Company backs its guarantee with a paid-in capital and surplus of more than $6,000,000, or millions larger than that of any other financial institution in the southwest. With this guarantee, "Home Makers" is an absolutely safe investment.

"Home Makers" has no agents, pays no commissions, has issued no promotion stock and sold no stock under the full market price. "Home Makers" is a money-maker—it has paid its first dividend to its 2869 stockholders.

"Home Makers" stock is now selling at 13 cents a share. It raises to 14 cents on Tuesday night, August 15. Not more than $1300 worth of "Home Makers" stock at its present price will be sold to one person, and not less than 100 shares or $13 worth.

No investor in "Home Makers" has ever failed to have his money returned to him on demand.

REPORTS FROM CORRESPONDENTS OF THE TIMES.

Tecate with the intention of marching on Tia Juana.

The reports state that the soldiers are heavily armed with modern guns and that they have plenty of ammunition. The reports at Tia Juana caused the authorities of the tourist town to begin preparations for defense. Refugees from the Mexican side of the line began arriving at Campo yesterday. Fifteen Mexican families are now camped there, according to statements by Postmaster Johnson of the American town of Campo.

SPEAKING OF SEAPORTS.

In a speech before the members of the Chamber of Commerce at the weekly booster luncheon at the United States Grant Hotel grill at noon today, Secretary Seeno Pratt of the New York Chamber of Commerce spoke about seaport business interests.

"Competition between cities," he said, "is the best stimulus that is possible to have. Each city should try to get the best for itself, without injuring another city. And while competing with each other, the five largest cities of the Pacific Coast have an interest in common and should co-operate. The history of the nineteenth century will be written upon the waters of the Pacific. San Diego is certain to play a prominent part."

RECOVER REPORTER'S BODY.

The body of Cecil R. Karberg, the young newspaper man who went bravely to his death in the surf at La Jolla while trying to save 10-year-old Dorothy McGrew, Sunday morning, was washed ashore this morning. The spot where it was found is close to where the young man sank for the last time.

Coroner Bell ordered the remains removed to La Jolla. The jury at the inquest returned a verdict of accidental drowning. The remains will be sent to the home of Karberg's parents in Spokane.

TIE COUNTIES SEAT TO SEAT.

WORKING HARD FOR PROPOSED SEA-LEVEL HIGHWAY.

Money Problem is Taken Up With a Will by Those Interested—Montecito Millionaire Makes Material Contribution to the Fund for the Contemplated Improvement.

SANTA BARBARA, Aug. 8.—With practically every civic organization in Santa Barbara and Ventura counties, together with scores of individuals working to raise $50,000 for the building of a sea-level road to connect the county seats there seems to be every assurance that the fund will soon be in hand and that work will start in the near future on the proposed highway.

The money problem has been taken up with a will by those who are interested in the project and in Santa Barbara, where $25,000 is to be raised, it is believed the total amount will be subscribed before the end of this month. Yesterday W. H. Alley, a Montecito millionaire, donated $1000 to the fund with the provision that nine other men give a similar amount. The collecting committee states it is confident that the stipulation will bring in the desired $9000.

BIG WALNUT CROP.

County Horticultural Commissioner C. W. Beers in his monthly report to the Supervisors states that Santa Barbara county will have a record-breaking walnut crop this year. He also said that while apricots and peaches are far below the average plums are an excellent crop and that deciduous fruits should exceed the average. Blight effects to the orchards have almost entirely disappeared and the commissioner does not think the county will suffer much from it in the future.

Owing to the fact that there is an over supply of water now flowing from the city tunnel the city water commission announced yesterday that consumers will be granted permission to double the amount of water now being used and the cost will remain the same. It is said the water is going to waste and the commissioners think the public should have the benefit of the superabundance.

Residents of Montecito are much worried over the fact that there are no bidders for the five and one-half mile of good roads authorized by a recent bond election. The voters almost unanimously passed the $40,000 worth of bonds, desiring to make every road in the fashionable suburb a paved street, but after the work was advertised it was discovered that no one wanted the job. It is now necessary to readvertise for bids. It is said contractors are fighting shy of the job because they do not think $40,000 is sufficient and of course their bids must not be over that amount.

POSTPONE CARNIVAL DATE.

Anaheim Knights of Pythias Will Conduct Their Period of Merrymaking in October.. News Briefs.

ANAHEIM, Aug. 8.—At a joint meeting of the general carnival committee and the members of Company 26 K. of P. it was decided to postpone the Anaheim street fair and carnival from August 15-20 to September 27-October 1. It was found that the time originally set was insufficient to prepare the displays that the business men had contemplated, and that other features would be curtailed owing to lack of time. The postponement means no lack of interest or enthusiasm in the project, but on the other hand, is a promise that the carnival will be on a larger and more splendid scale than was at first contemplated.

A general committee has been appointed, consisting of officers of Company 26, as follows: Capt. Frank Tausch, chairman; Lieuts. Walter Amstats and Alvin Nowotny; Sergts. Beal, Davis and Eastland.

The Knights of Pythias have already chosen Miss Alma Yoern, whom they will boost to a finish as she is a prominent Pythian Sister and one fitted for a queen's throne. Miss Susanne Beebe has been selected by the Odd Fellows as their ideal for a queen and doubtless other popular young ladies will be in the race for the honor before it advances very WHEELS CRUSH LEG AND ARM.

BRAKEMAN SEVERELY INJURED IN RAILROAD YARDS.

Tool Dresser Missing on Desert and Searching Parties Looking for Him—Two Arc Lights Burning on Every Corner of Town by Reason of Singular Situation of Affairs.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

SAN BERNARDINO, Aug. 8.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Raymond D. Baldwin, a Santa Fe brakeman, was severely injured in the Santa Fe yards this morning by being run down by a gravel train. His left leg was crushed at the ankle, his right arm crushed and head and face mangled.

He was rushed to the company's hospital at Los Angeles. Word received from the hospital late today states his chance for recovery is very slight. At the time of the accident he was on the rear of the train, and did not see a switch engine approaching.

Just as the engine was about to couple on to the train, Baldwin stepped backward into the middle of the track. The rear tender struck him, throwing his right arm across the rail. The lower part of the truck struck him in the back, dragging him near the wheels, which ground his face and head.

MISSING ON DESERT.

Searching parties are looking for Ed Jennings, a tool dresser employed at McKittrick. Jennings wandered from the "Windy" Smith ranch last Saturday. He had visited the ranch intending to spend Sunday there. Taking a stroll on the desert he was caught in a windstorm. Since then no trace of him has been found, though the hunt for the missing man was undertaken at once, when it was seen that the storm of sand—was mounting high in the air, and crossing the section into which he had gone on his stroll. The gravest fears are entertained for his safety. In the same section some five years ago a party of six men were lost, only one of them ever being accounted for. His bones were found three years later on top of a newly-formed sand dune.

CHURCHMEN IN STRIFE.

Charles E. Calderwood, an Ontario ranchman, and a Free Methodist, is suing the Rev. George Seacord, of the same faith, for $1500 damages, alleged to have been suffered in a land swap. Calderwood seeks to have the record, as embraced in the complaint, show that both are Free Methodists, that Seacord is a clergyman of that church, and that it was the fact that he wears the cloth that aided in the alleged fraud.

Seacord, on the other hand, seems equally anxious to have all religious elements stricken out. He has succeeded in making Calderwood amend his complaint on this score twice, and now attacks the third amended complaint on the ground that it contains the word "pulpit." A battle royal over this word is scheduled at the next session of court, the complainant being determined that it shall stand intact in the complaint as amended the third time.

Two arc lights burning brilliantly on every corner of town was the unique condition of affairs seen here during the night. One set of arcs is owned by the Lytle Creek Power Company, which has held the contract for lighting the city for the last two years. The other set is owned by the Pacific Light and Power Company, which has just secured the new contract. The former company claims it has the legal right to burn its lights until the last of August, the agreement between the city and the Pacific Light and Power Company being that it shall connect its arcs with its circuit, as each arc is in place.

If the contention of the Lytle Creek Power Company is upheld, that corporation will have a legal claim of $975 against the city at the end of the month for arcs, while the Pacific Light and Power Company will hold another legal claim for $864. This promises to prove the most expensive month for street lighting the city has ever known.

GUGGENHEIMS BUY MINE.

The Guggenheims have bought the old Virginia Dale mine, at Dale, from the Seigufust estate, stated consideration, $175,000. This is one of the best properties in the Dale country. There are thousands of tons of ore blocked out, Seigufust having worked the property for years. The purchase brings to light that not only are the Guggenheims dickering in that section but the Schwab interests are also making purchases. Schwab has taken over a number of the old mining properties.

SELF-WOUNDED; DIES.

George Harris, who fired two bullets into his head, while in the Audubon lodging-house last Friday, died today. He was a brickmason. His aged father, Harrison Harris of Oak Glen, found the son immediately after the shooting. The motive is unknown. "If I don't succeed this time I will the next," was the wounded man's statement to the attending physician.

GRANT RIGHT OF WAY.

A petition signed by 200 members of the North, Northeast and Northwest Improvement Association was presented to the County Supervisors yesterday, asking for a right of way from the Plaza to Aliso street by way of Los Angeles street, and north and south over San Pedro street. The purpose is to extend the proposed municipal railway over this right of way if granted.

GOES HOME WITH FRIEND.

Dressed in the habiliments of a priest a man giving his name as Rev. M. J. Conley was arrested at Fourth and Main streets by Policeman McFadden early this morning on a charge of being drunk. The man was hardly able to walk when brought to the Central Station where he was booked by Sergt. Tyler. A few minutes later the prisoner was released and allowed to go to his home in charge of a friend.

RED MEN ACTIVE.

SAN JOSE, Aug. 8.—[By A. P. Night Wire.] At today's session of the Independent Order of Red Men, a Committee on Ways and Means was appointed, consisting of Frank V. Bell of San Francisco, chairman, Judge P. C. Gesford of Napa, Jacob Samuels of San Francisco, Porter L. Bliss of San Francisco, A. B. Adams of Eureka, J. E. Weller of Fort Bragg, M. L. Haynes of San Francisco, H. S. Stearns of Hanford and Walter L. Pierce of Vallejo, and they will recommend to the Great Council tomorrow, the raising of $15,000 to entertain the Great Council of the United States in San Francisco in 1915 by increasing the dues 5 cents for each member. A Committee on the Honored Dead was appointed, consisting of all Past Great Sachems, with James Smith of Vallejo, chairman. If the recommendations of the committee on the entertainment in San Francisco in 1915 are carried tomorrow they will be accepted by the Great Representatives to the Great Council to be held in Cleveland next month and the matter will be promulgated by the California Great Representatives.

TOGO VISITS CONGRESS.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 8.—[By A. P. Night Wire.] Admiral Count Togo paid a formal visit to both houses of Congress today and thanked the members for his cordial reception in this country. In both the Senate and House he was enthusiastically applauded, each chamber recessing to allow the members to shake his hand. In the Senate the admiral sat for a few minutes beside Vice-President Sherman, while Senator Bradley of Kentucky concluded a speech.

COTTON DOWN AGAIN.

NEW ORLEANS, Aug. 8.—[By A. P. Night Wire.] Rumors of serious labor troubles in England broke the local cotton futures market nearly $2 a bale on the most active months today in the trading up to mid afternoon. At that time both the October and December options were 36 points down from yesterday's close. The other active months were 32 to 35 points down. No recovery was made before the close.

VETO BILL UP AGAIN.

LONDON, Aug. 8.—[By A. P. Night Wire.] Lord Hugh Cecil's motion that consideration of the veto be postponed, was rejected, 348 to 209, and a motion to begin consideration of the Lords' amendment to the veto bill was agreed to.

There was a crowded house when the debate, which was interrupted by violent scenes on July 24, was resumed on a motion to consider the Lords' amendment to the bill.

HALE EXPRESSES GRIEF.

ELLSWORTH (Me.) Aug. 8.—[By A. P. Night Wire.] The expression of former United States Senator Eugene Hale on learning tonight of the death of his colleague of many years, follows: "I am overwhelmed by the terrible news of the death of my colleague, Senator Frye. While I knew that he was a very ill man, I hoped and believed that the peace and rest of his summer's life in Maine would enable him to return to the Senate and resume his duties there. He and I have been very near and dear friends for more than forty years. We have disagreed on a great many things as to public policy but there has never been anything serious between us and I have no heart tonight to say anything more. Later I will speak more fully of the character and illustrious service of the distinguished Senator who has gone forever."

SANTA ROSA TRIAL.

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 8.—[By A. P. Night Wire.] Capt. T. C. Titchworth of the tug Dauntless and Capt. Louis Nopander of the steamer Bear testified here today before United States Steamship Inspector Bolles and Bulger that Capt. O. A. Faria of the wrecked Santa Rosa was steering dangerously near the shore, just prior to the grounding of the vessel of the Point Arguello lighthouse. "If the vessel had been a stranger to me I would have warned her by wireless," said Capt. Nopander. Capt. Titchworth's testimony agreed with that of Capt. Nopander in all essential points. Today's proceedings were preliminary to the trial of Capt. Faria and Third Mate Thomas of Santa Rosa, which will be begun in a few days.

WOOL CONFERENCES.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 8.—[By A. P. Night Wire.] Although Senator La Follette declared his conviction today that there would be a wool tariff revision bill passed at this session, both he and Representative Underwood of Alabama acknowledged that they were no nearer an agreement on the measure, after a two hours' session this afternoon. Another conference will be held Thursday. The delay in getting together is attributed by some Senators to a strong desire to let the wool bill go over until the regular session of Congress in December.

TELEGRAPHERS TO QUIT.

CHICAGO, Aug. 8.—[By A. P. Night Wire.] Reports that 8000 telegraphers of the New York Central lines were prepared to join railroad men who are threatening to strike, were general among railroad men here today.

CONDUCTOR IS UNDER ARREST.

ATTEMPT TO SMUGGLE TWO CHINESE IS CHARGE.

Taken Into Custody at Santa Barbara He is Accused of Having Kept the Orientals in a Stateroom Which He Locked—Apprehended on Telegram from Federal Officers.

Tony Roundtree, a Pullman car conductor, was arrested at Santa Barbara and brought to the County Jail in this city last night at 11:30 o'clock charged with attempting to smuggle two Chinese in his car from El Paso to San Francisco. According to information received by the authorities here Roundtree agreed to carry Gee Wing and Lem Dig in the stateroom of his car and deliver them in San Francisco for $350 which already is said to have paid by the Orientals.

The men boarded the train at El Paso and were hidden under a bed in the compartment while the regular train conductor passed through after which the room was locked and no one was permitted to enter. The train passed through this city yesterday afternoon when a tip was received by the local United States officers and a telegram was sent to Santa Barbara to intercept the aliens. The three men were brought back and locked up pending further investigation.

On the same train was United States Marshal Elliott of the Northern district of California having in custody Grogorio Guzman, formerly of this city who recently was arrested in San Francisco on a charge of smuggling Chinamen into Los Angeles more than a year ago.

BOY FRACTURES SKULL.

Is Thrown From His Bycicle to the Pavement and Receives Injuries Considered Serious.

While turning the corner of Orange and Figueroa streets last night Henry Ream, 16 years old, and the son of George L. Ream of No. 4454 West Rose Hill avenue, was thrown from his bicycle and landed on his head on the pavement. He was unconscious when picked up and sent to the Receiving Hospital for medical treatment. An examination by Dr. Wright revealed a fracture of the skull at the base of the head as well several cuts and bruises on the body and legs.

Witnesses to the accident say that the young man was riding at high speed and tried to make a short turn when the wheels of his machine skidded. His condition at midnight was pronounced serious. The young man was a drug clerk and lived at the home of his father.

FOUND SICK ON LOT.

Blacksmith Suffering With High Fever Says He Was Refused Admission to the County Hospital.

Declaring that he had been refused admission to the County Hospital on the ground that he had taken a drink, John Norton, a blacksmith living at No. 315 East First street, was found in a lot at Temple and Fremont streets late last night, suffering from fever. He was brought to the Receiving Hospital, where it was found that his pulse was 132 and that his temperature was 104, a condition that was pronounced serious.

An examination failed to reveal any signs of liquor, although the man was unable to talk in a normal manner on account of his illness. Norton said that he couldn't work as both hands had been crippled and that when taken ill with fever, he decided to apply to the County Hospital for treatment. As soon as he called at the institution he says he was gruffly ordered off the premises and was told that they did not have accommodations for "drunks," and that he was not sick. He is 52 years old.

The physicians at the Receiving Hospital were at a loss last night where to send the sick man, as there are no accommodations there for permanent patients. No record of the case could be found at the County Hospital last night.

BOY HURT BY AUTO.

While playing in the street in front of his home, Elwyn Haeberlin, the 6-year-old son of A. E. Haeberlin, of No. 712 South Hope street, darted in front of a passing automobile about 6 o'clock last night, and sustained injuries that are considered serious. Walter Weusthoff, the owner of the automobile, says that the lad, who had been riding on the rear of a wagon, had alighted and started in the direction of his home when he was run down. The boy was placed in the machine and hurried to the Good Samaritan Hospital, where it was found that his face and abdomen had been lacerated, and that there were grave symptoms of internal injuries.

Raymond B. Stickelman of Los Angeles obtained a license in Milwaukee yesterday to marry Louise E. Bengstone of St. Louis.

Traffic Problems.

E. P. Gregson, secretary of the Jobbers Association, will be the speaker at the City Club luncheon Saturday. He will discuss "Traffic Problems."

Laundry Employees Have Treat.

The Electric Laundry gave an outing to 150 of its employees at Luna Park last night. Those who attended had an enjoyable time. The evening was spent in dancing and visiting the various concessions.

Will Speak on Alaska.

The speaker at the noon luncheon today at the Federation Club, will be Rev. David Waggoner, who has spent ten years in Alaska. His subject will be "The Condition of the Natives of Southeastern Alaska." Members will be given the opportunity to ask questions of the speaker.

Dead in the Road.

The body of George Gaeber, a resident of Santa Barbara, 60 years old, was found at the side of the road, a mile east of Calabasas, yesterday morning. Death was due to heart disease. Gaeber represented an eastern mop company, and had been in the vicinity of Calabasas several days.

New York Tourists.

A party of eighty-five residents of New York arrived in Los Angeles last night over the Santa Fe. They will pass several days in the city and will leave Friday over the coast line of the Southern Pacific, after which they will tour Yellowstone Park on the homeward-bound trip.

Y.W.C.A. Physical Display.

To demonstrate what progress has been made by the pupils of the summer physical education school of the Y.W.C.A., exercises will be held in the gymnasium on Friday evening at 7:30 o'clock. The programme will include Swedeish practice, folk dancing, body exercises, games, advanced aesthetic dancing and fancy steps.

Summer-School Picnic.

Nearly four hundred poor children, who are members of the Castelar-street summer-school will enjoy a picnic to be given at Luna Park today under the management of the school. E. Kersey and James Weinstein, teachers in charge of the entertainment, have arranged for a fine time for the youngsters, most of whom are foreigners.

Fire Fighter Returning.

Forestry Superintendent Charlton of this district, who has been directing the work of the small army of men combating the flames laying waste miles of timber and brush and settled property in the San Bernardino region, is expected home at the end of the week, it was said at his office in the Federal building yesterday.

Bids for Vacuum Cleaner.

Through the efforts of Postmaster Harrison the Federal building is to be equipped with an up-to-date vacuum cleaning system to cost about $4000. Fourteen bids have been received, which will be opened the 21st inst. The plant will consist in part of a large air compressor and pump, which will be located in the basement. There will be outlet for connections in each corridor on all floors.

Praise Good Road Work.

A telegram was received yesterday by officials of El Camino Real Association from the Pacific Highway Association, now holding its annual convention in Portland, warmly commending the organization for its good work in furthering the cause of good roads along the Coast and thanking its members for their cooperation in the movement.

Catholic Reunion Picnic

The annual Catholic reunion and picnic, which will be held at Redondo Beach on Saturday, is slated to be the greatest event in the history of California Catholicism. Special rates have been made by the Pacific Electric Railway, and tickets have been placed on sale at a large number of places. Cars will leave Second and Spring streets at frequent intervals during the day. Bishop Conaty will deliver an address, making a review of the year. There will be a baby show, athletic sports, bathing, boating and dancing.

Now He's Out, Too.

J. H. Wagner, night clerk at the Island Villa, Avalon, was discharged Monday night by the Santa Catalina Island Company as a result of the disappearance of William P. Long. What the connection between the two is was not given out, but it is known that Wagner was a friend of Long, and was brought down from Portland by the company on Long's urgent recommendation. It is understood he had entire knowledge of Long's plans when the latter departed, under apparently false pretenses. The company still maintains that the accounts of the departed hotel clerk are correct. A trail of financial obligations was left by Long.

The Promised Land.

SUNNY MEXICO A NEW CANAAN.

Mexican Trust Official Sees Future Roseate.

"Another California, Wealth Almost Untouched."

Many Seizing Chances in Sister Republic.

"In spite of the disturbances caused by the late revolution in Mexico and the disposition to wait upon the October elections before proceeding with new enterprises, there is still much important development work in the aggregate now going forward," said S. W. Rider of Mexico City yesterday. Rider, who is vice-president and manager for Mexico of the United States and Mexican Trust Company, is at the Alexandria.

"I have been in nearly all parts of the southern republic during the past six months and have been impressed anew by the importance of the development that has been and is still going on. It means more to the United States than has yet been realized. The Times recently gave a very intelligent and comprehensive review of het oil developments in Mexico. It seems certain now that the Tampico field will become the greatest of the world in production. Several large companies are laying pipe lines and building tanks as rapidly as possible to take care of the oil. Export to foreign markets has begun.

"Work is being prosecuted on large irrigation projects. On the Conchos River in Chihuahua, a Canadian syndicate is spending $10,000,000 gold in dams and canals for irrigating cotton and farming lands. Electric power will be generated for the cities of Chihuahua and Parral. In the State of Tamaulipas, opposite Brownsville, Tex., an immense work, subsidized by the Mexican government, is being undertaken in irrigating lands that will be colonized from Europe. Similar work on the Yaqui River in Sonora, has already been undertaken by a Los Angeles syndicate. Several important water powers are to be developed by European capital. The Minister of Finance, Sr. Ernesto Madero, who succeeded Sr. Limantour, states that several foreign banking syndicates are planning to enter the Mexican field. The most important, he said, is a Belgian bank that will be opened in Mexico City. Another, with French capital, is planned for Chihuahua, and a charter has been granted a Spanish syndicate for a bank in Puebla. Arrangements are being made to finance a new railway in Jalisco, the bonds for which are to be guaranteed by the State government

CAPITAL WELCOME.

"An impression seems to have got abroad that foreign capital may not have the same encouragement and protection under this regime as from the Diaz government. On this point, however, ample assurance has been given, both by the present administration and by Francisco Madero, who is expected to become President following the election in October. Just at present the country is passing a trying period of readjustment and of waiting upon the national election. There have been local disorders, and probably there will be more, pending the restoration of normal conditions, but the people as a whole have shown marked self-restraint during this great political upheaval.

"General trade between the United States and Mexico has increased 1000 per cent. in twenty-five years and is still in its infancy. New railroads are bringing the two countries closer and the opening of the Panama Canal will have potent effect. The entire sugar crop of Hawaii, that formerly went east by way of San Francisco now goes by the Tehuantepec Railway across Mexico. The traffic of the Tehuantepec route, built up in four years, now exceeds all expectations. It will always have a heavy traffic no matter how much the Panama route may develop. Great and constant expansion of trade in those regions is certain.

A NEW CALIFORNIA.

"I wonder that Californians have not been more active in occupying the rich and undeveloped west coast of Mexico through which the Southern Pacific is now building 1200 miles of railway lines. In about two years your people will be able to board a Pullman car here in Los Angeles and get off at Guadalajara 1600 miles to the south. There is a country 5000 feet above sea level, with ideal climate and producing finer citrus fruits than can be grown in California. They grow on land only the fraction of the grow on land only the fraction of the ready for market two months earlier and the freight rate to the eastern cities is only ten cents more a hundred pounds."

NEW SCIENTIFIC WRINKLE.

Copper and Bronze Relics Given Electrolytic Bath and Regain Luster of Original Days.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

SAN FRANCISCO Aug. 8.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Experiments in saving old copper and bronze relics, which have been buried for hundreds of years, by use of an electrolytic process, recently discovered, will be conducted by the department of archaeology at the State university this year. Recent experiments under the direction of Prof. A. L. Kroeber have resulted in the recovery of numerous spear heads and other relics, on which several old methods of cleansing were ineffectually tried.

By the electrolytic process old copper and bronze relics which have become heavily corroded by lying for years underground can be cleaned off and brightened, making possible a special study of methods of handiwork used by the craftsmen of the earlier centuries.

The method followed is to wrap the articles in zinc plates and then immerse them in a solution of chemicals. An electric current is then turned into the bath the zinc plate as conductor, and the surface of the articles is thoroughly cleaned.

OBITUARY.

Mrs. Eva Levy.

SAN JOSE, Aug. 8.—[By A. P. Night Wire.] Mrs. Eva Levy, widow of Herman Levy, who was a pioneer merchant of this city, died today at her home on North Third street, after a residence of fifty-one years here, at the age of 70. She is survived by one son, Jesse, a prominent local merchant, and six daughters—Clara M. and Emma C. Levy, and Mrs. Harriet Oppenheimer of this city, Mrs. S. Mrs. Clara Heriot.

BERKELEY, Aug. 7.—[By A. P. Day Wire.] Mrs. Clara Heriot, wife of Gen. Edgar L. Heriot of the Confederate Army, died here today, aged 86. Mrs. Heriot came to California with her husband, who was prominent in the campaigns in Texas at the close of the Civil War. Gen. Heriot was prominently engaged as an engineer in early Southern Pacific construction work. Mrs. Heriot is survived by a son, R. H. Heriot, of Salt Lake City.

A New Move

When we established our business in Los Angeles, twenty-four years ago, it was customary for opticians to carry a stock of merchandise pertaining to their business, and we were no exception to the rule. We have always been up to date. In fact, frequently in advance of others.

We now intend to make a more radical move than ever, one that we have had in mind for several years and made possible by the recent sale of the lease on our old unsuited quarters. We propose to specialize on eyesight defects exclusively, and to insure absolute accuracy will continue to grind our own lenses.

Therefore, in the future you will not find in our new store any jewelry, kodaks, photo supplies, cameras, magnifiers, opera glasses, telescopes, compasses, etc., —nothing else but eye glasses will be obtainable here.

A MOTHER'S DUTY

It is the duty of every expectant mother to prepare her system for the coming of her little one; to avoid as far as possible the suffering of such occasions, and endeavor to pass through the crisis with her health and strength unimpaired. This she may do through the use of Mother's Friend, a remedy that has been in long in use, and accomplished so much good, that it is in no sense an experiment, but a preparation which always produces the best results. It is for exernal application and so penetrating in its nature as to thoroughly lubricate every muscle, nerve and tendon involved during the period before baby comes. It aids nature by expanding the skin and tissues, relieves tenderness and soreness, and perfectly prepares the system for natural and safe motherhood. Mother's Friend has been used and endorsed by thousands of mothers, and its use will prove a comfort and a benefit to any woman in need of such a remedy. Mother's Friend is sold at drug stores. Write for free book for expectant mothers, which contains much valuable information.

RICHES ROB HIM OF A LIFE WORK.

America's Supply of Native Fruit Now Cornered.

The sudden and unexpected inheritance of a large fortune has set at naught the calculations of a lifetime for Bernard Johnson and made the thing for which he has worked for twenty years seem of but trivial value.

For at least fifteen years Johnson has been accounted as one of the world's first authorities on the subject of date culture. For many years he served the United States Department of Agriculture as a date expert, and the fact that this government has been able to demonstrate the feasibility of growing dates in America for commercial purposes is as much due to his efforts as to any other one man in the republic. for Uncle Sam. Johnson dreamed of for Uncle Sam Johnson dreamed of the time when he might establish himself upon a date ranch of his own. The development of an abundance of water by means of artesian wells in the Mecca country gave him his opportunity and in 1904 he planted a ten-acre ranch at Mecca with the finest-known commercial dates, which he gathered in person at Algiers.

So careful was he of his precious plants that he not only accompanied them on board ship, but crossed the American continent with them on a freight train, watering them and gauging their temperature at every division end between New York City and Mecca.

Johnson, long before, had discarded the idea of getting the best results from seed, and experience in date culture in this country have since borne out his theory of using the offshoot of the parent plant.

Just as his plants were beginning to bear their first fruit Johnson received notice that out of an estate belonging to his father in Germany he would receive a fortune running into six figures. Investigation has since shown that the settlement of the estate and the financial responsibilities that it brings will not enable him to devote himself to date culture any longer, and yesterday he parted with the ranch on which his heart had been set for so many years.

The purchaser is the American Date Company, which has headquarters in this city and which is owned by three or four Los Angeles men. The approximate price paid was $15,000. The ranch is the most advanced date farm of large proportions in this country, and its purchase gives the American Date Company control of seven-eighths of all the commercial dates in the United States. It will, further, place the purchasing company in a position to increase its acreage more rapidly than it could have expected without this property.

The company has wanted to buy the Johnson ranch ever since its organization, but Johnson says he would not have sold it for many times its value, had not his inheritance robbed him of leisure for his hobby.

The large annual output of offshoots, which can be transplanted, constitutes the chief asset of the purchase. The company expects to get plants for at least twelve acres each year from the Johnson tract. The dates are already bearing and all that the place produced last year sold in the local market for 75 cents a pound.

Bernard Johnson, who toiled all his life to get money enough to buy a date ranch. He secured it and then fell heir to a large fortune left him in Germany. He sold the date ranch.

LIFE'S FULL OF TROUBLE.

Released on One Charge Man Is Held for Threats to Kill and Dynamite and Failure to Provide.

After having been held in $500 bonds to keep the peace on a charge of threatening to kill his wife and blow up the Vogel apartments along with their proprietor Frank Allen who but recently served fifty days in the County Jail for drunkenness, was next held in $500 bail for Superior Court. He must explain why he does not provide for his five small children. In default, he went to jail.

Allen is a painter, with no definite address. He was given preliminary hearings on the double charge before Justice Forbes. His wife lives in the Vogel apartments. She charged, as did Proprietor R. A. Smith, that Allen went there drunk, and when refused admittance, telephoned from a nearby saloon the alleged threats which caused his arrest.

COMING AFTER MONNETTE.

Los Angeles Man Wanted in Sacramento Fails to Show Up and Deputy Sheriff Sets Out.

Deputy Sheriff Thisbey left Sacramento yesterday afternoon for Los Angeles, carrying a bench warrant signed by Acting Township Justice Anderson for the arrest of J. B. Monnette, who is charged with embezzlement by J. E. Whisner. Monnette was supposed to show up in Sacramento for trial Monday, but did not appear.

Monnette is charged in Sacramento with having slipped out with $50 advance money from the California State Life Insurance Company shortly after obtaining employment, and after the company had paid a hotel bill amounting to $100.

Costly Leadership.

VICTORIOUS, BUT LIFE IS PRICE.

LAD FALLS FROM TOP OF TREE, FRACTURING SKULL.

Dares Other Boys to Follow Him, But They Will not and Beg Him to Come Down—Attains Last Branch When It Breaks, and Falls Head First.

The desire on the part of a 12-year-old school boy to excel his comrades in climbing trees resulted early yesterday afternoon in the death of Lloyd Cook, the limb of the tree to which he was clinging breaking and allowing him to fall head first to the ground.

He was playing on the Washington-street school grounds with four or five other boys. One of them suggested climbing into a large pepper tree, and with a boyish whoop they scrambled into the tree. When all had reached the lower branches, Lloyd said he would climb to the top, and challenged the others to follow him.

From limb to limb Lloyd swung, nimbly, the tree swaying as he climbed. The other boys became frightened and declared they were willing to acknowledge his superiority if he would come down.

Exulting in his ability and fearlessness, he clambered quickly to the top. Reaching out his hand to grasp a limb and swing into a sitting posture upon it, he heard a resounding crack at the root of the limb. He tried to get to another limb, but the one upon which he was hanging broke and fell.

He plunged head downward to the sun-baked earth and his skull was broken in many places. The police ambulance was sent to the scene and the boy was rushed to the Receiving Hospital. Dr. Kidder pronounced him dead when the ambulance arrived.

J. B. Cook, No. 2115 Leoti street, is father of the boy. He is connected with the Pico Heights Lumber Company. The body was taken to Pierce Bros.' undertaking establishment.

Compromise.

SALE OF MASON LEASE TO SYNDICATE LIKELY.

AS SUGGESTED in The Times in a previous issue, compromise will put an end to the dispute of Mrs. Elsie Crossley-Toplitzky and William T. Wyatt over the will of Wyatt's father, the late Harry C. Wyatt.

A few weeks ago it seemed certain that Wyatt would file a suit to break his father's will, which gave Miss Crossley—who, at the time the will was made was Harry C. Wyatt's fiancee—the bulk of the property.

The time limit for the contest-filing expired yesterday afternoon. And Jud Rush, Wyatt's lawyer, filed no contest.

This morning W. E. Dunn, the executor, will ask an order allowing him to dispose of all the property, including the Mason Operahouse lease.

This, the most valuable asset, was really the bone of contention. Wyatt had the syndicate franchise, Mrs. Toplitzky the house in which they played—in fact, the only house available.

It is whispered that Klaw & Erlanger themselves will take over this lease—a procedure which is not surprising, in fact, since they have been pursuing the policy of accumulating leases ever since the alarming defection to the Shuberts several seasons ago.

During his recent visit here Klaw stated to The Times: "When the syndicate was formed we trusted our friends, the allied managers, implicitly. It has been a sad blow to our faith in humanity to see many of the men we have favored most rushing headlong into the Shubert camp. Hereafter I propose not to depend on human frailty, but to take up our leases themselves as fast as they expire."

So it seems an entirely logical proceeding for Klaw & Erlanger to take over the Mason lease—not for any lack of faith in their duly-accredited representative, young Wyatt, but because it is merely in line with their new policy.

Local confirmation and denial are both lacking. "The Wyatt-Toplitzky atmosphere will be clear in a few days," said Rush, "but at present, and until some definite conclusions are reached, there is absolutely nothing to say. I can't volunteer any information as to the probable fate of the lease or the disposal of the balance of the estate."

The balance of the estate consists of two houses at Sixth and Burlington and a small amount of miscellaneous property.

Worth While.

RACES DEATH, SAVES LIFE.

Chauffeur Carries Drug to Waiting Husband.

Is Relayed by Second Auto to Dying Woman.

"My Wife Will Live!" is the Latest Message.

In an upgrade dash of eighty miles early yesterday morning William Horner, a Los Angeles chauffeur connected with the Alexandria livery, drove his automobile up perilous mountain grades, creeks and turns, and saved the life of Mrs. A. A. Janes, wife of the chief train dispatcher for the Southern Pacific Company, who lay in the new San Joaquin Hospital in Bakersfield at the point of death for want of a few drops of normal saline serum.

Horner reached Fairmont completing the first lap of the journey in three hours, where Janes met him with an automobile from Bakersfield which hurried the precious substance to the bedside of his dying wife. Reports which reached Los Angeles last night placed Mrs. Janes past danger and resting easily.

The message which reached Los Angeles yesterday came sounding over the wires from Bakersfield to C. J. Black of the Alexandria livery. "Get me saline serum," it read. "My wife is dying. She will be dead by noon if it does not reach her within a few hours. Spare no expense. For God's sake hurry." The message was signed by Janes. It reached Black at 4:40 yesterday morning. Janes had tapped San Francisco for the precious substance. He had scoured the medical circles of the city in search of it for an hour by telegraph and telephone with a hundred brains working feverishly to get the medicine to save the Southern Pacific official's wife.

GETTING THE DRUG.

Black shot Horner into a car. He reached W. V. Dickinson, president of the Dean Drug Company, at the president's home, No. 1623 Gramercy place. Dickinson, half clad, got out his car and drove at high speed to his drug store. There he was met by Horner, who caught the serum as it was tossed to him.

Darting in the dim light of the early morning like a shadow flitting through the sleeping city, Horner whizzed past police and milkman to the country and the road for Bakersfield.

It was a heavy grade nearly all the way. The roads were bad, but before him he saw the dying face of a woman and heard the frantic appeals of the husband. Horner swept around curves and drove headlong over deep ruts in the road. His car at times almost keeled from the momentum of the sharp shocks. Farmers rising to feed their stock gazed in awe at the mad vision which shot past them.

EXCHANGED ON FLY.

When the chauffeur reached Fairmont, Janes and his driver were there to meet him. The nose of their car was pointed toward Bakersfield, and the engines singing, when Horner, speed somewhat slackened, passed them. He threw the serum to Janes and the husband shouted "Go!" In a minute the medicine was on the second lap of its journey.

Word which reached the driver last night thanked him profusely. "She is recovering," Janes's message read. "My wife will live, the doctors say. The serum arrived in time."

Mrs. Janes had been confined at the hospital for a week following an operation for appendicitis. Late Monday night she suddenly sank rapidly and the physicians by morning told Janes that he must get the preparation that would save her. The serum was carried 135 miles by automobile.

WATTS CONSIDERS FRANCHISE.

Ordinance Granting Right-of-way to Pacific Electric Railway Passes First Reading.

The City Council of Watts held a meeting last night to consider, on first reading, an ordinance granting right-of-way to the Pacific Electric Railway across certain streets, in order that a line may be built to Homer Junction connecting the Redondo line and the Long Beach line. It is proposed by the ordinance to give a franchise to the railway company for a period of fifty years, and the ordinance was passed first reading and laid over for one week for final passage.

The little room that serves as a Council chamber was crowded with about seventy-five men, and there was only one who expressed opposition to the ordinance. The fact is, all Watts wants the road, as it will make an important junction at that point. The meeting was presided over by C. H. Dodge, president of the City Council, and was addressed by George Hart, attorney for the railway company, and others.

COL. GREENE'S BODY HERE.

Friends of Late Mining Magnate May View the Remains This Afternoon—Disposition Not Determined.

Mrs. W. C. Greene, widow of the mining magnate, Col. W. C. Greene, who died a few days ago at Cananea, where his great mining properties were located, returned to her home in this city yesterday afternoon with the body.

Mrs. Greene was much wearied by the trip, and almost prostrated by the sad mission that caused it. She was not accessible at her residence, No. 2415 Western avenue, upon her return, but a friend of the family, speaking for her, said there will be no funeral services held in this city. The funeral service was held at Cananea. The body of Col. Greene, according to the statement made at the residence yesterday afternoon, will be placed in a receiving vault at Rosedale. It may be viewed by friends from 12 to 4 p.m. today in the chapel of Bresee Bros., Figueroa and Lincoln streets. The final disposition of the remains has not yet been decided upon. When asked if the body will be cremated, the friend of the family who talked for Mrs. Greene said she does not know what will be done.

CONSULT MAN ABOUT—HST!

Corsetiere Brings Down Wrath of Fashionable Women, Because, They Allege, She Used Whale-hone.

When is whale-hone whalebone?

Several members of the fashionable summer colony at Long Beach and Terminal Island, allege that whale-hone and whalebone are unlike in appearance and texture, whether used in corsets or fish-hooks.

Mme. La Vetta, an expert corsetiere residing at No. 1240 1-2 Georgia street, alleges that the materials are similar, despite the fact that the encyclopedia states that whale-hone is a mixture of metal and stiffened paper, while whalebone is derived from the leviathan.

The District Attorney's office was informed yesterday that while there is considerable difference in the materials of which whale-hone and whalebone are composed, there is no difference in the prices charged by Mme. La Vetta for her ("whalebone") whale-hone corsets.

After a consultation with some women complainants, Detective Duni decided to investigate Mme. La Vetta's corset factory. He will call on her today.

Beautiful Memorial.

TO RUSH WORK ON GIRLS' HOME.

MILLIONAIRE COPPER KING HAS APPROVED PLANS.

Within a Few Weeks Construction Will Be Begun on Building That is to Adorn Loma Drive—Will Be Maintained as Adjunct to Young Woman's Christian Association.

Plans for the splendid home for working girls to be built by former United States Senator Clark on Loma Drive as a memorial to his mother have been approved by the multi-millionaire copper king, and Arthur B. Benton, the architect, was yesterday instructed by J. Ross Clark, vice-president of the Salt Lake Railroad and brother and local spokesman of the ex-Senator, to rush the working specifications to completion, with the end that the structure may be started within a few days. The project will mean much to the young womanhood of the city, and will be maintained as an adjunct of the Young Woman's Christian Association.

The building, which will occupy a beautiful and commanding site fronting 300 feet on Loma drive and having a depth of 185 feet, will be imposing from an architectural point of view. Constructed in the French chateau style, it will have a frontage of 200 feet by a depth of 132 feet, and will be four stories in height above a ground-floor basement. The structure will be absolutely fireproof.

The basement story, which will be almost entirely above the ground, will be of reinforced concrete, above which will be reared the steel frame of the superstructure. The exterior will be faced in tapestry brick, laid with gray mortar and trimmed with brown pressed brick. The fourth story will take the form of a mansard roof and will be covered either with slate or Spanish clay tile. Altogether the building will be one of the handsomest in the city, no expense being spared in its construction.

The structure will face on three sides of a court, 100x112 feet in size, and opening on Loma drive. Across the three lower stories will extend wide paved verandas. Similar verandas at the rear of the building will be so arranged as to make their utilization as sleeping porches feasible.

The ground floor will contain a bowling alley, gymnasium, store rooms, trunk rooms, serving and laundry rooms, the heating plant, servants' quarters and an isolated hospital ward. The first floor is to contain a lobby, offices, reception-room, living-room, matron's apartments, two private parlors, library, a lecture-room to seat 300, a dining-room with a capacity of 200 and the kitchens.

The three upper floors will be divided into 130 guest-rooms, of which about a third will be large enough for two persons. The grounds are to be attractively laid out.

DID HE WINK, OR WHAT?

Man Accused of Having Ogled Policewoman Makes Peculiar Defense. Court Wants Time to Decide.

James Gibbons, the man arrested by Mrs. Alice Wells, the policewoman, Friday night, after she had enticed him into the Central Police Station under the pretext that they were taking a "stroll," was tried by Police Judge Frederickson yesterday afternoon. The court declared that the line was so finely drawn that it would take him until Friday afternoon to decide whether Gibbons is guilty.

The courtroom was crowded with heads of the Police Department who were greatly interested in the outcome, and many persons drawn by curiosity.

As Police Judge Frederickson summed it up, he is satisfied Mrs. Wells acted in good faith, but it is a question whether Gibbons approached her as she thought he did.

After hearing the evidence the court asked Mrs. Wells if when she first spoke to Gibbons after she thought he had winked at her she showed him that she resented the "ogling." Mrs. Wells was uncertain. Mrs. Gibbons, wife of the man accused of "ogling" Mrs. Wells, testified that her husband has for years been a victim of a nervous disease and that from her observation of her husband she did not doubt that Gibbons's eyes had twitched when he was on the street as he at intervals is seized with such nervousness that he cannot control himself.

It was admitted by both Mrs. Wells and Gibbons that they had taken a "stroll," but each denied having extended an invitation to the other to do so.

The event which led up to the trial yesterday occurred on North Main street Friday night. Mrs. Wells was standing on the sidewalk in front of a moving picture theater. Gibbons chanced to pass and they engaged in conversation. Mrs. Wells led Gibbons into the Central Police Station and placed him under arrest.

Terrifying.

WILD CHASE FOR MANIAC

Spring Street is Terroriz by a Madman.

Patton Guard Sees Him an Fight Follows.

Is Finally Run Down an Taken to Hospital.

Fighting his way through th crowds that lined Spring street at o'clock last night Fred Strong, a escaped patient from the State Insan Asylum at Patton, attempted to elud his pursuers, but was subdued aft several newsboys and an old flow seller had been knocked down.

The combined efforts of several o ficers were required to put the mani under subjection, after which he wa taken to the County Hospital to awa his return to the asylum.

Strong was committed to Patto from this city about nine months ag after it had been proven that he wa a confirmed kleptomaniac. His cond tion rapidly improved until a few da ago, when he announced that he wa dissatisfied with an idle life and th he longed to return to the scenes his former activities. He was plac in a stronger ward to insure safety.

Last Sunday afternoon Strong is u derstood to have filched the key the door from the pockets of a car less attendant, and with this aid liberty in his possession the insan man found it an easy task to steal dozen sheets or more, which he ti together to make a rope.

After the inmates of the ward h returned from supper that nig Strong stealthily opened the door an making his way to a window on t third floor, let himself down to t ground without arousing the atten ants. He made his way to San Be nardino, where he exhibited a roll bills and later hired an automob to take him to Pomona, from whi city he bought a ticket for Los An les. How he obtained these funds unknown.

It is known, however, that he a rived here Monday night and that visited a local employment bure where he paid $2 for a job in Colf

Meanwhile, Clifton Erven, a gua at the Patton institute, came to L Angeles on his vacation and was t by the authorities to keep a sha lookout for the missing patient. the hospital man was standing on t corner of Fifth and Spring stre awaiting for a car he saw Stro dodging about in the crowd and im mediately started in pursuit. As t recognition was mutual Strong ma a dash for liberty and knocking ov a newsboy, who stood in his pa dashed to a car going north.

An instant later he alighted a ran for the sidewalk, knocking a other boy aside. Strong continued course toward the Angelus Hotel.

At the Spring-street entrance this establishment, Strong brush aside a number of women and r through the office despite the effo of a number of guests to head him in response to the warning cries the pursuing guard. Coming out of Fourth-street door, he struck anot newsboy and without stopping c tinued diagonally across the str where he fell over Mrs. Marga Whalen, a flower seller, w screamed for help. Her cries w answered by two officers, who hea the fugitive off. Strong turned ran south.

At this point he was intercepted Guard Erven and a rough and tum fight followed. Strong was gradu forced into the corner of a doorw where he ceased to resist the effo to place him under arrest.

Strong is 52 years old and li with his wife and one son at 941 1-2 Blaine street, but during visit to this city it is said that made no effort to communicate w the members of his household. will be returned to Patton today.

COAST TO COAST BY AUTO.

First Company Is to Leave N York in October and Arrive H Two Months Later.

Here is the latest in tours: "Co to Coast by Automobile, New Y to Los Angeles."

The date for leaving New York set for October 2, and that of arri in Los Angeles December 1, mean just two months on the journ which allows for hold-ups by stor and gives plenty of opportunity thorough sight-seeing in the ci through which the tour passes.

The Raymond and Whitcomb Co pany is back of this startling gener travel scheme.

When the local hotel men were fi approached on the subject, th thought the idea rather in advance the day, but on being told of the liability of the company backing they took it as a matter of certain

Walter Raymond, one of the fo ders of the company and owner the Hotel Raymond, stated that subject of a trans-continental a tour as a regular thing had b spoken of a number of times, and s eral tours through the White Mo tains and other New England pla of interest by automobile were f tured by the company.

"I am merely a director, and kn little of what is being done in the w of tours, so that the actual announ ment of plans for the New York Los Angeles trip is news to me," s Raymond.

Seven-passenger automobiles are be used, and only four tourists t machine will be allowed. The ro which the travelers will take is by way of the Union Pacific after leav Omaha. All places of great inter en route will be made stopping poi

It is expected by Los Angeles ho men that such a tour will be one the best recommendations for a gr transcontinental highway, and w rapidly bring the matter to people influence who will back such a pro sition.

"When the people realize that t can travel in comfort and safety fr New York to Los Angeles in th own automobiles, it will mean a gre er influx than ever of men of me to Southern California," said S. Whitmore, general manager of Alexandria.

SUMMARY OF THE DAY.

Two hundred north side property ners petitioned the Council yester-y to make a start on the municipal ilway on San Pedro street.

A pathetic scene was enacted at the urthouse yesterday, when a little l was torn from her foster mother d given into the custody of her ther, whom she had not seen for r years and supposed to be dead.

Former Judge Hervey will return the bench long enough to settle the uble of a warring couple over the ount of alimony the wife shall re-ve.

ROPERTY OWNERS NOW WANT TRACKS LAID.

Petition of Two Hundred North-iders Furnishes Initiative for tarting Municipal Railway at laza and Continuing It as Far as racticable.

nitiative for a municipal railroad s taken yesterday when a petition s sent to the City Council by the rth, East, West Improvement As-iation, signed by over 200 proper- owners living on San Pedro, Aliso Commercial streets, asking that city proceed at once to lay double cks from the connection of present es on the Plaza south on Main eet to Commercial street, east to Angeles street, south to Aliso eet, east to San Pedro street, thence ith on San Pedro street "as far as essary to make proper connec-s.

"The tracks are to be the property the city and to be served either a municipal local passenger-car ipment or by private corporation al cars, as most expedient, pending position of municipal transporta- matters," says the petition.

The petition stated that the prop-y owners along San Pedro street e been to great expense in widen- that street and now want street . Petition was referred to the rd of Public Utilities.

MANY LICENSES.
BIG REVENUE ACCOUNT.

eputy City Clerk Lovie, whose duty s to issue all city licenses, except- dog licenses, yesterday completed July report which shows that this s the largest month in the history the city both in the number of nses issued and the amount of ney collected. There were 9809 nses of all kinds issued which were th to the city $100,112.46, of which ount $83,208.10 was collected. The e month a year ago, which was banner month up until that time, re was $97,000 worth of licenses ied.

ome of the classes of licenses are eresting in that they show the nbers of different businesses in the . For instance there were isued 3 licenses for hotels and lodging-ises; 1897 for express wagons; 671 restaurants. That there are nty of places where jobs are se-ed is shown by the fact that there sixty-five employment offices. To ply bread to the people there are bakeries and to sell goods at auc- . There are thirty-two licensed tioneers.

'or those who want to raise a lit- money in a hurry there are thirty- pawn shops licensed to do busi-s. There are 242 milk wagons; nty-three undertakers; 179 insur-e agents; 157 pool and billiard ls; ninety-one places of amuse-nt; 103 laundries; thirty-four stor- warehouses, and 683 vegetable ons.

n interesting bit of information is number of thirst parlors or places re intoxicating drinks can be had. re are 204 retail saloons, sixty-six aurants where liquors are sold ing meal hours, ninety wholesale r houses, twenty-six wineries, e breweries, sixteen social clubs re drinks are sold, six malt bot- houses, and nine hotels where rs are sold.

here are nineteen fortune tellers, n bowling alleys, 125 automobiles hire, but only 89 public hacks. A not generally known is that with- the city there are 438 oil wells. re are now 4044 licensed motor-ists.

LUMBERMEN THICK.
OPPOSE RESIDENCE LAW.

delegation of retail lumbermen eared before the Council yesterday rning and entered a vigorous com-nt against the ordinance, passed ne time ago, compelling all lumber ds to move out of the residence dis- into the factory district. Recent- number of lumber yard owners e been arrested by orders of City secutor Eddie for violating the or-ance by continuing their yards in residence district.

fter an hour's discussion the mat- was referred to the Public Welfare mittee which met late in the aft-oon. The City Prosecutor was at meeting and agreed with the lum-men that if they would carry the sent suit which is now in the Su-ior Court to the Supreme Court for ecision as to the validity of the or-ance he would desist having the ermen arrested, pending the ing. The members of the com-e agreed that the lumbermen are ected to a hardship because under ordinance several other lines of ices are allowed to remain in the idence district by securing the con-t of 60 per cent. of the property ners.

TAX HEARING.
STATE BOARD HERE.

essions of the State Board of ualization will begin this morning the Council chamber to hear pro- from a number of Los Angeles porations against their assessments operative property. Edward M. lkins of San Francisco, Richard E. lins of Redding and Jeff McElvaine San Bernardino, members of the te Board, arrived yesterday. John chell of Oakland and Steve Con-ier A. B. Nye of Sacramento, the er members, with Thomas H. Eby, retary of the board, will arrive this rning.

xcept for the questions involved and the fixing of the rate of tax- for the Panama-Pacific bonds board is through its work for this .

eff McElvaine, one of the members, last night that the completed ords show that the total value of taxable property in the State is now 5,927,137, which is an increase of $250,000,000 over last year. He says the rate for the Panama-Pacific exposition bonds will be about 5 or 5 1-4 cents and is the only tax to be levied.

Must Get Franchise.

The Council yesterday adopted the recommendation of the Board of Public Utilities and ordered that on and after September 1 the Los Angeles and Redondo Railway Company do not use the tracks on Grand avenue, Seventh street and Broadway from Jefferson street to Second and Spring street; also Broadway from Seventh to Main streets, thence south on Moneta without paying to the city a compensation to be fixed by the Board of Public Utilities. Paul Shoup, president of the company, asked that the time be extended to September 30, but the request was denied. The board promised to present to the Council next Tuesday the amount which the railroad company shall pay the city for the privilege of using the streets.

Asked to Send Delegates.

If there is anyone who would like to go to Chicago and officially represent the city of Los Angeles between September 18 and October 1 the Mayor would be glad to hear from him. During that time there are three national conventions in Chicago and the Mayor has been requested to send official delegates to each meeting.

The first meeting is the Fourth International Good Roads Congress of the International Good Roads Association, which will meet in that city from September 18 to October 1. The Mayor is asked to send 100 delegates.

Another meeting is the fourteenth annual session of the American Mining Congress, which will hold forth September 26-29, to which the Mayor is asked to send five delegates.

The other convention is the International Municipal Congress and Exposition, which meets September 18-30.

They Want City Water.

Residents of the southern part of the city between Figueroa street and Vermont avenue and north of Slauson avenue, who are consumers of water from the Stoll and Richmond companies, appeared before the Public Service Commission yesterday to ask that body to take over the plants and give them city water. The commission decided to visit the region Friday afternoon and investigate the request. There are now before the commission many such requests and that body is in a quandary as to how to meet the situation. The acquisition of all of the private companies is one of the questions which was sent to the Council for action by the board recently.

Pays Funeral Expense.

The report of the Finance Committee recommending that the sum of $350 be taken from the general expense fund and placed in the police fund to pay the funeral expenses of Patrolmen A. B. Crusey and C. S. Bowman was adopted. The committee recommended that $175 for each case is sufficient.

Blackmar Opposes Consolidation.

Oil Inspector Blackmar is objecting strenuously to the proposition to consolidate his office with that of the Engineer. The Finance Committee recommended that the offices of the Department of Oil Inspection, Department of Boiler and Elevator Inspection and Sealer of Weights and Measures be consolidated into one office with a clerk for all departments. This recommendation, however, was not adopted because Councilman Whiffen of the Supply Committee stated that his committee was working on a different form of consolidation which would go through just as soon as Blackmar could be made to see the advantages for consolidation.

Demands Explanation.

The Board of Public Utilities yesterday addressed a letter to the A. T. & S. F. Railway stating that, according to the maps and records in the office of the board, the railroad company has a large number of spur tracks which it is operating in the streets of the city in connection with various industries for which the railroad company has no franchise. The communication made a demand on the railroad company to adjust at once or else the board will take action.

City's Light Share.

The resolution of Councilman Andrews providing that where electroliers are installed on residence streets in the place of the arc lights that the city will pay one-eighth of the expense of lighting with the proviso that the electricity used by the electroliers amounts to eight times the amount used by the common arc lights, was adopted. In such cases where a less amount of electricity is used, the city will furnish the amount equal to that used by arc lights. The other seven-eighths of the expense will be born by the property owners.

Sixteenth Street Opening

The members of the Streets and Boulevards Committee of the City Council who had believed that they succeeded, last Thursday, in getting the Sixteenth street opening tangle straightened out were greatly surprised to see two delegations of irate citizens appear in Council meeting yesterday morning and enter a vigorous protest to the proposed action. The entire matter was continued until next Tuesday.

Widen Scott Avenue.

A resolution was adopted by the City Council instructing the City Engineer to prepare an ordinance of intention for the widening of Scott avenue from Sargent street to Echo Park avenue. Action on the petition to open and widen Scott avenue from Levatta avenue to Portia avenue was deferred two weeks.

City Hall Brevities.

On request of a number of citizens of Highland Park, the proposition of the Salt Lake Railroad to build a spur track on Avenue 61 from Pasadena avenue to Echo street was yesterday held up by the Council until August 29, when the citizens will be given an opportunity to tell why they don't want the spur track laid.

The petition of the Southern California Hardware and Manufacturing Company to build a spur track on Kohler street northerly from Ninth street to a connection with the Pacific Electric Railway for carrying freight to its plant was denied by the Council yesterday on recommendation of the Board of Public Utilities, for the reason that the Pacific Electric Company is not a freight-carrying road.

The protest against the ordinance of intention to open Seaton street from Palmetto street to Sixth street was denied yesterday, and the matter referred to the Streets and Boulevards Committee for further hearing.

Leaves of absence were yesterday granted to Councilman Whiffen from August 15 to August 29 and to Councilman Washburn from August 23 to September 22. Councilmen Lusk and O'Brien will leave on their vacations August 15.

The recommendation of the Public Welfare Committee that Inspector of Public Works Humphreys be authorized to contract for additional teams, wagons and men to gather city garbage was adopted. The resolution gave authority for the additional expenditure of $2282.60 a month in addition to the present contract with the V. D. Reduction Company for $4000 a month, making a total of $6283.60; also to enter into a contract for five additional teams and wagons each year during the life of the contract with the reduction company.

The veto of the Mayor to the ordinance granting to Henry West Hughes permission to build a spur track on St. Elmo street south of Eleventh street was read and a motion adopted to reconsider the ordinance and refer the entire matter to the Board of Public Utilities for further consideration.

Telegraph-Tapping Arraignment.

EARL APPEARS BORED AND VERY NERVOUS.

EDWIN TOBIAS EARL, who was indicted last Friday for having exploited in his cheap newspapers a wireless message intercepted by two boy amateur operators, was arraigned yesterday morning before Judge Bordwell on the wire-tapping charge. Earl's examination date was set for the 22nd inst.

Earl, accompanied by a galaxy of legal talent, including Edwin A. Meserve, T. E. Gibbon, Shirley Ward and James A. and W. H. Anderson, of the firm of Anderson & Anderson, entered Department 9 shortly after 10 o'clock. He took a seat directly in the rear of his counsel and appeared seriously bored by the proceedings.

As soon as Judge Bordwell mounted the bench, Attorney Meserve announced that his client would waive the reading of the indictment.

Deputy District Attorney Horton then read the complaint to Earl. The prisoner stood up at the court's order during the reading, and fumbled the buttons on his coat in a state of apparently great nervousness. Once or twice he caressed his closely-cropped moustache.

At the conclusion of the reading of the complaint, Judge Bordwell proceeded to set a date for the prisoner's examination. Attorney Meserve informed the court that his client would be unable to proceed for at least five days. Associate Counsel Gibbon added that at least ten days would be necessary. The deputy District Attorney announced that he would not be ready to try the case for at least two weeks, owing to the pressure of other legal matters accruing from the grand jury's work. The court then set the 22nd inst.

A crowd was there when Earl was arraigned. Upon leaving, the prisoner did not deign to look at any one, but fixed his gaze on the floor. The offense charged to the newspaper publisher and fully confessed by him, is a felony under the law and punishable by a heavy fine or term in the penitentiary, or both.

MOTHER'S ARMS RECEIVE CHILD.

FIGHTS PETITION IN COURT TO TAKE DAUGHTER AWAY.

Offspring Had Believed Parent to Be Dead—When Order is Made Restoring Her, She Clings Tearfully to Foster Mother and is Separated With Difficulty.

Department One was the setting of a pathetic scene late yesterday afternoon when 9-year-old Louise L. Carney was by court order given into the custody of her mother, Mrs. Elizabeth M. Appel, whom until two weeks ago she believed to be dead.

The child had not seen her mother for four years until the latter came here from Leavenworth, to make a fight to regain her. Louise had been cared for by Mrs. A. Eichkoff, whom she had grown to love.

When Judge McMahon announced that his verdict was in favor of Mrs. Appel, the child and Mrs. Eichkoff clung to each other and it was necessary to tear them apart. Their farewell was pitiful and tearful. Mrs. Appel was divorced from Carl Carney several years ago. A short time later he died, leaving $4000 insurance to the child. The latter was cared for in this city by her uncle, Eugene Carney, who employed Mrs. Eichkoff to watch over her.

Recently Carney filed a petition asking for permission to adopt Louise. Mrs. Carney immediately hastened here to fight for the possession of her child. While she will be permitted to take her daughter home with her, the uncle will remain the guardian of the girl's estate.

BACK TO BENCH.
FORMER JUDGE IN CASE.

Former Judge Hervey, who is now vice-president of the Los Angeles Trust & Savings Bank, will again assume a judicial toga next week. The retired jurist has been drafted back to the bench because there is a new angle to a case which he once heard and because he is an expert on figures, and the litigation demands calculation.

When Hervey was on the bench he heard the suit of George C. Peckham, a wealthy real estate dealer, against Ada Peckham for divorce. He denied the sought-for decree. He allowed Mrs. Peckham $200 a month for separate maintenance.

Peckham recently came into court and demanded a reduction of alimony, averring that his wife was ruining his business by creating disturbances at his office and by annoying his tenants. He asserted that he was unable to meet the demands of the court.

Judge Clarke of Ventura suggested that the matter should be settled before Hervey. The attorneys agreed. The banker at first refused to sit, but was prevailed upon to change his mind. He asked to have the matter continued until next week, as his bank is now moving into its new quarters.

FIGHT OVER ESTATE.
SISTERS IN LAWSUIT.

The fight of two sisters over the estate of their deceased mother, in which one sister is alleged to have used fraud in obtaining a fortune, was brought to trial before Judge Houser yesterday. The plaintiff is Margaret H. Stoermer, administrator of the estate of her mother, Susan Osborne. She is suing Eliza Ann Peck, wife of William Peck.

Mrs. Stoermer alleges that her sister used artifices in getting her mother to transfer to her property valued at $35,000, $10,000 in cash and jewelry, household furniture and other personal property valued at $500. She declares that Mrs. Peck took advantage of the fact that her mother was infirm, aged and afflicted with poor eyesight. She states that in order to defeat a recovery of the property it was transferred to the name of George H. Peck.

She asks the court to compel the conveyance of the property to her as the legal representative of her mother's estate and to declare Mrs. Peck to be a trustee of the $10,000 in cash.

Mrs. Peck denies all allegations of fraud. She avers that her sister knew of the conveyance which her mother made to her in 1906, and that she made no objections whatever at that time.

CONFESSES GUILT.
DEATH FACES SIEGEL.

Notwithstanding the explanation of the court that a plea of guilty to a charge of murder left no alternative than inflicting a life sentence or the death penalty, Joe Siegel yesterday declared his guilt in the murder of J. A. Pressman. He will be sentenced Friday.

Joe Robinson, who was placed on probation a year ago, after having pleaded guilty to a charge of forgery, fell from grace. He was yesterday found guilty of having violated the condition of his parole, and was sentenced to serve five years in San Quentin.

C. H. Minter, formerly assistant chef at the Long Beach Elks' Club, was yesterday sent to Folsom for five years for having passed a forged check. He complained that he was in the habit of becoming intoxicated on pay days and while in this condition he committed the crime. . . . .

John Bryant and Benjamin Herzikopf, who are accused of having stolen money from gas meters at Ocean Park, are seeking liberty through habeas corpus proceedings. They allege that the beach justice, who held them to answer to the Superior Court, had no jurisdiction over the case.

EYE TEETH CUT.
ARMENIAN BRINGS SUIT.

Less than a week after he had made his first investment in America, A. M. Jamgochian, an Armenian capitalist, yesterday sought the aid of the courts to get back the money which he had expended in the hope of realizing a profit.

He is suing the Caruthers Building Company and George C. Caruthers for $2500 which he alleges he gave the defendants on the 2nd ult. to use in purchasing property.

Jamgochian's assertion is that misrepresentations were made to him. He avers he was told that the company had large assets, and found that it was worth only $4000 more than its debts.

His attorneys procured an order from the courts which will restrain the Central National Bank from paying out money it has on deposit for the building concern. There will be a hearing in Department Four next Monday to determine whether the order shall be made permanent.

MERCY SHOWN HIM.
EMBEZZLER ON PROBATION.

Judge Willis yesterday gave Raymond Duncan, a young ticket agent who embezzled from the Pacific Electric, a chance to make good. He placed him on probation for three years. One of the conditions of his parole is that he shall deposit ten per cent. of his earnings in the bank.

Duncan was employed at San Pedro. On the night of July 4 he disappeared with $380 of the company's money in his possession. He quickly dissipated this sum and a short time later gave himself up to the police in Chicago. He pleaded guilty and asked for an opportunity to reform. The company consented to give him back his old place, and the judge considered that it was worth while to endeavor to make a man out of him without branding him a felon.

TECHNICAL POINT.
BOOKS ARE INVOLVED.

Whether the Sheriff can exhibit to a plaintiff books which he has taken on a writ of attachment is a question which soon will be tried out in the Superior Court. The question arose in the suit of C. S. Anderson against the American Finance and Realty Company for compensation for a bill of lumber furnished the defendant by the National Lumber Company.

The plaintiff caused the Sheriff to attach the books of the defendant. The realty company yesterday procured an order from Judge Willis restraining the officer from permitting the plaintiff to see the books. Whether it is proper to continue the order permanently will be determined next week when a hearing will be held.

ON DECK AGAIN.
PSYCHIST IN COURT.

Dr. William R. Price, formerly head of the Temple of Psychology of Long Beach, who has figured in much litigation, both criminal and civil, was again on the rack yesterday.

Dr. Mary J. Helm obtained judgment against him several months ago aggregating $1600. When she went to collect them she found that he had no property in his name.

She now alleges that to escape paying, he transferred 245 shares in the temple to Dr. A. J. Holt, a Baptist minister of Oklahoma City, and that he put his real estate in his wife's name. Judge Craig is taking the testimony, and will probably render a decision today.

COURT VISITING.
VIEWS LUMBER PLANT.

Judge Finlayson yesterday visited the plant of the Montgomery-Mullin Lumber Company in Garvanza, which the city is seeking to put out of business with an ordinance providing that the property on which it is situated is in the residence district.

After taking some evidence, he decided that he did not care to pass on the validity of the ordinance until he had expert testimony. He ordered Chief of the Fire Department Eley to visit the premises today, and to make a report on them.

CHASING PHANTOM.
WEARY WIFE FREE.

Because Elmer W. Grove continually pursued phantom riches which he believed were buried in mother earth while he left his wife to shift for herself, Mrs. Alice T. Grove yesterday procured a divorce from him.

She told Judge Conley that he continually talked of the untold millions which he was sure he could find, and that he assured her he would not take a chance on missing the riches by trying to earn money through plebeian labors.

Mrs. Grove said that she had made her own way by nursing for ten years of their married life, and that she was tired of having a husband tied to her who would not support her.

Grants Her Divorce.

An extraordinary combination of circumstances yesterday provided sufficient evidence to warrant Judge Conley in granting a decree of divorce to Jeanette Whitman Mooney, daughter of the late Benjamin Whitman, a capitalist. The plaintiff's husband, James W. Mooney, formerly a broker, was adjudged insane in 1906 and sent to an asylum. He was later paroled in the custody of his father. Mrs. Mooney complained that her husband has never provided for her, neither before his mental trouble nor since. It was on this ground that she was given her liberty.

Contest Over Will.

Nephews and nieces of the late Mrs. Sarah H. Muckridge Mitchell are seeking to set aside her will in which she cut them off with $1 each, gave her husband the rentals from two houses and willed the remainder of her $8200 estate to her step-daughter, Mrs. Mary Isabella Taylor of No. 2110 South Los Angeles street. Mrs. Taylor had the will in her possession and offered it for probate shortly after her step-mother's death. The blood relatives declare that she used undue influence in getting the will drawn in her favor. They also assert that the instrument was changed after it was executed. Mrs. Taylor denies the allegations.

COURTHOUSE NOTES.
BREVITIES MISCELLANEOUS.

COLLECTS INSURANCE. A jury in Judge Finch's court yesterday gave a verdict for $15,000 with interest in favor of Rachel C. McEwen and against the New York Life Insurance Company. Charles D. McEwen took out a policy in favor of the plaintiff a short time before he was found dead. The company sought to prove that he acted fraudulently in stating the condition of his health.

SAYS HE IS RASH. R. B. Curl yesterday filed a complaint asking for the annulment of his mariage to Jewel Willis, which took place at Santa Ana on July 25 of last year. He avers he was only 18 years old at the time and that he did not realize the seriousness of the contract.

BACK TO MOTHER. Judge Wilbur yesterday ordered that Lillian Harrison, who got into trouble by running away from home, should be returned to her mother, Mrs. C. A. Goble, No. 747 Gladys avenue, to remain in her charge until she is of age.

COLLISION SUIT. The suit of George M. Chenoweth for $5000 damages against the Pacific Electric and the Salt Lake railroads was brought to trial before Judge Crow yesterday. The plaintiff was injured when cars on the two roads collided.

DOUBLE LIFE. Mrs. Nellie Winston was yesterday granted a divorce from Lydda Winston. She said the latter told her he was a real estate man when they were married, but turned out to be a gambler. She alleged that he deserted her.

INCORPORATIONS. Articles of incorporation were filed yesterday by The Monogram Buckle and Manufacturing Company, directors, W. M. Wyatt, G. W. Cartright, W. W. Welch, J. R. Baird and W. H. Young; capital stock, $200,000; subscribed, $5000; The Royal Securities Corporation, directors, J. A. S. Spurlong, F. W. Haynes, H. E. Reach, capital stock, $75,000, fully subscribed; Mathews Manufacturing Company, directors, E. T. Ponder, C. T. Brant and A. Mathews, capital stock, $30,000, subscribed, $30; Blanchard Hardware Company, directors, E. L. Blanchard, Luella Blanchard, Blanche Blanchard and Jennette Blanchard, capital stock, $25,000, subscribed, $4000.

States Commissioners Van Dyke and Williams after an agreement between counsel. The hearing is for the purpose of airing the arguments of both sides for and against the men being taken to Mexico for trial.

It was asserted yesterday that the Mexican government is sparing no expense to have the accused taken back to that country. Its emissaries have been busily engaged on the case for several weeks here, delving into the past of the prisoners.

Many witnesses have been summoned from Mexico to testify as to the military status of the trio they claim slew and pillaged during the revolution. They will appear when the case is called before the commissioners.

FINE IS LARGE FOR OVERTIME.

HALF AN HOUR EXCESS COSTS FIFTY DOLLARS.

Light Work for Stenographers Gives Them Liberal Leisure; Press of Business Makes Extra Service Imperative; Employer Arrested and Punished.

Though the stenographers in his employ have very light work and are frequently allowed a portion of a working day to themselves, R. H. Arnold, proprietor of the Alta Planing Mills, was fined $50 by Police Judge Frederickson yesterday, for having kept the young women a half hour overtime on July 26.

There was no dispute as to the facts when the case was called in Police Court yesterday. Arnold said he had kept the girls a half hour overtime and would plead guilty.

"The law makes suckers of us, that's all," Arnold said. "As a rule the girls have very little to do and they have lots of time to themselves. It happened that on that day I had an exceptionally large amount of business to handle and the girls stayed a half hour longer than they are supposed to in order to help me out.

"I didn't think it would amount to anything, especially since the firm always treats the girls nicely and lets them off when there is not much to do, but I found I was mistaken when a warrant was served on me."

Reporter After Them.

S. Nakao and T. Sakai, who are charged by T. Yamamoto, a reporter on a local Japanese daily, with having assaulted him because they believed he was the author of an article printed in the Jap paper and said to reflect upon their character, were arraigned in Police Court before Police Judge Williams yesterday and held for a preliminary examination Friday afternoon. Bail was set at $1500. Being unable to furnish that amount they were sent back to jail.

Trio Held.

Mabel Meyers, the woman broncho buster, Charles Ross and J. H. Dawson, who were arrested July 30 on a charge of having attempted to pass an express money order, which the police say was stolen from an envelope, were held to answer to the Superior Court by Police Judge Williams yesterday.

He Was Thirsty.

M. Marcias, a Mexican, was given a sentence of sixty days in jail yesterday for stealing half a demijohn of whisky in the saloon at Ord and North Broadway, yesterday morning. Marcias said he was so thirsty he couldn't help it.

Police Court Brevities.

Chuck Kee, a Chinese, was fined $100 yesterday for having opium in his possession. He had the money and was released.

C. E. Lutz, who was arrested April 26 on the charge of having practiced dentistry without a license, did not appear in Police Court yesterday when his case was called for trial. His bail of $100 was forfeited.

W. Johnson and O. Johnson were fined $5 each yesterday by Police Judge Williams for having removed sand from the river bed too close to the levee. The men are teamsters.

DEFENDS ALLEGED SLAVER.

Attorney for Man Accused of Having Harbored Woman for Immoral Purposes, Attacks Statutes.

Attacking the statutes as unconstitutional in certain respects, as applied to white slavery, former Judge Mancha Bruggemeyer of Chicago, defending Jacob Finklestein, charged with having harbored Dora Beckerman in this city for immoral purposes, occupied a greater part of yesterday's session of the United States District Court with his argument. It is expected that the case will be disposed of this morning.

The principal contention of Attorney Bruggemeyer was that the United States has full power to act in the case of an alien woman brought here for immoral purposes, but that in a case where the woman entered the country of her own accord, the Congressional statutes fall short of providing for her conduct and custody thereafter.

He laid stress on a contention that in the case of a man from foreign soil the situation is different, but requested that a precedent be shown where the law applied under the conditions involving a woman as he had recited them.

First-Hand Evidence.

STRONG STATE WITNESS HERE.

COMES FROM CHICAGO ON THE M'NAMARA CASE.

Sergt. Reed, at Whose Home McManigal Confessed the Dynamite Conspiracy and Jobs, and Who Aided in Making the Arrests, Arrives—Labor Union Money Slow.

Detective Sergeant Reed of the Chicago Police Department arrived in the city last night. He is one of the most valuable witnesses for the State in the McNamara case, having aided in the arrest of Ortie E. McManigal and J. B. McNamara.

It was at Reed's home in Chicago that McManigal and J. B. McNamara were confined when the former confessed the details of the dynamite plot. Reed accompanied the prisoners when they were arraigned in Chicago and placed on a train for Los Angeles.

Detective Burns and Capt. Fredericks depend much on Reed's testimony in proving the guilt of the McNamaras. Reed was present at the time that J. B. McNamara made such damaging admissions concerning the nefarious dynamite plot concocted by his brother and other labor-union higher-ups. It could not be learned last night whether Reed is bringing exhibits for the McNamara case. He was accompanied on the trip by a Burns operative.

Rumors of the arrest and extradition of Caplan and Schmidt, alleged co-partners of J. B. McNamara in the destruction of the Times Building, gained credence yesterday when it became known that Detective Burns had made a lengthy call on United States District Attorney McCormick.

It was believed that Burns had called upon McCormick for the purpose of arranging the preliminaries attending the issuing of extradition papers for the men. Sometime later Burns stated that his business in the Federal building consisted only of calling on an old friend at present attached to the local branch of the secret service.

Detective Burns and his aides were much in evidence about the District Attorney's office yesterday. "In conference with Dist.-Atty. Fredericks," was Burns's explanation.

It has become known that the labor-union lawyers are short of money. According to authoritative information less than $35,000 has been received to date by the local union higher-ups to finance the fight for the McNamaras. Urgent appeals for more coin have been sent to every labor organization in the country. Requests have also been sent to England and the Antipodes. Many promises have been received, but to date very little cash has arrived, it appears.

The labor-union lawyers are financing their fight for the McNamaras on a large scale. Checks have been written freely. Expensive furnishings have been installed in the labor-union site in the Higgins building. A large number of clerks and a still larger number of detectives have been employed in an effort to break down the State's evidence. These detectives are going to any length. Their principal work at present is to obtain, by any means possible, fair or foul, statements from employees of The Times or others, that they smelled gas in the Times Building on the night before the explosion.

All this costs money, and, according to inside information, but a small part of the large amount promised by Gompers and other union bosses has come to hand.

TAXES TIE-WALKERS?

Charge Made by Ranchmen Against Deputy Constable of Newhall, Which Grand Jury is Investigating.

This morning the grand jury is expected to conclude its investigation of the charges of graft filed last week with the District Attorney's office against Deputy Constable Palmer of Newhall.

Palmer, according to J. D. Hart, a Newhall ranchman, forced five Mexican laborers who were stealing a ride to Los Angeles on a freight train, to pay him a sum of money. According to Hart they paid under threat of arrest. Palmer, aside from his duties as deputy Constable, is also a special officer employed by the Southern Pacific.

The grand jury heard part of the evidence against Palmer last week. He denies that he received the money. Hart and other men in the vicinity of Newhall maintain that Hart has been holding up tramps and laborers who steal freight car rides.

HELD UNDER BONDS.

Fanny Briggs Carr, charged with assaulting her former spouse, M. Adrian King, with a rock and with trying in divers other ways to do him bodily harm, was held in $1500 bonds by Justice Reeve yesterday. She will be given a hearing on the 22nd inst. Before Justice Forbes, Victorio Castillo, charged with having participated in the attack on the ex-husband with a gun, was required to furnish $1500 bond. His preliminary hearing will take place this morning.

LOSES HIS INVESTMENT.

State Supreme Court Hands Down Opinion Involving Property Sold at Delinquent Tax Sale in Pasadena.

In the State Supreme Court yesterday Justice Shaw rendered an opinion depriving J. H. Smith of a building lot in Pasadena which he purchased at a delinquent tax sale, because the Tax Collector failed to notify the owner by mail that the assessment for which it was sold was due.

The case, in which Ida B. Furlong was defendant, had previously been argued in Department No. 1. Smith was granted a rehearing before court in bank, with the result that the original judgment was affirmed. It was shown by the defendant that no notification had been received by her of the proposed sale, and the court ruled that the plaintiff's title was invalid, giving the defendant opportunity to redeem title to the property.

BACK TO CHINA.

Deputy United States Marshal Durline, left yesterday morning for San Francisco with sixteen Chinamen, who had been smuggled into the country. They will be placed aboard a steamer and returned to China.

If you knew of the real value of Chamberlain's Liniment for lame back, soreness of the muscles, sprains and rheumatic pains, you would never wish to be without it. For sale by all dealers.—[Adv.

WILL WOMEN APPLY?

Vic Berger, the socialist Congressman, has introduced an old-age pension bill to give every man and woman over 60 years of age $4 a week from the national treasury. There are no women over 60 years of age, but there are enough men who are 60-yearlings to make the Federal treasury look as if an elephant had waltzed all over it.

EVOLUTION OF A PATRIOT.

Wickersham, the Alaskan Delegate to Congress, who is after his namesake, the Attorney-General at Washington, offered his services to the Guggenheims for $15,000 per annum and the maintenance of an office at Seattle. When they declined his offer without thanks he immediately became a roaring patriot and went for the "Gugs" savagely. The next time those malefactor millionaires have a chance to take in a high-browed statesman for $1250 a month and office rent they will probably avail themselves of the opportunity.

A CRUEL WAR.

The one cruel fact about the recent war of words between Germany and England is that it recalled the Kaiser from the waters off the north coast of Norway, where he was happily cruising. It is certainly a case for the humane officers of the Fatherland when the Norway holiday of any respectable German citizen is interrupted at this season of the year. The early autumn beauty of the Northland is beyond compare, but His Majesty at least has the consolation of not having to go home in the dark, as there is now only thirty minutes of night in that part of the world.

SAVE THE MARK!

The Reverend (!) John Haynes Holmes of the Church of the Messiah in New York City deserves to be kicked to death by lame grasshoppers. In a recent sermon he said that if Christ were now on earth he would see to it that everything he used bore the union label. The Savior was not unacquainted with that label. Judas wore it and it was pasted on the breeches of the impenitent thief. If the doctrine of transmigration of souls be true, Holmes is undoubtedly the lineal descendant of the animal belonging to Balaam. Concerning the destruction of The Times Holmes says that he has not one ounce of regret. There's a follower of the meek and lowly for you.

THE FIRST AVIATOR.

Humanity thinks it is mighty smart when it takes a little handful of its dreamers up among the clouds. Truly the sky is a fit goal for believers and the little aeroplanes which carried them upward are subjects of great marvel, but there is a tiny gentleman aviator who still has something the best of humanity. This navigator of three domains is the water fly, who, when first born, is at the bottom of a lake or a pool, and who builds for himself a bubble of which he occupies the center. The bubble is lighter than water and floats gently to the surface, where it breaks and the baby fly, who is only a few minutes old, proceeds to step mincingly upon the crest of some wave before taking his initial flight.

SIDE LIGHTS.

More droll incidents happen daily on every street corner than any burlesque stage presents. Mostly folks are too busy with their own affairs to enter the spirit of what is happening around them. At Fifth and Hill streets Monday afternoon at 2 o'clock a physician and a client had some words about the doctor's service and his bill. In high anger the doctor took the patient's $5 gold coin and threw it across the street so that it rolled in a gutter in front of the park. The patient, who must have had some Irish in him, darted between automobiles to rescue the coin. Returning to where the doctor stood, he shouted: "I've got my money now and, if you didn't have your glasses on, I'd knock them down your throat."

CALIFORNIA'S ASTERS.

A few years ago when an author wanted to be extremely bizarre he named a book "The Green Carnation" or "A Yellow Aster." It happens to be a woman who wrote "A Yellow Aster," but the sex of authors who get that far along is of no great public concern. California at this season leaves no room for the most daring imagination in point of floral wonders. It happens right now that the asters are in their glory. So gorgeous is their array that it is difficult to believe that the asters have not become chrysanthemums. The evolution of the dahlia in California has reached the same rare advance. Between these three great flowers and the wonder of the ruby lily the Los Angeles florists are never at a loss in autumn for show-windows of kaleidoscopic beauty.

"A SMILE"—WHAT IS IT?

An essayist in a Louisville (Ky.) journal insists that the true secret of life is to "start the day with a smile." Whether he means "a peculiar contortion of the features of the face which express moderate joy" or advises a pre-breakfast assimilation of the posterior plumage of a domestic fowl composed of the wine of Kentucky is not entirely clear. But it is surmised that he means a dry smile, for he insists that the editor of the paper to whom he sent his communication ought to cut out from his columns all news of suicides, murders, elopements, burglaries, bank defalcations and any other information not calculated to provide a smile of joy. Such a journal might succeed in some center of virtue such as Kyrene, Ariz., but it would surely come to financial grief almost anywhere in California.

TRYING TO EMBARRASS TAFT.

Both Democrats and insurgents have for a year and more demanded in party conventions, in newspaper organs and in the public utterances of their leaders and orators that there shall be a scientific revision of the tariff based upon the difference in the cost of producing an article in this country and the cost of producing a similar article abroad.

A board of tariff experts appointed to make examination will report to Congress in December their recommendation of such changes in the tariff laws as will fit them to the "cost-of-production" standard. They will accompany such recommendations with a full statement of the facts they have ascertained and upon the basis of which they submit a tariff law. The recommendations of the Tariff Commission will, of course, be advisory only, and Congress can disregard them in whole or in part. But it may be assumed that Congress will be largely, if not entirely, governed in its tariff legislation by the reports of the Tariff Commission.

In making investigation of the woolen schedule, for instance, the Tariff Commission will have before it two woolen garments of equal weight, fineness and finish, one made in Manchester, England, the other made in Manchester, New Hampshire. It will trace the history of each garment back to the sheep from which the wool that composes it was clipped. The wages of sheep herders in the Argentine Republic and of sheep herders in America will be considered and compared. The freight cost of transporting the raw wool from Buenos Ayres to Manchester and of transporting raw wool from Reno or from Ohio to Boston will meet with like consideration and comparison. The wages paid to woolen spinners and garment makers in the two countries will be closely investigated, and every element that enters into the cost of producing the garment will be ascertained.

Suppose that, as a result of such investigation, it is demonstrated that the actual cost of the foreign-made shirt laid down in New York City is 60 cents, while the actual cost of the American-made shirt in the same place is 90 cents.

The Tariff Commission would then necessarily recommend a duty of 30 cents on the imported article. If Congress should, under "tariff-for-revenue-only" inspiration, place a duty of but 15 cents on the garment, the result would inevitably be either the closing of the woolen mills or a reduction in the wages of those employed in the mills, and the use of South American or Australian wool in the factories, instead of California, and Oregon, and Nevada, and Utah wool.

After providing for investigation and report of a commission, Congress suddenly determined to act without awaiting the action of the commission. Senators and Representatives have been for weeks rushing in, helter skelter, with tariff speeches delivered to empty seats and afterwards entombed in the Congressional Record.

Any tariff revision bill that shall be enacted during the present special session of Congress will be necessarily the result of guess work. The avowed object of the Democrats in passing such a bill is to put President Taft "in a hole;" the idea being that if he signs it he will alienate the support of the manufacturing interests, and if he vetoes it he will lose support among the farmers.

But President Taft will not be impaled upon either horn of such an artificially-created dilemma. If he vetoes the bill it will probably be upon the sole ground that any legislation enacted in advance of a report from the Tariff Commission would be premature and inconsiderate.

If he should sign the bill it would probably be accompanied by a message stating that the measure was experimental and tentative and might need to be changed after the report of the Tariff Commission shall be received.

RECALLING A JUDGE.

Proceedings are pending to recall a judge in Oregon. His offense is stated in the petition for his recall in the following language:

"That said John S. Coke, Circuit Judge, in the month of May, 1911, while holding Circuit Court in and for Douglas county, State of Oregon, and presiding over the case of the State of Oregon vs. Roy McClellan, charged with murder, demonstrated his gross incompetency and unfairness by giving to the jury in said case, at the instance and request of the defendant's attorneys, unfair and erroneous instructions as to the law, intended to bias the jury in favor of the defendant and secure an acquittal and did so bias the jury and cause an acquittal; while at the same time he (said John Coke) failed and refused to give the jury fair and legal instructions which were asked by the prosecution. All of which contributed to and brought about the defeat of the ends of justice."

At the special election the Oregon voters will be summoned from their several vocations to determine whether Judge Coke, in his instructions to the jury, stated the law correctly. If the defendant had been convicted he could have appealed to the Supreme Court, where the judicial action of the lower tribunal would have been reviewed. There is no provision in Oregon for an appeal to the Supreme Court from a judgment of acquittal, and the only appeal that can be taken from such judgment is to the voters by means of the recall.

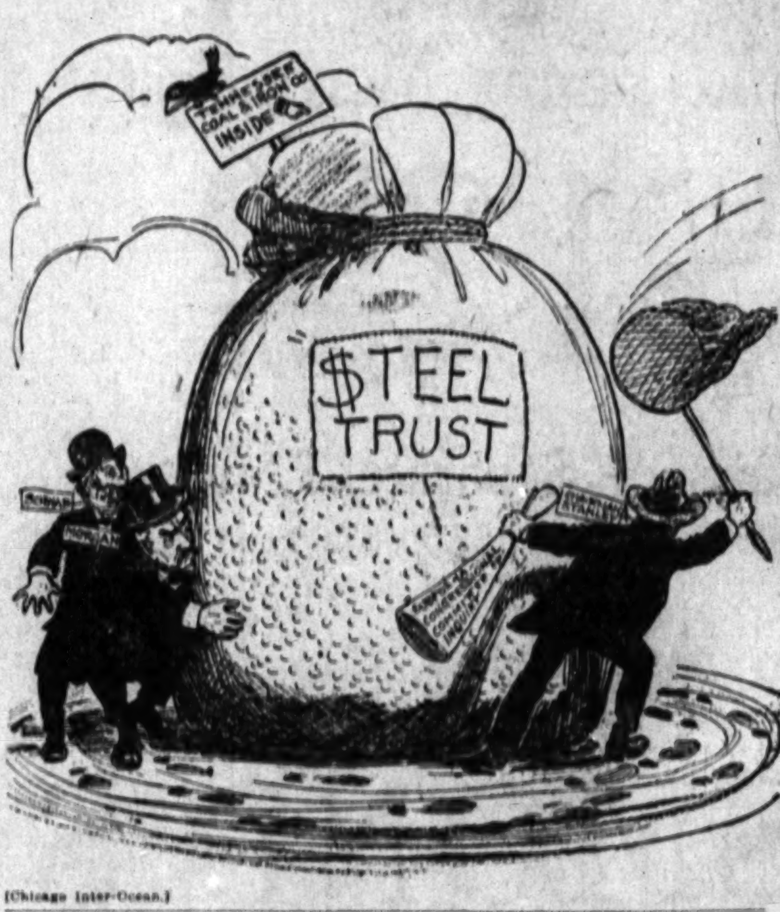
It is noticeable that Judge Coke is not charged with corruption, or inebriety, or other offense involving moral turpitude. The only accusation against him is that he did not state the law correctly in giving instructions asked by the attorney for the defendant and in refusing instructions asked by the attorney for the prosecution. The provision of law to the effect that the jury are exclusive judges of the fact and the court is the exclusive judge of the law is disregarded by the recall, which makes the voters judges of the law.

In voting on the proposition to recall Judge Coke those who vote to retain him will vote that his instructions correctly stated the law. Those who vote to remove him will vote that his instructions were not law. The personality of the judge seems to have nothing to do with the contest. It is a question of law that is submitted for decision to thousands of voters who never looked into a law book and who are about as fit to pass upon the issue involved as a jury of locomotive engineers would be to decide upon the proper method of tanning leather or a jury of tanners would be to pass upon the qualifications of locomotive engineers.

The special election will cost the voters a considerable sum of money, and its result will be watched with interest throughout the country.

Already there are many advocates in Oregon of the policy of recalling the recall itself out of the Constitution. A few object lessons similar to that presented by the proposition to recall Judge Coke may be of service to a people who appear now to have degenerated into a community of dreamers and cranks.

The Merry-Go-Round.



[Chicago Inter-Ocean.]

A NEED FOR THOROUGHNESS.

The discovery that almost $1,000,000 of the money so willingly voted by Los Angeles county for building good roads has been largely wasted will produce a disagreeable sensation among our progressive and liberal-handed people. Chief Engineer Joyner informs us that out of 131 miles of new roadway completed during the past three years, less than forty miles have been properly constructed. Hundreds of thousands of dollars will be necessary to eliminate the defects in these supposedly scientifically-built thoroughfares. We may locate the cause of the blunders and prevent a repetition of the mistakes, but the time and money wasted are gone beyond recall.

Engineer Loder declares that much of the work was experimental; but was it necessary to experiment? Good roads in Europe are no new thing, some of them have lasted for 100 years, the science of roadbuilding is as old as the Chinese Empire. American automobilists are unanimous in their praises of the magnificent highways of Great Britain and France. What the roadbuilders could accomplish in the Old World we, in California, could certainly perform with equal proficiency.

A lack of thoroughness sometimes mars the otherwise matchless achievements, observable everywhere throughout the great Southwest. Men who are not entirely fitted for the task are occasionally put in charge of essentially scientific work. Men who are practically green hands are sometimes engaged where good artisans or mechanics only should have been employed. Often the desire to get maximum results in minimum time causes efficiency to be sacrificed to making a record. We need work good enough not only for today, but for tomorrow and the day after. We can get it if we are determined to do so.

A great deal of our farming is done on the get-there-quick instead of on the get-there-right system. It speaks volumes for the productiveness of our lands that they respond so abundantly, in spite of shallow plowing, absence of summer fallowing, no rotation of crops and neglect to fertilize. Farmers who boast loudly of the short time in which they can get a crop planted seldom have to complain of the length of time taken in harvesting it. We let our rivers, every winter, wash away the same bridges in the same places. We replace them with similar structures in the old location, ready to be washed away again at the next flood. The bridge over the San Gabriel at El Monte is a case in point. So in five or six years we have spent enough money to have built a reinforced concrete bridge, "a thing of beauty and a joy for ever," instead of some ugly wooden trestles, doomed to annual destruction. This is not because we grudge the spending of money on public improvements. We don't. We are generous to a fault. It all springs from a lack of thoroughness.

THE DEVIL.

One day a southern woman who had nothing better to do wrote a book which she called the beautiful hand of the devil. She did not make much reputation and she got no money at all from the book because the story did not live up to the title. A person named Zephine Humphrey has written a brief article called "A Portrait of the Devil," which deserves much better luck than to be printed in the Outlook. The picture makes him a tall, still, sad angel, who stands in a market-place surrounded by restless, unhappy people, who know they are doing wrong when they cheat their fellows. The angel stands among the worldlings with hopeless horror in his face.

He is past brooding over the woes of the world. He is frozen with despair. Besides the group of persons consciously sinning and those unconscious of wrongs they did, the angel was surrounded by other groups, one composed of persons unaware of his existence and the other made up of those who had met and conquered him. This picture of the devil seems to be a very apt picture of life. It is perhaps rather the devil's misfortune than his fault that he finds himself compelled to put up with any of us.

UNCLE WALT

The Poet Philosopher.

It is really rather funny how the man who's burning money finds a legion of admirers any place that he may stray. Everything he says is witty; all the johnnies in the city gather round him to adore him while there's wealth to throw away. When he grows exceeding frisky in the gilded home of whisky, e'en the barkeeps make confession that he has a wealth of charms; and the peelers, evidently, love him, for they treat him gently, when his feet become entangled and he falls into their arms. O, the world is soft and tender to the lavish money spender and he thinks that people love him for his merits and his face; but when all his wealth is melted, he is hustled, he is pelted, and the barkeeps calmly kick him from the portals of their place. And the people who were smirking when his money he was jerking, call him names that hurt his feelings when he seeks a helping hand; and the haughty cops surround him, draw their little clubs and pound him, load him in the hurry wagon, and he's fined to beat the band. All the friends you gain by blowing money where the booze is flowing are not worth a cent a dozen—they're not worth the half of that; they will shake you when you're busted and will turn away disgusted when, to buy a little fodder, you attempt to pass the hat.

WALT MASON.

[Copyright, 1911 by George Matthew Adams.]

THE ROOSEVELT HERRING.

[Current Literature:] The New York Press does not think that either Mr. Gary or Mr. Roosevelt can have the faintest idea that their latest programme ever will be seriously considered by Congress or countenanced by the courts. It thinks the recent court decisions have greatly strengthened the Sherman act and make it "one of the finest laws on all our statute books." It is feared now as never before, especially the criminal section, and it is probable that Mr. Roosevelt and Mr. Gary are simply "trying to draw a herring across the trail" to keep the public eye off that section—probably the most hostile utterance the Press has ever made in reference to Mr. Roosevelt. The New York World notes that Chauncey M. Depew is also a convert to government control of great corporations. He is, it remarks, "following in the footsteps of Judge Gary who followed in the footsteps of John D. Rockefeller, who followed in the footsteps of Theodore Roosevelt, who followed in the footsteps of William J. Bryan." Wall street, we are warned, can organize to control politics as easily as it can organize to control prices. The New York Tribune thinks that the recent Supreme Court decisions will unquestionably incline the great business interests to look toward some degree of Federal regulation as a means of escape from present uncertainties. There will be, however, a disposition to wait until the reorganization of the Standard Oil and tobacco trust is effected. "If the result shows that doing business under centralized control is beset with legal difficulties, if not virtually impossible, doubtless great pressure will be exerted on Congress by the business interests to pass a Federal incorporation bill along the lines of the bill recommended by President Taft."

GEMS FROM CARLYLE.

When one has opinions that are currency I let them circulate

Jesting Pilate asked: What is Truth? He could not have known it had a god shown it to him. The inner retina of those smiling eyes of his were gone paralytic. He looked at Truth, and discerned her not, there where she stood.

A fair day's wages for a fair day's work is the everlasting right of man.

Such a platitude of a world, in which all working horses can be well fed, and innumerable working men die starved!

Let us return to nature, and her veracities and integrities.

Brothers, I am sorry I have got no Morrison's pill for curing the maladies of society.

Given a world of knaves, how can we produce honesty from their united action?

Quacks and dupes are upper and under side of the same substance; convertible personages; turn up your dupe into the proper fostering element and he can himself become a quack.

No man speaks plain to me. Every man feels bound to be something more than plain; to be pungent withal, witty, ornamental. His poor fraction of sense has to be perked into some epigrammatic shape, that it may prick into me. Such grinning inanity is very sad to the soul of man.

All work is noble; work is alone noble. And, in like manner, too, all dignity is painful.

[Matthew Arnold:] Is not the close and bounded intellectual horizon within which we have long lived and moved now lifting up and are not new lights finding free passage to shine in upon us?

THE "WE-US" PARTY.

Platform of Newest Political Organization.

[By Wireless Telephone.]

The progressive progress of progressiveness imperatively demands the formation of a new political party, the inspiration of whose purpose may be found in the prayer of a Connecticut divine—"God bless me and my wife, my son John and his wife, us four and no more. Amen."

An expert on platform and resolutions suggests the following as the creed of such an organization:

WHEREAS it is the duty of a man to prefer his own country to a foreign country, his own prosperity to his neighbor's prosperity and his own wife to another man's wife—almost always, and

WHEREAS the true philosophy of the higher life is contained in the proverb, "Me to the front and the devil take the hindmost," therefore be it

RESOLVED, That we are in favor of a high protective tariff on all articles that we produce and do not consume, and no tariff at all on articles that we consume and that our fellow-citizens produce.

RESOLVED, That the agreement of two farmers not to sell the potatoes which they raise under 90 cents a bushel is an outrage upon us who desire to eat potatoes; is a contract in restraint of trade; is a low-down, measly, grasping combination which should consign those who made it to a Federal bastile.

RESOLVED, That telephone rates should be regulated by us who are in the telephone business, and the public should pay whatever charges we see fit to make.

RESOLVED, That our political friends who have things to sell should be enabled to assess the public the highest prices possible for the same—"all the traffic will bear."

RESOLVED, That the prices of gas, water, light and transportation should be fixed by us who use them, and not by the other fellows who have established these public utilities and put their money into them without giving us a chance to get in on the ground floor, from which point of vantage we might cinch the public.

RESOLVED, That the public interests—that is our interests—imperatively demand that fine-tooth combs which we manufacture should be protected by a high tariff, so that the other fellows who need fine-tooth combs in order to deforest their heads of undesirable insects will be compelled to contribute to our financial resources.

RESOLVED, That a newspaper which advocates a tariff on woolen blankets and cotton sheets (which we do not manufacture) is a slave of the trusts and "pro-vice."

RESOLVED, That laws are made to be obeyed by the other fellows, and not by the millionaires who belong to our set.

RESOLVED, That we are statesmen and scholars, and the other fellows, who are neither, have no rights that we are called upon to respect.

RESOLVED, That larceny is not an offense, but a lofty devotion to the public weal, when we commit it.

RESOLVED, That we should be permitted to help ourselves to the goods and chattels of our neighbors whenever we need them in our business, inasmuch as we are working for the public good.

RESOLVED, That any person who objects to our stealing his property in the night time is a "tool of the Southern Pacific Railroad and its allied villainies."

RESOLVED, That telegraph-tapping is promotion of the public morals, and not a felony—when we do it.

RESOLVED, That to the maintenance of these high-browed principles we pledge our lives, the fortunes that we expect to build up by them, our starboard pedoneums and our unlimited capacity to lie.

RESOLVED, That we are virtuous persons who favor good government, civic reform and a square deal—and the other fellows are the slaves of special privilege, private interests, predatory wealth and hogging games.

RESOLVED, That Tricky Tobe, the telegraph-tapper, be, and he hereby is, elected as president, secretary, sole director and general manager of this organization.

STREAKS OF WIT.

From Her Standpoint.

[Harper's Bazar:] Miss Budd: What do you think of the coming man?

Miss Spinster: I think he must have met with an accident.

Exception to the Rule.

[Judge:] First Thermometer: I sympathize with the rich.

Second Thermometer: Yes, we get swore at when we climb to the top.

Self-Evident Fact.

[Housekeeper:] "You, there, in the overalls!" shouted the cross-examining lawyer, "how much are you paid for telling untruths?"

"Less than you are," retorted the witness, "or you'd be in overalls, too."

Broke the Engagement.

[Boston Transcript:] She: I'm afraid Tom, dear, you will find me a mine of faults.

He: Darling, it shall be the sweetest labor of my life to correct them.

She (flaring up:) Indeed, you shan't!

Different Standpoints.

[Chicago Tribune:] "Life isn't worth living," sighed the sad-featured man.

"I quite agree with you," said the solemn-looking stranger.

"Ah, then you, too, are a pessimist," said the sad-featured man.

"No; I'm an undertaker," replied he of the solemn visage.

Origin of Name.

[Presbyterian Standard:] "Why do they call these dentists' offices dental parlors?" asked Smith of his friend.

"Why, parlor is the old-fashioned name for drawing-room."

Made Her Tired.

[Puck:] The young man who had traveled began: "And there I stood with the abyss yawning at my feet."

"Was it yawning before you got there, or did it begin to after you arrived?" asked the young woman who has never been away, and then the young man found that he had just time to catch the last car.

Heartrending Dream.

[Toledo Blade:] "Jimmy? What on earth are you crying about now?"

"Tommy Jones dreamed last night that he had a whole pie to eat an' I didn't."

Knows a Good Thing.

[Washington Star:] "So you don't care much for life in a large city?"

"No," replied Farmer Corntossel. "The population of a large city is composed too largely of folks that went there with money an' had to stay there 'cause they was broke."

ture acts, three interesting first run pictures ,and fine orchestral music.

The Bowen Brothers, eccentric comedians, have an offering which is different from anything that has been seen on the Hyman stage heretofore. They do a singing and talking act unique in its conception. Every minute they are on the stage they keep up rapid fire comedy. They close their act with a clever dancing number, which wins them liberal applause.

The Oliver duo, Italian street singers, with sweet voices, give splendid interpretation to their songs. Their selections are well chosen, which, with their gorgeous costumes, make them highly acceptable.

Howard de Courcey in his original songs and sayings, seems a clever young man.

Laybourn and Tolles, "Military Rubes," put on a singing and dancing act interspersed with baton juggling.

Three first run pictures hardly before equalled for brilliant acting and splendid photography, are being shown, while the Hyman orchestra lives up to its reputation of being one of the best vaudeville musical organizations on the Coast.

N. C. Wagner is in town evangelizing for "Baby Mine." Mr. Wagner's worth as an advance agent is open to doubt, however, as he wears two diamonds and has real printed cards. Nobody but Henri Gressit is allowed to do this.

Harry Porter, one-time actor, but now reformed, is visiting in Los Angeles. Mr. Porter makes his home in Indianapolis.

Alias note: The Egan actor-preparing institution, on top of the Hamburger Majestic building, has two doors of entrance. On both of these a past regime has inscribed the name of Oliver Morosco, as president. The letter ring remains, but vandals have been after it.

On one door there is this name:
O. Iver Morosco.
On the other:
Liver Morosco.

Thais Magrane will next be seen at the Belasco in the role she created in Porter Emerson Browne's "The Spendthrift." This will, no doubt, prove an interesting announcement to playgoers who remember her acting in "The Spendthrift" when it received its premier production at the Belasco a little over two years ago.

It was her work in this role that attracted the attention of Frederic Thompson.

"Kindling" continues to crowd the Burbank Theater, and from present indications it looks very much as though this Charles Kenyon play would continue another week.

Billy Van, minstrel man, whose name has appeared prominently on the bill at various intervals during the last twenty years, and who is this week the principal feature of the Sullivan and Considine bill at the Empress Theater, has just handed out another speech about retiring from the stage, which will probably be just as seriously taken as have those of Sarah Bernhardt and other celebrities who make their retirement an annual event.

Van, however, declares that this will positively be the last tour he will make through this country and that when his present contract expires he will be done with the stage.

BE INDEPENDENT.

Many people have forsaken the grind and drudgery of the noisy city and are now making a modest, but independent living on a few acres in the country. You can do the same and at no great outlay, by reading and taking advantage of any one of the many bargain opportunities daily appearing in the "For Sale Country Property" columns of The Times classified section.

OLIVE GRAY WAS SPEAKING OF COULTER'S WHEN SHE SAID:

"——ANOTHER PLACE ON BROADWAY—SEEMS TO HAVE A SORT OF INTUITION FOR KEEPING JUST AHEAD OF THE TIMES——"

—Reprinted by permission from Sunday's Times.

—That was a candid remark.

—Miss Gray did not mention Coulter's in her article, as is her usual impartial custom. She was describing one of the newest Fall innovations shown first and exclusively at Coulter's, and in the course of the same made the above statement.

—Miss Gray is acknowledged to be one of the cleverest Fashion-writers on the Coast,—and such an opinion from the pen of such an authority, must needs admit of more than passing notice.

—Miss Gray has the following to say relative to various items of news interest about Coulter's store—and you will ALWAYS find something new and interesting at Coulter's:—

NEW BLOUSES.

The advance examples in dressy blouses—seen in one of the best Broadway stores (Coulter's), were of chiffon trimmed in chenille intermingled with iridescent beads. You have no idea what a good effect this combination of trimming gave. The colorings were more subdued than they have been during the past few seasons—dark shades of blue, green and gray being shown.
—By Olive Gray, in the "TIMES," Aug. 8.

NEW BATH ROBES.

To meet the demand for the long robes for the "altogether" at the beaches, one house in particular (Coulter's) has put a line of terry robes, in handsome colorings—blues, pinks and lavenders—with bindings of satin ribbon to match, set around the wide sailor collars and with heavy tassels in the same shades. These are really becoming to women, who may on this account have occasion to bless the beach legislation, which at first seemed somewhat drastic.
—By Olive Gray, in the "TIMES," Aug. 6.

DAINTY SILKS.

The colors of fabrics seem to receive some sort of enhancement from the fabrics themselves. I thought of this as I looked at the all silk pongees in a certain Broadway store (Coulter's), which is holding a sale of these, in such delicate shades as cameo pink, bebe blue, rose and lavender, as well as the more subdued tones of gray and natural linen color. The prices of these pretty silks may have added lustre to them, for they were extremely low in price.
—By Olive Gray, in the "TIMES," Aug. 8.

BY OLIVE GRAY

DAILY BEAUTY HINT: The fall styles in hair dressing will be decidedly modified from those of the past season. The chief characteristic is that the hair is worn closer to the head than formerly, especially in front, where the bandeau effect is quite noticeable. While puffs will be worn, they are of a different shape than those to which we have been accustomed, being more elongated and worn to give more extension to the hair in the back of the head. Many will adhere to the soft roll of hair over the ears, as it is becoming to many faces, lending attractiveness to the features.

Just why fall should have stalked in upon us, right in the midst of summer, nobody seems to know—but here it is!

Not in weather; it is really folly to talk about seasons as to weather in our climate, which is so "all of a one-ness"—but I mean of course, in clothes.

Perhaps it was because someone donned a soft felt hat in an exquisite shade and someone else saw how very becoming it was and decided to "have one just like it" and so before any one realized what was happening, the midsummer felt hat craze was in full swing. Then someone else decided to go them one better and have some other style of felt hat, and here we are with the fall and winter millinery coming in by fast express and as though afraid that something would be bought which they would not match, along tag the fall and winter suits and coats. Perhaps it was that they feared all the money would be spent upon the millinery, which is so alluring! Anyhow, they're here and coming in troops—the beautiful creations for wear and to lure the cash from out our pocketbooks, before we have forgotten what we paid for the spring and summer clothes.

Sometimes I think that the automobile is to blame—or to be praised—for the very early appearance of the seasons' wearables. Motor coats are always the most pronounced as to styles and in fact they influence to a great degree the styles of other garments.

See how the hood, first worn on the motor coat, has made its way up to the evening gown and that of afternoon. The big sailor collar of the auto coat was the herald of that kind of collar upon everything from a kitchen apron to a bathing-suit.

Witness how that the motor coat either discards the sailor collar altogether in favor of revers, or wears it elongated to the waist line so that it really does not seem at all like a collar. Observe, also, that this coat's small sister, the suit jacket, follows this style.

Motor Coats.

One of the most startling innovations in motor coats, was just received when I visited a women's furnishing shop, on Broadway yesterday. It was of scarlet polo cloth and the reverse side was of tartan showing principally the same shade of red and white. This had the new rounded front breadth to the skirts, and the large new revers, and it was finished with huge fancy buttons and buttonholes bound with the tartan. These buttonholes, bound with a contrasting color or in something fancy, form an important feature in most of the motor coats.

At another place, where the importations are fairly coming in by telegraph, I saw a turquoise blue with gunmetal gray—or gray with turquoise blue, according to which side you saw first. This also had the huge cuffs which characterize nearly all the motor coats of the new season, and was finished with great buttons of gunmetal.

Another had a tartan facing and the most striking colors of this appeared in the big buttons, in rings, as though one button were laid on over the other.

Purple and gray is a favorite in these reversible coats, and some are in amethyst of two shades. The skirts of these coats are about two and a half yards in width and there are many and various patch pockets.

I saw one with a detached pocket, on a long cord, to be carried when wearing the coat. Some, but not all, have the raglan sleeve, and in the heaviest and coarsest ones—most outing-like—a great hood sometimes appears, and often it buttons down to the garment—as though it might take matters into its own hands and run away with the coat, if some such precaution were not taken.

Occasionally, the motor coat takes on a more dressy air, being embellished with velvet, let in here and there, or used to entirely form the revers and the cuffs. Or it appears in mere under-lets, between the parts of the revers or the cuffs, or as a let-in at the back of the wide half-belt which tells where—or somewhere near—the waist line may be.

Street Suits

Partaking largely of many of the characteristics of the motor coats, the street suits of the more pronounced type are usually of heavy, woolly looking mannish fabrics, with an admixture of color, and they are of two distinct styles. One is the ever present plainly tailored style, and the other the semi-tailored or—as the man tailors say—the "soft" tailored or "trimmed tailored" style. In the former, the jackets are short, but not quite so short as some of the summer ones. About twenty-six inches to twenty-eight inches is the rule in these. Such suits depend entirely upon cut for their style and upon buttons for their trimming. Sometimes two kinds of buttons are used upon the same suit. I noticed black and white mixture, in the plainly tailored style, which had medium sized black bone buttons for the regular business of fastening the coat; and smaller ones of the goods for an appearance of fastening the panel back to the skirt and also to seem to fasten the cuffs at the back of the hand. This kind of reality and simulation prevails in any of these suits.

The skirts of these plain suits will measure about one and three-quarters yards in width. The sleeves are rather small, such as men wear, and there is little in the way of trimming or draping to the skirts. The panel back is sometimes left loose at the bottom, and in some instances there is a panel front, which is usually stitched to within a few inches of the bottom. Many of the coats have an odd cut in the underarm, such as used to be worn with the raglan of several years ago. This exists in many instances where the raglan sleeve is absent.

The popular colors are blue, brown, purple and gray—the latter usually in a dark metallic shade. There are many mixtures, such as are also seen in the newest suits for men.

Some of the more striking suits are in stripes, in different shades of gray, black and white or in shades of brown. In these suits, I noticed some stunning examples which had the stripes posed in different ways to form contrasts, as the trimming. For instance, there would be a side inlet with the stripe at right angles to the fabric, as used in the main part of the suit; and the same effect would prevail in the underarm piece with its rounded raglan shape.

New Millinery.

Although it cannot be said that the fall millinery is really here, in all its phases, examples of it—fore hints of it, are appearing in shoals. At one place, which is particularly noted for the early arrival of advance styles in the millinery department, I saw some really startling things. At first, it looked as though the entire department has blossomed out in American Beauty; for that was the color used in so many of the new hats. Mostly in silk, these were—or part silk; half silk, I might say—and I would not mean any reflection upon the quality of the silk, but I mean it literally—one-half of the hat would be of silk and the other half of velvet or of cloth, or of velour, or of chenille. Another startling feature is that the crowns are piled high as a drum major's cap. Nearly every one of the more dressy hats has this high crowned effect. In some cases this is given by means of the "envelope" covering, which extends in a p and then folds over—exactly in the style its name implies—or again it is given by means of high, piled or made wings, or still again the crown is high in the shape itself. One real beauty had a crown of folds of silk and the same kind of folds made an ornament in wing shape for one side of the front, forming the sole trimming. Another was trimmed from brim to apex of the very pointed crown with fringe. Everything is being fringed that can possibly be so trimmed, from boot tops to petticoats, from inside edge to poke bonnet.

Another strange touch in millinery is the use of Berlin wools. These are used in all sorts of unexpected ways—to form odd arrow-like ornaments to face one upturned brim of a cloche shaped hat, or to act as a medallion, the only high note of color in a sombre whole. Chenille, too, ap-

UNRULY RIVER THEIR THEME.

SAN GABRIEL LAND OWNERS MEET SUPERVISORS.

Board Sets Next Monday as Time When a Full Hearing Will Be Held to Determine What Can Be Done to Protect Property Against Storm Ravages.

Relief from flood conditions brought about by the winter overflow of the San Gabriel River seems to be in sight for residents along that stream. Delegations of representative property owners were before the Board of Supervisors yesterday, and that body set next Monday morning at 9:30 o'clock for a full hearing to definitely determine what can be done to protect the citizens between the mountains and the sea.

At that time the views of the Mayor and Council of Long Beach will be asked as well as the opinions of the government and county engineers. Notice will also be sent to officials and interested citizens of El Monte, Artesia, Clearwater, Downey and various other places embraced by the flood belt to be present.

Several prominent men from the communities which suffer losses from the overflow every season urged an expression by the board yesterday.

Assemblyman Cogswell said that what is sought most is advice as to how to proceed to insure permanent obviation of the trouble, which he asserted is growing more serious each year.

Relief measures were discussed by the spokesmen of the visiting delegations. Three courses were suggested. The first is to form a protective district, the second dealt with procedure under the levee laws, and the third with action under the storm provisions.

It seemed to be the opinion of the speakers that it would be best to work under the protective district laws. This means the combining of the suffering communities for the erection of a common safeguard. It was proposed to divide the river into two channels at the mouth of the canyon.

It is the hope of the residents of the San Gabriel section that relief will be had before the winter season sets in. The argument was offered that delay only means the expenditure of more money in the end.

TIGERS LAND ON THOMPSON.

Finish His Career for Day in Fourth Inning.

Castleton Bumped Hard in Fifth, But Lucky.

Carlisle and Lerchen Please Fans by Fine Fielding.

BY GREY OLIVER.

Vernon, 5; Sacramento, 4.

The Tigers may not be able to win the pennant, but you have got to hand it to them for being one of the best teams in the league or rather about the best for pulling up out of the hole. Yesterday they proved this to the Senators, for after Vernon had a 4 to 1 lead in the fourth the Senators tied thescore in the fifth, only to have the Tigers forge ahead in their half of that inning.

It was a hot potato contest from the fact that while the Tigers made almost twice as many hits as the Senators they needed all of these to win with. They hammered Thompson for eight and four runs in the first four innings and got to Baum for one run and two hits in the fifth and that run was enough, Baum getting credit for losing a game he might have won had he started it.

Hogan used Castleton as a pitcher and after this southpaw had gotten by the fifth round he was safe for he did not allow any swats in the last half of the game. Why he did not lose the game in the fifth can only be guessed at for he allowed two singles, a double, sacrifice, two bases on balls and had an error behind him. When you can get by this combination you should win any game ever played.

Things looked bad for Vernon in the first for Shinn led off with a triple to the right-field fence and scored a moment later on Van Buren's single to left. Then Castleton behaved himself until the fifth when everything seemed to come at once.

Kern, the new Senator catcher, hit a bouncer to Brashear which was fumbled and Lerchen beat out an infield single. Thornton batting for Thompson doubled to the right center fence, scoring Kern and Lerchen, and Thornton himself scored when Shinn hit a hard single to right field. After all this Nebinger was passed, Van Buren sacrificed, Danzig was walked, Mahoney flew to center and Heister fouled to Patterson, all of the runs having been made before one man was out. This was the last chance for the Senators for only one other man reached first base in the remaining four innings and this was Lerchen, who walked in the sixth inning. The best kind of support helped out Castleton, but the chances were generally so easy that there was little opportunity for an error.

THOMPSON WOBBLES.

Thompson began to wobble in the first inning, but he got the real bumps in the second. In this after Brashear had flied to right field McDonnell hit to left, ran to third on Hosp's infield out and scored on Burrell's infield single. Burrell stole second and arrived at the plate on Brown's swipe to left. McDonnell started the fourth with a hit to right, advanced on Hosp's infield single, both went up on Burrell's sacrifice and both scored on Brown's single to left.

This was enough for Thompson and Baum took his place in the fifth inning and the first thing Kane did was to hit a single off the Spider. Patterson was out at first on a brilliant assist by Lerchen and Kane scored when McDonnell drove the ball to left. Baum got settled after that inning and there was nothing more stirring with him in the run line.

In addition to seeing practically errorless ball the fans witnessed some beautiful fielding. Lerchen's left-handed running scoop assist of Patterson's grounder behind the pitcher's box in the fifth inning was a pippin while Carlisle shone again with a long

The Exile.

Patsy O'Rourke, Sacramento's Manager and Field Captain, watching the game from the grand stand yesterday. The scrappy Senator fell from grace when he attempted to strike Umpire Hildebrand about two weeks ago.

Appearances Deceive.

PATSY DIRECTS THE GAME FROM THE GRAND STAND.

THERE was a woe-begone figure in the grand stand yesterday when Sacramento was losing. The fingers of one of the spectators itched to get hold of the ball. Joseph Patrick O'Rourke, the mighty, had to sit still and watch the fight.

"But anyhow," said Patsy last night at his hotel; "anyhow, there wasn't a play made by the Sacramento team that I didn't direct from the grand stand—even if I am an exile.

"They've had me paying five cents for a grand stand cushion for several days, but that ain't saying they are going to keep me coughing up nickels.

"Sometimes I feel like jumping over into the field when the game gets exciting, but I put the brakes on and sit still, realising that one seat in the grand stand is worth two outside the park.

"My fuss with Hildebrand was all his fault. He kept following me up and I told him to stay away or I would 'hand him one,' and I did when he got too close. I guess I lost my temper for a moment, but I certainly was hot.

"I haven't received any official notice of any $50 fine, but the papers have it that way and it must be so. According to the press, Graham is going to lift the ban next Sunday. I certainly hope it is true.

"Oh, I know that thousands of fans think I am little less than a rowdy," continued Patsy. "They call me a rowdy just because I stand up for my rights.

"It is true that when I go upon the ball field that I forget that I ever had a friend in the world, and perhaps I do sometimes say things that could not be sent through the mails, but as soon as the contests are over I am willing to forget the past.

"You can put it in big black type that Patsy O'Rourke believes in clean baseball straight, place and show. I slipped when I hit Hildebrand, but he provoked me to the very limit as the players on both teams will tell you. It was a good lesson, you can bet, and I promise you that I'll do no more of that sort of stuff while I'm in baseball.

"I guess I've got too much of this stuff you writers call 'temperament,'" added Senor Pat, with a smile, "but I guess I've got more of the temper than the 'ment.'"

Patsy reminds me of Muggsy McGraw, the "little corporal," who guides the destinies of the New York Giants. They are about the same size.

McGraw is fighting all the time for his team, not only on the field, but off. Like Senor Pat, he is a perfect gentleman of the field. He is a regular pocket edition of Lord Chesterfield. He is as polite as a new minister.

If I am not mistaken Patsy is the youngest manager in the Coast League.

The temporarily-deposed Solon leader has a charming wife and a clear-eyed fragile beginner, 6 years old.

Those who know Patsy best say he is a devoted husband and father, and that he forgets all about "inside baseball" and bingles when anybody mentions the name of Joseph Patrick O'Rourke, Jr.

STALLION BEATS OUT HIS BRAINS.

[A. P. NIGHT NEWS REPORT.]

COLUMBIA (Tenn.) Aug. 8.—Charging a large tree in his pasture, Beauzant, the pacing stallion, struck the trunk with his head, knocking out his brains and dying a few seconds later on a stock farm near here late yesterday. His best record on the track was 2:06 1-2. He was 13 years old.

NO BONES BROKEN.

ST. LOUIS, Aug. 8.—[By A. P. Night Wire.] A X-ray examination was made today of the right foot of Manager Bresnahan of the St. Louis National League team and showed that no bone was broken. Bresnahan was hit by a foul ball in yesterday's game. The foot swelled to double its normal size and Bresnahan was not able to walk from the clubhouse.

The Races.

UHLAN EQUALS LOU'S RECORD.

Unfavorable Conditions Keep the Speed Down.

Billings Handles the Ribbons Over Great Gelding.

Fine Sport Furnished on the Grand Circuit.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

CLEVELAND, Aug. 8.—Uhlan, the champion trotting gelding, owned by C. K. G. Billings of New York, equalled the world's record for trotting to a wagon at the North Randall track here today, going the mile in 2:00 flat.

Conditions that were not exactly favorable prevented his breaking the record established by Lou Dillon at Memphis, Tenn., on October 28, 1903, when she did the mile in similar time.

The track was not as fast as usual. The fitful breeze also tended to hamper him. Mr. Billings drove the gelding.

The second day's programme of grand circuit racing furnished some fine sport. Results:

The 2:20 trot, purse $1000, three in five: Lee Wilson (Dodge,) won in straight heats; Sterling Hall (Maloney, second; Hannah (McDonald,) third; Gordon Todd(Geers,) fourth; time, 2:10 1-4, 2:12, 2:10 1-4.

The 2:10 trot, purse $1000, three in four: Lula Arion (Benyon,) won in straight heats; Creighton (La Salle,) second; Viola Strong (Geers,) third; Capt. George (Murphy,) fourth; time, 2:09 1-2, 2:10 1-4, 2:10 3-4.

The 2:08 pace, Forest City stake, purse $2000, two in three; Sunny Jim (Havely,) won; Ginger (Brown,) second; Mark Knight (Hall,) third; Princess Hall (Hedrick,) fourth; time, 2:05, 2:08 1-4, 2:07.

The 2:05 pace, purse $1000, two in three: C The Limit (Macey,) won; Hal B., Jr., (Eason,) second; Star Patch (Davis,) third; Walter W. (Geers,) fourth; time, 2:03, 2:04 1-4, 2:08 1-4.

BUTTE RESULTS.

BETTING CONTROVERSY.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

BUTTE (Mont.) Aug. 8.—The race track controversy came to a climax tonight with the issuance of a complaint against William Gemmell, secretary of the Butte Jockey Club, charging him with a violation of the anti-race track gambling law.

Gemmell will be arraigned tomorrow and probably will waive preliminary hearing, to hasten the case into the District Court for a decision whether the law limits racing with pool selling to thirty days in this county or thirty days in any one inclosure. If the county interpretation is held the present meet will come to an end.

Gemmell, in the presence of County Attorney Tom Walker, placed a bet on Elsewhere at 3 to 1 before the first race today. The bet was recorded, as usual, and the ticket was given into the custody of the County Attorney. The ticket, which is being held as evidence, will never be cashed, for Elsewhere did not finish in the money.

Results:

Five furlongs: Mammy won, Gemul second, Free third; time 1:01 3-5.

Six furlongs: New Capital won, Wiltrude S. second, Jeanette M. third; time 1:14 3-5.

Futurity course: He Knows won, Novgorod second, Roberta third; time 1:10 4-5.

Mile: Fern L. won, Black Mate second, Belle Clem third; time 1:41 1-15.

Mile and seventy yards: Fereno won, Eight to One second, Triste third; time 1:47 3-5.

Slugging in Sight.

CONLEY DUE TODAY TO GET READY FOR KLINE

FRANKIE CONLEY, the Chicago featherweight who is scheduled to meet Patsy Kline in a twenty-round engagement at Vernon arena, August 19, is due to arrive in Los Angeles this afternoon. He is accompanied by his manager, Harry Gilmore, Jr. Gilmore is no stranger to Los Angeles fandom, as he brought Packy McFarland to the Coast several years ago.

Conley made a wise move when he secured Gilmore to handle the managerial reins, for he ranks with the keenest handlers of boxers in the business.

If Conley has the makin's in him, Gilmore will certainly bring them out. Gilmore has engaged quarters at the St. Ignatius Club for his protege and Conley will do his preliminary work there. It has been a long time since Frankie milled here. His defeat by Coulon has not robbed him of much prestige. Conley always claimed that he was not right when he mixed with Johnny. Although he was decisively defeated, ring experts who saw the battle admitted that he was not in good physical condition. Conley admits now that he cannot make the low weight required by Coulon and fights his best.

Conley gave Abe Attell the scrap of his life and earned a dandy draw with the peerless featherweight.

Patsy Kline expects to commence training this afternoon at Doyle's training camp at Vernon. Kline has engaged Willie Canole to train with him. Canole has worked with Kline before and they are very good friends. When it comes to punching ability, aggressiveness and gameness they are very few knights of the padded arena that have anything on Patsy. He is essentially a stand-up-and-go-to-it-miller and as Conley is of the same type of boxer, the coming bout should prove most entertaining to the fans. Patsy is confident of slipping over a sleep potion to Conley if he carries out his promise to stand up and meet Patsy face to face.

"If Conley doesn't start any of this greyhound business I'll have him on the rocks inside of ten rounds," said Patsy yesterday afternoon at the Nadeau Hotel, where he is sojourning with Mrs. Kline.

"I realize that Conley is a good boy and all that, but I've got it on him and will show the fans I have when we hook up. I'm feelin' fine and am anxious to begin work tomorrow. I'm going to train principally for strength and stamina and in developing my punch. I intend to uncork a new wallop that I hope will bring the pemmican home. It's a dandy and I've been working on it for several weeks.

"If I cop Conley I'm goin' to corral one of those vine-covered bungalows, or whatever-you-call-'em, and make Los Angeles my home. You see, I must be pretty confident for I brought my wife with me and she's so confident that I'm going to get Conley that she's written home inviting her people out here to visit us. This is a great burg, and about the only one where they give a boxer a square deal. That's one reason I like it. I like the people out here, too, and the climate has got 'em all roped. It's great, that's all."

KLINE WANTS RIVERS.

Kline is anxious to hook up with Joe Rivers, the Mexican marvel, in case Joe is successful against Johnny Kilbane. Of course, Kline hasn't whipped Conley by a long shot, and

MISS SUTTON WINS LOVE SETS.

[A. P. NIGHT NEWS REPORT.]

TACOMA, Aug. 8.—Miss May G. Sutton of Pasadena had little trouble in defeating Miss Dorothy Kershaw of Tacoma today on her initial appearance on the local courts in the twenty-first annual tennis tournament of the Pacific Northwest, winning, 6-0, 6-0.

Miss Sutton did not allow her opponent a single game and at no time was called upon to extend herself.

Gardner Everett won from Foley, San Francisco, by default.

Even May Sutton.

CALIFORNIA TENNIS STARS NEARLY ALL RED-HEADED.

BY ALMA WHITAKER.

I KNOW what's going to happen. Very soon only red-headed people will be able to play tennis. Even now the dark ones have to put up a really first-class game before they can remain within the charmed circle. But the red-headed ones can all play tennis, anyway.

There's McLoughlin at the head of the list, and one sees the beginning of the end in his conquest of Bundy back East.

In all the recent tournaments there has been a terrific red majority. Harold Huntingdon, for instance, and Erle and Clarence Barker, McAndrew, Wooldredge, Ball and L. F. Johnson all as red as they make 'em.

And as for the near reds, there's an army of them. Winfred Mace declares he isn't, and puts all sorts of nice-smelling stuff on his hair to make it seem darker, but it only requires the right gleam of sunlight to light him up like a beacon. Kenneth Newell, too, with his piquant retrousse nose, and the Rogers brothers and H. H. Beldon—they are all perilously near it. Even the illustrious Ward Dawson has the taint. Oh, and I nearly forgot Virgil Sheldon. He is certainly one of them. It must be a terrible responsibility to be called upon to live up to the name of Virgil.

And the girls don't escape. The proper sunset glow makes Miss May Sutton look distinctly auburn, especially when she will wear pink in spite of our entreaties that she should wear blue. Miss Alice Scott and Miss Anna Dillon are quite frankly red-headed.

The nicest thing about all the tennis people is their youth. They are all young. Even the middle-aged ones are delightfully, charmingly young. Now in golf even the young ones seem awfully grown up. It's just the difference between walking and running. You can't walk in tennis and it is ridiculous to run in golf.

"I just have to dance when I get into my tennis clothes," says Mrs. J. M. Stickrod. Young Mrs. Stickrod, by the way, was easily the belle of the tournaments this year. A pretty figure, a real compexion, laughing blue eyes, and the cutest little chin you ever saw.

And then there is little Marjorie Tufts. Winsome, fairylike, good tempered and a game sportsman. And Betty Morrow, with dark, wicked eyes, and a long string of beaux.

Mrs. Bruce favors a dash of red for her relieving color, and a red sweater. It has a military aspect that is a little alarming in the face of her known victorious career on the courts. She is rather terrifying to play against, but one of the nicest people you can find to talk to.

Tigers Lose Two to New York and Drop Far Below the Athletics in Standing—Collins Makes the Season's Fielding Record—Philadelphia Easily Defeats the Chicago White Sox.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

NEW YORK, Aug. 8.—New York won both ends of a double-header with Detroit today. In the first game Cobb drove in Detroit's first three runs.

The second game lay between Fisher, who succeeded Vaughn after the first inning, and Lafitte. Cobb scored Detroit's only run on his two-base hit and Crawford's single. Cobb was put out of the second game in the third inning for ridiculing Umpire Mullen after he had been called out on strikes. Score:

ENGLISH NOBLEMAN TOURING TO COAST.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

ALBANY (N. Y.) Aug. 8.—Sir Henry Lynch Blosse, the biggest land owner in Ireland, is speeding westward today with Lady Blosse on one of the most ambitious automobile tours ever attempted in this country. He is making the tour in an American car purchased since he came here about two months ago and used by him extensively about New York City and in New England.

It is Sir Henry's intention to run all the way to San Francisco by a roundabout way and coming back by the southern route, reach Savannah in time for the automobile cup race on Thanksgiving Day.

On his first visit to this country twenty-five years ago, Sir Henry went over much of the present route by stage coach.

UNHOLZ ARRIVES.

"Rudy" Unholz, the Boer fighter who beat Bat Nelson here about three years ago, arrived in this city yesterday looking for something in the fighting line. Since he was here the Boer has been in Australia and in various other parts of the world. He was married about three years ago, and has an 8-months-old baby. He also has a ten-acre ranch near Denver, where he is raising chickens. Rudy says he will fight Nelson, Welsh or anyone at the lightweight limit.

SEALS WIN EASILY BY BUMPING LEVERENZ.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 8.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Los Angeles played poor baseball today against the Seals, and lost, 9 to 4. Though Leverenz is to be blamed for his part of the work, the new southpaw who was introduced to San Francisco fans by Capt. Dillon, was far less to blame than were his teammates, who threw the ball around and in out-of-the-way corners at every conceivable opportunity.

Henley, the first Seal twirler to go into the fray, was likewise ragged and even with the early lead that he was given to back him up, showed so little in the box that he was taken out after five innings—a mighty lucky move for his teammates.

Leverenz brought in the first run of the game when the third inning was under way. With Smith down, the port-sider swung the ball into left field for two bases. Howard flied to center, and after Dillon had walked, Daley hit a hard one to Smith, in center field, that the outfielder dropped. It was a hard run that Smith made for the ball, but there was no excuse for dropping it. Moore was walked and with the bases full Metzger grounded to Weaver.

SEALS GATHER SIX.

The lead was short-lived for the Angels, as the Seals made six of their runs in the same inning. Howard started with a hit to center that Pete Daley well-nigh caught. Claude Berry started for a sacrifice, but Smith's throw to second was so wild of the mark that Holland reached third. Henley's fly to Daley scored Holland, Berry going to third on the play. Powell was hit, and Weaver drove one straight at Leverenz that came near crippling the twirler. McArdle hit to Dillon, but the boss of the Angels made a low throw to the plate, Berry and Powell scoring on the miscue.

Vitt's timely single to center scored two more runs and after Tennant's hit through the pitcher, Art Smith tallied Vitt from third on a drive into left-field territory. Holland, up for the second time during the inning, fouled out to the catcher, and Berry popped to Bert Delmas.

Most of Henley's trouble was in the fourth. With one out of the way, Akin hit to center, and Hughie Smith was safe on Weaver's fumble. A wild pitch advanced the two runners and after Leverenz had fanned, Howard put the ball over the right-field fence for a home run and three tallies.

That bunch of six tallies was not all the locals gathered off the Angelenos. In the fourth Powell lined to left and Weaver hit to Akin, a bad throw by the second baseman sending Powell as far as third. The double steal was worked for Powell to score. McArdle then rapped one against the right-field fence and Weaver scooted home from second.

Oscar Vitt got the last run of the day in the seventh inning. Leading off with a safe hit, he stayed on first base while Tennant flied to Daley, went to third on a hit to the outfield by Holland, and then came home on a steal that he worked after Daley had recovered the ball from Holland's hit, thrown to the infield in an effort to land Holland, who was far off first.

TWO HITS AND WIN.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

PORTLAND, Aug. 8.—Henderson's superb pitching, Peckinpaugh's great work at short and Chadbourne's base running won today's game with Oakland for the Beavers.

Peckinpaugh had six assists and two put-outs to his credit. Chadbourne scored the only run of the game, making a desperate and successful effort in the first when he stole third and walked home when Rappe singled. Score:

M'LOUGHLIN IN FORM.

Wins Place in Semi-Finals in New York Tennis Play and Shines in Doubles With Bundy.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

NEW YORK, Aug. 8.—M. E. McLoughlin of San Francisco won his place in the semi-final round of the New York State lawn tennis championship today. In the fifth round he defeated L. E. Mahan, 5-7, 6-2, 6-3. McLoughlin couples with C. M. Bull, Jr., one of the western doubles champions, for the final.

Two pairs arrived in the semi-final round of the doubles. In the lower section, T. C. Bundy and M. E. McLoughlin, the Pacific Coast champions, defeated A. S. Cragin and J. C. Tomlinson, Jr., 6-0, 6-3.

The national challengers, G. F. Touchard and R. S. Little, won two matches, in the first defeating R. W. Seabury and G. H. Middlebrook, 6-1, 6-1, and G. S. Groesbeck and P. Cummings, 6-4, 6-2. They coupled with C. M. Bull, Jr., and H. C. Martin, the western champions who won from S. H. Vashell and F. C. Baggs, 6-2, 4-6, 6-3.

BARRY AN EASY MARK.

NEW YORK, Aug. 8.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Porky Flynn of Boston gave Jim Barry of Chicago a fine trouncing during their ten-round boxing bout at the Twentieth Century Athletic Club tonight. Flynn was too clever for Barry. Porky cut and chopped and hacked, jabbed and uppercutted Jim many times, scarcely without a return.

It Got Away.

FIGHTS TUNA FOUR HOURS THEN COLLAPSES IN BOAT.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

AVALON, Aug. 8.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Dr. E. Emery of New York today fought a leaping tuna for four hours and collapsed entirely when the fish was being gaffed. The catch succeeded in getting away. It is believed that the fish would have weighed above 100 pounds.

This is the first fight which has been made with tuna on a regular nine ounce standard outfit this season. Both the angler's arms are badly swollen with the continued battle between the fish and himself. So badly bent and twisted is the rod and reel that it will not be safe to land any large fish on it again.

In several places the line has been worn down to mere strands. The leather thumb-break was worn completely through by the constant pressure which had been applied by the angler to check the mad rushes of the fish.

It is stated that the fish was lost while the gaffing operation was going on. Immediately the fish was struck with the gaff-hook it made one desperate effort to get free and succeeded.

Several other tuna strikes were reported. Off Long Point launches were hurried out to sea; some of the anglers left Avalon as soon as the school had been announced.

double play, or a force out is almost certain to result.

Our old Los Angeles friend, Hal Chase, is certainly having his troubles these pipin' August days back in old Gotham town. Many of the fans are blaming the Boy Leader for the present position of the Highlanders in the pennant chase. The anvilites claim that poor management is responsible, and as the Santa Clara boy is manager, it doesn't take a diagram to point out who they mean.

I consider Chase one of the brainiest men in baseball. Hal is the youngest manager in the league, but he is as resourceful as McGraw, as good a judge of ball players and human nature as Fred Clarke, and as a strategist he ranks with Frank Chance, the peerless leader of the Cubs.

As far as I can make out, the Highlanders have had hard luck, augmented by innumerable injuries. I consider Chase the greatest first sacker in the game, with the possible exception of Konetchy, the Cardinals' first sacker. If the Highlander owners are wise, they'll retain Chase another year and I'll miss my guess if he doesn't turn out to be just as great a manager in time as he is first baseman.

Baseball fans are indeed fickle. One day a player is an idol and too many good things cannot be said of him, while on another day, when a boot or two or a strike-out in a pinch whirls the minds of the fans around, the idol of yesterday is handed any and everything along the knocking line.

The other day "Flame" Delhi was touched up rather freely by the Hooligan swatters. During the fusillade I heard a fan call him a "big dub," and "false alarm." Several days before the game the same follow couldn't find enough sweet-scented words in the dictionary to hand the big beach mound-dweller when he held the opposing team down to three hits.

That just goes to show where a player stands. When he can deliver the goods and pull off sensational stuff, he is the greatest man in the world, but just as soon as he boots one his good deeds are forgotten and his very ears burn as a result of the panning he receives.

Coast League baseball fans, and especially Angel City devotees of the big American pastime, are mighty sorry Curtis Bernard has given the Patti sign to baseball. For there was no more popular baseball player in Coast League circles than Bernie Bernard, with player and fans alike. He always conducted himself like a perfect gentleman on and off the field, and when it came to the sartorial stuff, why he had Harry Lehr wearing overalls. Bernie is going to New York and open an office in one of these monstrous skyscrapers in the big burg. Bernie told me once that he would stick to the game if he thought he was fast enough for the big boys' league, but he determined some time ago that he wasn't quite good enough to play in the big league, and consequently he decided to call quits and face an osteopath shop all his own. Bernie is a graduated osteopath and here's hoping that he makes more than good in little old New York.

plan will be somewhat offset by adopting the new macadam section he proposes. He says it will mean a net saving of seventy-five tons of rock per mile, a total saving of 14,250 tons, or, in dollars and cents, $32,775.

On the recommendation of the Highway Commission, the board awarded to Galley & Clark for $19,818.08, the contract for the improvement of Eagle Rock road, as provided by specifications No. 108.

CHESS NOTES.

A. V. Geldert, late of San Diego, and still playing on the correspondence chess team of that city, has entered the local mutual tournament, starting off well in his first encounter by drawing two games and winning two against H. Enwels. Holt and Enwels are now tied for high totals of games won in the tournament, but as Holt has lost two less than Enwels he holds the best percentage. Pierce retains the lead in percentage of .800.

Following is the standing of all competitors:

Player.	Played.	Won.	Lost.	P.c.
Barnett	17	9	8	.529
Frazier, S. R.	4	1	3	.250
Holt	13	9½	3½	[illegible]
Pierce	5	4	1	.800
Pridham	14	4	10	.286
Ruth	1	0	1	.000
Enwels	17	9½	7½	.559
Geldert	4	3	1	.750

Forty-three games, more than one-fourth of the schedule, have been played, giving a rate of progress which promises an earlier completion of the event than was anticipated.

running catch of Lerchen's short fly behind second base in the ninth inning, Walter half-stumbling toward second base as he caught the ball. Heister cheated the Tigers out of a run in the eighth when he ran far over toward center field and grabbed Hosp's swat that looked like a sure hit.

The Senators showed one new man yesterday in Catcher Harry Kern, who was bought from the St. Joseph team of the Western League. Last year for Topeka he hit .250 in eighty-nine games and in eighty-two games fielded .960 as a catcher. He is a sturdy fellow that reminds one very much of Zacher of the Oakland team, for he has a monstrous head. O'Rourke expects a new pitcher today named Gaddy, bought by the Boston Americans from the Calgary team in the Western Canada League.

FISHING BAD AGAIN; SIMMONS GETS A FEW.

The wharf-fishing fraternity, at least that portion of it which specializes in surf-fishing, had to chalk up another failure against last Sunday. All the wharves were well tried out, but very little worth noting was reported.

Sebastian Simmons and Robert Campbell plied their trade from Balboa to Sunset nearly, and found what little sport they had at the latter resort. So far as Simmons was concerned, the going was not so utterly bad, as he harvested two big corbina and a fair-sized croaker, together with a dozen "nippers" of the most measly size and behavior imaginable.

The largest corbina weighed 4 1-4 pounds and the other 3 1-2. Both were females and full of roe. They gave Simmons all he wanted in the landing, as there was a very stiff current running, and the only way that fish could be caught was to fish against it, so the current would carry the baits down. A corbina, hooked, would run in with the wash, and be under the wharf before the angler realized what was happening. Unless great care was used, the fish would swivel around a pile and that would be the end of him, so far as the basket is concerned.

The croaker weighed three pounds. Campbell got a mess of nippers, and for once held the bag. Usually he gets his share of the good ones; but Simmons, with his usual luck, had all the fishing his own way. No one else did anything worth mention on the wharf, although a number were out trying their luck.

The surf was breaking very high, and the current ran from east to west at an unusually rapid rate. It was impossible to catch any fish on the down-current side of the wharf.

Any amount of small "nippers" were in evidence. There is a prospect that the annual late summer "nipper run" will be welcomed by the anglers this year on the basis that anything is better than nothing at all.

The motor wharf was fished in the morning to no purpose; not a strike of a "surf" was experienced.

COLD AND RAW ON WESTERN BEACHES.

Anglers who fished the western resorts from Port Los Angeles to Redondo found the weather conditions uncomfortable Sunday; decidedly cold for this season. The wind was several degrees north of its usual midsummer quarter, and the evening came on so raw and windy that many quit earlier than they had planned, folded up and went home.

There were a few runs of small fry fit for pan purposes, but nothing unusual was reported anywhere. Beach fishers experienced a strong current and unfavorable water, so few catches were made

PREMIER TOUR NEARING END.

Reception Tendered Travelers at San Luis Obispo.

Prairie Schooner Keeps Up With the Procession.

Run to Santa Barbara is Today's Programme.

BY BERT C. SMITH.

SAN LUIS OBISPO, Aug. 8.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Thirteen Premier cars and the party of ocean-to-ocean tourists entered Southern California today and are enjoying the sunshine and flowers of San Luis Obispo. After crossing the deserts of Wyoming, Utah and Nevada, the tourists are now in the land of sunshine and the run is nearing its finish.

This has been one of the most remarkable automobile tours ever conducted and is the only motor tour ever held across the continent.

John Guy Monahan of the Premier factory is with the forty tourists who are taking their first sight of the southland from the seat of the motor car. They have found enough to interest them on this long trip, but are keen to see the city they have heard so much about.

The reception at San Luis Obispo was to the liking of the autoists. They were met at Santa Margarita by Mayor McAllister, H. H. Carpenter, Leonard Hill, Manuel Marshall, City Commissioners and members of the Chamber of Commerce, and a number of citizens escorted them over the Cuesta grade and along the road to Estrada Gardens into the city of the old mission, where they are to remain tonight.

Tomorrow morning an early start will be made and the machines will be sent away on another strenuous run to Santa Barbara. This is one of the hardest runs of the coast trip as the cars must cross the mountains to the sea again.

SEVERE TRIP.

The run through the hills to Bradley was a severe trip but the roads are in fairly good shape. After reaching San Miguel the roads are better and the thirty-one miles from Paso Robles to San Luis Obispo is over natural roads which are almost as good as a boulevard.

This tour is one of the best that has been arranged for a down-coast trip and the machines which will make the run are to be sent through on a schedule arranged by Louis Schwaebe, who is leading the cars with his Premier pathfinder. He is to set the pace all the way and pilot the machines into the city.

John Guy Monahan of the Premier factory will follow Schwaebe and Ellsworth Sprague and wife will be next in order. The last car of the caravan will be the Prairie Schooner, the repair car, which carries the tires and which is driven by Dr. Weller. This car has reached each night control on time and is maintaining its schedule all the way.

Dr. Cook, who did not discover the North Pole, but who has been mistaken several times for the faker, is driving a four-cylinder Premier. At almost every hotel at which he has registered Dr. Cook has been the butt of all the jokes and tourists have inquired if he is the original discoverer of the North Pole. He is accompanied by Mrs. Cook.

Samuel M. Root, a prominent tobacco grower, is taking in the sights of the cities along the route, but enjoys best the trips through El Camino Real to the missions of Central and Southern California.

Treacherous sands of the Salinas River have proved one of the danger points of the tour today. The big bridge which was washed away beyond Bradley made the task of crossing the river with an automobile risky.

MAY TRADE WOODLANDS.

ST. LOUIS, Aug. 8.—[By A. P. Night Wire.] Barney Schreiber, turfman, has under consideration an offer to trade his breeding farm, Woodlands, in St. Louis county, for a country estate along the Mississippi River. Woodlands consists of 5000 acres and has on it 130 thoroughbreds. The bulk of the mares, if Woodlands is traded, will be sent to Canada for sale. The stallions and brood mares will be sent to Europe. Schreiber still has hopes that racing will flourish again in the United States. At one time he had more than 1000 horses at Woodlands.

CONLEY DUE TODAY.

many ring experts say that Patsy is holding the Kenosha lad too cheap. A mauling match between Kline and Rivers would be a corker, providing each is successful in his coming contest.

A match between Kline and Kilbane would be uninteresting, as Kilbane is altogether too speedy for the Chicago lad, who is essentially a slugging scrapper. Kline is fairly clever, but he depends more on his endurance and punching abilities than on the scientific end of the game. Conley is a sweet little fighter and has many friends here. He's game to the core and is always coming in. He is a cracking infighter and fairly revels in the clinches and inside stuff. After his draw battle with Abe Attell, the champion stated that Conley was one of the hardest man he had ever mixed with and he predicted that some day he would be champion of the feather division. Of course, Abe meant to add after Mr. Attell had retired from the ring.

Denver Jack Geyer, who has been working out at Doyle's pavilion at Vernon, will leave today for San Francisco, where he is scheduled to meet Gunboat Smith in a twenty-round contest August 17. Geyer will find Gunboat a tough nut to crack, but he's game and confident and that helps a whole lot.

CURLEW DEPARTING; WHERE DO THEY GO?

Anglers along the beach this summer noticed a great showing of curlew and marlins; apparently rather more than usual. Of late these long-billed, long-legged waders have been thinning out noticeably, however, just as they usually do at this season, or occasionally a little later.

Curlew, and all the wading tribe, are recognized along the Atlantic seaboard as game birds and are given a season in the summer. Indeed, that is about all the bird-shooting many eastern gunners ever get; and the opening of the "bay bird season"—all these birds being bunched by gunners under this general classification—is eagerly awaited. In some States the season opens July 15; most of the Atlantic States open it in September.

There has never been any summer season on curlew here, and many shooters regret it, inasmuch as there is a time in summer when the birds are fairly good eating, and could be hunted along the beach with decoys in such a manner as to afford sport of no mean order. When the general season opens on ducks the big waders are gone, for the greater part. About the only argument in support of the present system of denying gunners this opportunity for sport, is the inadvisability of allowing legally shooting at one kind of game which will expose shooters to the temptation offered by another which is protected; and even this hardly holds water, inasmuch as curlew would be shot from blinds dug along the beach in the sand dunes, where ducks never resort. Relatively few curlews would be sought along the fresh-water courses, most of which belong to duck clubs, and these would not allow any shooting, because of disturbing the ducks and injuring the early-season sport.

The destination of the curlew which leave at this time is very much of a question, and sportsmen have two widely-conflicting theories regarding where they go. One is that they fly inland and again take up their residence about fresh water; the other and more plausible is that they go south, following the same general course as the cinnamon teal; in other words that they are a tropical bird, and make this latitude their north, coming here to breed. That they do breed somewhat is proved by their presence in pairs on the rolling uplands back from the ocean, and the finding of young birds in the flocks. Apparently they set about nesting earlier than some of the other game birds, as it is a common occurrence to meet with curlew on the "plains" and rolling hills back of Bay City in Orange county as early as the fore part of May.

The hunting of curlew as conducted in the East is high-class sport. The birds are drawn within range by decoys, supplemented by the most skilful of "calling." An old bay-man can talk the curlew language to perfection. A single "winged" bird will often bring back the flock half a dozen times; and when one considers the variety of birds that will be met with in a day's shooting—curlew, marlins, willets, dowitchers, yellow-legs, knots, plovers, of several different kinds; as well as the hard shots that often offer, it can readily be seen that the local gunners are missing something in being denied this privilege.

SHOOTING DOVES ABOUT OCEANSIDE.

Considerable illicit dove-shooting is going on about Oceanside and is reported in other parts of San Diego county, where the birds are quite as plentiful this year as usual, if indeed, not in somewhat better supply.

The adverse sentiment regarding the present game law is such that no one will give any information of a definite nature regarding these violations. So far as can be ascertained, the birds are killed mostly by ranchers and their friends from the smaller towns who are invited to come out and get a mess. Probably few kill the limit, but stop at enough for a stew, feeling that they are not harming anybody much in killing merely enough to eat.

NOTHING ON US IN METROPOLIS.

Doheny's Hotel Bill the Talk of New York.

Frank Egan Finds Show Shops Busier Here.

All-Star Vaudeville Down at Atlantic City.

BY JULIAN JOHNSON.

"New York, the canyon village, is a promising little place, but it still takes Los Angeles to put over a good-sized, noticeable impression on me."

This is the dictum of actor-maker Frank Egan, who returned yesterday from a month in the home town of all actors.

"The show business in Los Angeles is actually better than it is in New York," continued Mr. Egan. "I mean, comparatively speaking. The one live note in the metropolis is sounded by the roofs, and there, even at $2 per, you have to bring a set of recommendations and book a week in advance to get in.

"You'd be surprised, though, at the way Los Angeles is turning up press dope for itself every day on Broadway.

"All actors want to come out here.

"All managers who have never been West look on Los Angeles as El Dorado. I presume some of them think that it would be possible to clean up here with a tank edition of 'Uncle Tom,' or 'Ten Nights,' so avaricious is the public for dramatic amusement.

"The metropolitan celebrity of Los Angeles started, I believe, with Owens River water.

"They've followed every bit of local fame or notoriety ever since.

"The latest matter of Broadway talk is our oil magnate, Doheny, and his $1000-a-week suite at the Plaza. I suppose he could have gone even better than that at the Ritz-Carlton, but a thousand a week is enough to attract notice, even in the metropolis.

"My own sensation was racing across Long Island late one night in a ninety Simplex, with another ninety Simplex immediately behind, and the road too narrow to pass. The sixteen-mile drive was done at an average speed of a little more than sixty miles an hour. And it wasn't a bubble-water joy ride, either, but the desperate attempt—successful—of twelve tired and hungry people to reach the last boat.

"The classiest show which fell under my notice was last week's gambol of the Comedy Club at Young's Pier, Atlantic City.

"Jim Morton, the 'boy comic,' last seen here at the Empress Theater, was master of the revels, and an uproarious master was he.

"They had different headliners every day.

"Monday, George Cohan and Willie Collier had a fake quarrel on the stage, and the diversion also included Raymond Hitchcock and Conan's funny partner, Sam Harris.

"Tuesday Jim Morton was a star in his own right, and the programme featured others noted in the East, but who haven't yet reached the Coast.

"Wednesday the top liner was none other than our own Blossom Seeley, who was content to remain for several years in a little Main-street house, but who seems to be the real thing in New York.' Lew Dockstader also cavorted.

The next day's stars were Eddie Foy, Cliff Gordon, George ("Honey Boy") Evans, and the extended programme included many known to our vaudeville and legitimate stage—not forgetting the peerless Frank Tinney, last heard of at the Orpheum.

"Nat Wills's stunt consisted of this one story:

"An English maid-servant—the legend ran—was employed by a family who were excessively bad pay. After working for some time, and not being able to collect, the girl decided upon a coup of her own invention, and simply went to bed, refusing to get up.

"The mistress implored.

"The children pleaded.

"The master threatened.

"No use. She wouldn't budge.

"So they called in the family physician. He inquired carefully for symptoms, noted the condition of the alleged patient's pulse and tongue, and then told her to get up, as she had nothing the matter with her, but would have if she continued to lay abed for no cause at all.

" 'I won't get up,' said the maid.

" 'Upon me word, why?' asked the exasperated physician.

" 'Because they owe me £15."

" 'So, that's it, eh? Well, they owe me $150. Move over."

OSWALD AND FLYNN CATCH SIXTY BASS.

That indefatigable sportsman, Frank Oswald, was "at it again," Sunday in company with J. K. Flynn, the scene of their endeavors being the old Mathewson Lake in Ventura county on the Conejo ranch, now leased by the Portrero Club of which Oswald is a member.

The pair went up and back in Oswald's Pope-Hartford, which has been a party to as many hunting trips as any car in the country. In all about sixty black bass were caught, some of them being good ones which Oswald thought would weigh two pounds.

Phantom minnows and pork rind were used for bait. Oswald cuts his pork rind so it will wobble like a hurt fish in the water and puts a small spoon ahead of it to attract the attention of the bass. The "porker" got nearly all the big ones.

SNARE MANY "SURF" IN SHORTEST TIME.

A party of three Los Angeles sinker shyers stole a march on the surf fish a week ago Sunday at Del Mar in San Diego county and fished only one tide, coming back with sixty-three corbina to their credit. Several of them were good ones of better than five pounds weight, too.

As an illustration of how little time it takes to "get 'em," provided one only is fortunate enough to "strike 'em" first, the trip was of interest. The anglers left town Saturday on the 1:15 train; fished that afternoon, evening and early Sunday morning, being back in town by 1 oclock.

The large corbina were full of roe, and bit as gently as perch. Each one when dressed had a handful of cut clam bait in her pouch, showing that the fish had been as busy as the fishermen long before they finally were caught. Frank Oswald, J. K. Flynn and Frank Powell made up the party.

Tommy's Opinion.

NO FIGHTERS, ONLY BOXERS, IN RING TODAY, SAYS RYAN

NO matter where glove contests are permitted in this country the question arises, "What is the difference between boxing and prize fighting?" Several attempts have been made to draw the line in the courts and in some instances promoters have secured decisions in their favor. The most recent champion of scientific boxing is Tommy Ryan of Syracuse, who held the middleweight title after Bob Fitzsimmons relinquished it. Ryan is a close student of fistiana and is able to give an intelligent argument in its favor. In the Buffalo Express the other day he was quoted in this manner:

"The question has often been put to me, 'What is a prize fight if it isn't brutal?' Other persons want to know why the boxers pull and haul, hit in the clinches, and so forth, or why a man will strike his opponent when the latter apparently is only half off the floor. Still others want to know why the boxers shake hands at the start and at the end of a bout and what is the sensation when a man is floored or knocked out.

"First of all, I would say that there is now no such thing as a prize fighter. That word is a misnomer. Thirty or forty years ago it was different, for in those days men fought with the bare knuckles and the sport was brutal, but the name 'prize fight' has stuck to the present day, and what some people persist in calling a 'prize fight' is nothing more or less than a scientific exhibition of the art of attack and self-defense, and of the same nature as any other exhibition of sport which is won by endurance and skill. The exhibitions are not brutal.

"Boxers pull, haul, and hit in clinches because some of them have become accustomed to what is known as 'infighting,' and they are a great deal better when boxing close to their opponents than in sparring at a range. They try to tire out their opponents by the pulling and hauling, which is quite scientific in its way, and by no means as rough as it appears. It is often the style of some boxers to win this way. Sometimes accidents will happen in infighting as they will in any sport.

"On the other hand, the clever and rangy boxer wants to be at arm's length because that is his style and it is at that kind of boxing that he is at his best.

"The reason why one boxer will strike his opponent when the latter is apparently half off the floor is that the Queensberry rules, which govern nearly all boxing bouts of the present day, call a man up when he has both feet on the floor and his head is above his knees. Under the rules a man crouching is just as much up as the man who is erect with his hands in position.

"Boxers seldom have any personal spite, and they show this by shaking hands. It is purely a matter of business with them. It is very seldom that two good boxers face each other in the ring with spite against each other. Mind, I am not claiming that every boxer is a good one, for of all the professions in the world there is a smaller percentage of good men in the ring than in any other business.

"People who don't see many boxing bouts may occasionally see a poor one, and become prejudiced against the sport. They simply judge all by one poor exhibition, probably put up by two men who are not really scientific boxers. The same mistake may occur in any line of sport.

"I have often been asked why a man can be knocked down, get up, and continue the bout, and then claim that he has not been hurt at all. In the first place, a boxer or any man who has ever been knocked down with a boxing blow will agree with me that he couldn't tell where he was hit or anything about what took place after he was hit and until he came to, if he temporarily lost his senses. There is something about a knock-down or knock-out that seems to rob it of all feeling. It is much like a man going into a pleasant dream.

"Nowadays, after a man has been through a hard boxing bout and the papers have told of the many and heavy blows struck and received, people expect the boxer to be all scarred and marked, and are much surprised when they find him much the same as ever and bearing no mementos of a severe battle.

"A boxer to be a boxer has to be in the very best of physical condition, and blows have little or no effect upon him. But if you took a man who had not been through all the hard training and sent him into the ring, every blow would raise a bump or cut him."

Was Scared.

SCOUTS HAD HARD TIME DRAGGING OUT JACKSON.

CLEVELAND (O.) July 21.—"Joe" Jackson, the wonderful right fielder of the Cleveland American League baseball team, is a product of the South Carolina cotton mills on the teams representing which mills, he played prior to the discovery by one of "Connie" Mack's scouts that the barefooted boy was of big league caliber. "Ossie" Schreckengost, the former Athletic catcher, who became famous as the receiver of the erratic "Rube" Waddell, when the big left-hander was in his prime, was the scout who, South Carolinians say, found "Joe" Jackson.

Jackson at that time was playing on the Greenville (S. C.) team and was its best batsman and leading run getter. He went to Greenville after a career on the Piedmont and Mollohon mills teams of the Piedmont section of South Carolina. It was while with the Piedmont mills outfit that the manager of the Greenville team saw him play. He was a country boy then, and what he knew about reading and writing could be put in the left-hand corner of a primary school slate, according to Jackson's Carolina admirers.

Down in Newberry, S. C., where is located the Mollohon mills, they say that it took three railroad trips to get Jackson to Philadelphia, where he played for a brief period last year with the Philadelphia Athletics. At that time the boy had never been in a city of more than 50,000 population, and it is said that he was mortally afraid of the big town. The Athletics' scout on the first attempt to get Jackson North succeeded in piloting him as far as Charlotte, N. C., when the boy decided he had gone far enough and, leaving the train, he successfully hid from Schreckengost. A day later the boy showed up in the Piedmont country.

"What's the matter, Joe; don't you want to be a big leaguer?" the surprised friends of the young star asked.

"No, them big places is too big. Pelzer, Piedmont and Newberry just about suits me," was the gist of his answer, and the next afternoon he was slamming out three-baggers and home runs for the home folks team as of old.

The second trip was a little more successful than the first one, according to Jackson's Carolina friends, in that the cotton mills fielder got about 200 miles nearer to his destination than on the first trip. They say he kept his nerve until he was somewhere in Virginia, and then the memories of the big smokestacks and the cotton fields back in Piedmont got in its work. The end of the story was similar to that of the first, for two days later Joe was back in Piedmont, telling the boys all about it and gleefully exclaiming how glad he was to be back in the home country again.

"A third time the scout appeared and had more heart-to-heart talks with Joe, and once more Joe consented to emigrate to the Pennsylvania metropolis. This time he went all the way and he played a few games with Connie Mack's team. He did fine work and everybody was surprised when Connie Mack let Cleveland get him last spring. Now Connie Mack could not get him back for any price.

This is the story they tell around the Mollohon cotton mills of the departure for the big league of Joe Jackson of the Clevelands. Before the boy got to playing ball for money they say he never wore shoes except in bitter cold weather.

"Shoes were an abomination to him in the olden days," an admirer of the Cleveland rightfielder said the other day. In South Carolina everybody is watching the career of Joe Jackson and every baseball fan in the State is watching with pride the career of the brilliant young player. Every cotton mill in South Carolina has a ball team and in the Piedmont country there is still a lot of good league material, but whether any of it is as good as Jackson, only time can tell. But the big league scouts are looking out for promising youngsters all the time. It might be added that Tyrus Cobb, the great Detroit fielder, came from the Augusta, Ga., country, which is only a short journey from the scenes of Joe Jackson's boyhood.

NOT SO MANY WILL JOURNEY DOWN COAST.

Reports from San Diego coast points out an awful crimp in the hopes of several dozen local sinker-shyers who planned to visit various points along the shore between Mateo and Carlsbad today, and the midnight owl train had less of a sporting aspect last night.

The tides have been very high this year; very much different than the rule, and have been the cause of the unusually heavy currents and rough surf. These conditions are enough to account for the poor fishing without need to look further; and many expert anglers believe September of this year will show phenomenal fishing.

There always is a let-up in surf-fishing about the latter part of July, the large fish leaving presumably to spawn and being replaced by schools of "nippers." This year even the "nippers" have been missed. At best they afforded but poor sport; however, the anglers found them vastly superior to nothing. Small corbina make a fine fry for breakfast, and show the delicate flavor characteristic of these crab-eaters at its best, supplemented by fine grain of flesh and easily separated bones. Whenever the surf angler persistently loses bait and experiences weak "strikes" without hooking anything, he may suspect the presence of "nippers" and a change to No. 8 hooks will frequently fill a basket with the little beggars.

CHANGE IN TRAINING FOR MACK'S ATHLETES.

PHILADELPHIA (Pa.) July 21.—Connie Mack will institute a radical change in the spring training of the Athletics for next season. The reason for a complete change in the usual plans was the unsatisfactory training trip this year. Poor weather, practice limited to afternoons alone, arms damaged by chill breezes, veterans failing to round into shape because of the temperature—all these things have militated against the world's champions.

The Athletics will leave for Texas before the first of March and go straight to San Antonio. A few day's practice under the superheated skies there and Connie expects to have his team playing exhibition games with the local aggregation the first Saturday after arrival of the champions in the Lone Star State. After the spring practice is finished the younger pitchers will come north. There will be two or three games on the road, presumably at Houston, New Orleans and Atlanta, and the youngsters in the twirling corps and the regulars will arrive home in time to open the spring series with the Phillies. The older pitchers will probably pass the time at San Antonio until the regular championship season opens. That will give them an opportunity to keep in perfect trim, and not take any chance with their arms by playing in the inter-league games.

This is the plan that Hughie Jennings adopted this year, and he has been successful. The youngsters, behind a club of the powerful offense of the Tigers, came through with flying colors. This gave the veterans a chance to round to form easily, and not to be called upon to pitch their heads off at the start of the season.

FIRE FIGHTER CHOOSES MOTOR.

SEATTLE CHIEF LIKES KNOX AND GIVES IT BIG BOOST.

His Statement Should Be Considered When It Comes to Settling Matters Concerning Apparatus for Quenching Flames in a Hurry and He Is Out for the Chug Wagons.

In almost every place where the automobile business wagon has been tried, it has proven more economical and reliable than the horse, and nowhere has it shown to greater advantage than in the fire-fighting apparatus. Almost the first city to use the automobile for this purpose was Springfield, Mass. It has proved so successful that the Commissioners are discarding the horse-drawn apparatus for the motor-driven vehicle.

Capt. A. H. Strong of Hose Co. No. 7, Springfield, is much in favor of the motor fire wagons. As he has had charge of a Knox chemical engine for three years he is in a position to know. He has kept an accurate account of both the horse and the automobile, and also the number of times each has been available to answer a call.

He says:

"For the two years and nine months the Knox chemical engine has been in service, the entire cost of upkeep has been $385.60, which includes tires, repairs, gasoline, oil and batteries. Of this amount $315 has been for tires. The car has made 398 runs and the runs average about two miles. The reason our tire cost is so great is that we contract for tires by the year. In the 398 calls there were but five times when the car was not immediately ready, however, we were never delayed longer than five minutes.

"The cost of keeping a horse in a fire house in Springfield is $240 a year, which includes feeding, shoeing and ordinary expenses, but does not include wear on floors and stables, caused by the sharp calks of the horses' shoes. Neither does it include plumbing, maintenance of harness or apparatus, nor depreciation of horses. The first cost of a fire horse is from $250 to $300, and the average life is five years.

"Besides, there is an exercise wagon, which, while costing comparatively little, requires space in the engine house. There is about one hour each day when horses are not available for quick response to fire alarms on account of being out exercising.

"Each team requires a man, at a cost to the city of $1095 a year. This man is not available for fire fighting, as he must be always with his team.

"Summing up the comparative cost: A horse-drawn chemical engine in two years and nine months cost in round numbers $5000 to maintain as against $385 for the motor chemical and our chemical hardly has the new worn off yet. In estimating the yearly cost of the horse-drawn engine, the driver's wages are included, because the driver is not and cannot be, a fire fighter, while the driver of the motor chemical engine is a fire fighter.

"To a city, the least thing to be considered is the cost of its fire-fighting apparatus, and, in spite of the showing we have made, I consider it the least of the many advantages which the motor apparatus has over the horse-drawn."

REO CARRIES IMMENSE LOAD.

Rigged for camping Out, Tourer Reaches This City and Then Starts for Northland.

C. W. Rehnert of Oakland passed through Los Angeles Wednesday on his way to Oakland in a Reo "30." Rehnert drove down the Coast and after a short stop in Los Angeles continued south to San Diego and Tia Juana. He attended the carnival there and returned over the valley road.

The car attracted a great deal of attention when it was halted in front of the Times office at noon, on account of the immense load it carried. The party consisted of three grown people and two children. Every available space was covered with a camping outfit and the bedding was strapped over the hood. Both running boards were completely hidden by boxes and bundles and a large trunk was strapped on the rear. In the trunk was carried the personal effects of the party and along the sides were tied two large tents, tent poles, stakes, fishing and hunting equipment, a stove, cooking utensils, dishes, four extra tires and under the rear seat were provisions which would last several days.

The little Reo had carried this immense load of 4000 pounds without a quiver and the most serious trouble had been a blowout near Jolan.

Rehnert left for the return trip over the Coast route yesterday noon and is now on his way home.

AMATEUR BOXERS MUST WAIT UNTIL SEPTEMBER.

The annual boxing tourney for the amateur championships of Southern California is not to be pulled off until the latter part of September, or possibly October, according to De Witt Van Court, chairman of the S.P.A.A. committee on boxing.

Heretofore the tourney has usually been held in August, but Van Court says that by waiting until early fall when all the boys have returned from their vacations, a larger entry list will be obtained.

at the home of Miss Pearl Berry.

Hollywood, was wedded yesterday morning to N. Newell Kennedy of San Francisco. A curtain of asparagus fern, caught on either side with a large tulle bow, made a beautiful background for the ceremony which was performed by Rev. Baker P. Lee. Thirty friends and relatives witnessed the marriage. The Curtis Ladies' String Quartette, concealed behind potted palms and plants in the music room, played the wedding march.

The bride, who was given away by her father, wore a French lingerie gown of lace over white silk mode en train. She carried a shower bouquet of bridal roses and maiden-hair ferns. She was attended by her friend, Mrs. B. K. Elliott of Berkeley, as matron of honor. The best man was J. Weld of San Francisco.

The living-room was decorated with Shasta daisies, ferns and potted plants.

In the dining-room a color scheme of green and yellow was carried out with coreopsis and ferns. The center-piece on the bride's table was a basket of bridal roses and ferns tied with white tulle. Cecil Brunner roses graced the six breakfast tables, placed on the veranda.

Mr. and Mrs. Kennedy left for Santa Barbara for a short honeymoon, after which they will be at home to their friends in Berkeley. Mrs. Kennedy was a popular graduate this year of the University of California. Mr. Kennedy is connected with Crane and Company of San Francisco.

PASTURES OFFERED MOOSE.

City Extends Invitation to Order to Hold Convention Here Next Year. Supreme Dictator a Visitor.

The official invitation of the city of Los Angeles to the Moose of the world to hold their 1913 convention here, was extended Tuesday, when the City Council passed resolutions promising the keys of cordiality of the city if the order will meet here next year.

E. E. Tanner of Columbus, Supreme Dictator of the Loyal Order of Moose, was the guest of the local lodge, No. 386, and was tendered an elaborate luncheon at the Alexandria grill, followed by an auto trip about the city. He believes that the reputation Los Angeles has as a royal host will stand the city in good stead in the fight to be made in Detroit when the Supreme Lodge convenes on the 21st inst.

Double Tragedy.

"HURRY HOME" HE IS WARNED.

Husband Has Premonition of Evil to Come.

Laughs at Fears, But Finds Bride is Slain.

Slayer, Who Kills Himself, is Former Suitor.

His bride of two months lying dead at the hands of a former suitor and the happiness of life gone out of him, A. J. Grant, an employee of the Los Angeles Gas and Electric Corporation, yesterday blamed himself for failing to heed a premonition that warned him to hurry home yesterday morning. Robbed of his bride, it was little comfort to him that the murderer had taken his own life.

Nemesis, in the person of the slayer of his wife—Emil Holst, an interior decorator of San Francisco—had thrown a shadow over the brief married life of the Grants. Grant had never seen Holst, but his bride has told him of his unwelcomed wooing before Grant wedded her. It was in order to avoid Holst that the couple decided to come to this city. It was to escape his attentions that they changed their residence in this city, but as the sequel proved, to no avail.

Grant, choking with sobs, said yesterday:

"Monday afternoon, while I was working, I was suddenly seized with a desire to go home; I feared something was about to happen. I laughed it down and told myself I was only nervous like any newly-married man.

"This morning the feeling came over me to hurry home. It nearly overpowered me. But I recalled how happy Mrs. Grant had been when I kissed her good-by. My tools nearly fell from my hands through sheer fright, but I remained at work until some one touched me on the shoulder and said:

"'You are wanted at home.'"

FINDS BRIDE SLAIN.

Grant felt that a blow had fallen. The thought of Holst was in his mind, but he fought it down, hoping against hope that nothing serious was the matter.

He almost ran home, not stopping to change his overalls. The landlady, Mrs. B. T. Lucey, met him, and gently placing a detaining hand on his shoulder, begged him not to go upstairs. Grant looked dully at her. He told her to tell him what had happened, that he was prepared for the worst.

"It is the worst, I fear," the landlady replied.

"Is she dead?" Grant asked. His voice came strained, and beads of perspiration broke out on his forehead.

"Yes, she is dead," was the reply.

"Did he come?" The thought that was in his mind was given utterance.

"Yes, he came and shot her. If you had come home sooner, he probably would have shot you for he looked crazy," the landlady said.

Grant, sank into a chair, moaning: "Oh, why didn't I come sooner? Something told me to hurry, but I laughed it down; now it is too late."

When he grew calmer, Grant asked the questions he dreaded to hear. Mrs. Lucey told him, her voice shaking. She said:

HEARS SHOT FIRED.

"Holst came last Wednesday and asked if you lived here. I replied that you did, though I felt at the time I should have said no. I told him neither of you were in. Last Sunday morning he came again and asked for both of you. I told him again you were not in. I told Mrs. Grant about it and she said not to worry you. Mrs. Grant said she had a picture of Holst and would show it to me so that I would know him if he came again, and would not let him in. She forgot to show me the picture. I told him this morning that neither you nor Mrs. Grant was in. He said, 'Well, I'll see,' and brushing me aside, ran upstairs to your room. I followed. I heard him say something in a low voice, and Mrs. Grant told him he ought to be ashamed of himself. Then he fired quickly and I heard their bodies fall."

As she finished speaking, Grant drew a registered letter from his pocket. "There is a letter he wrote us. It hasn't been opened. Now that he has been here, there will be no profit in reading it. I will burn it unopened."

NOTE TELLS OF DEATH.

In Holst's pocket the police found a note which he had written and which he evidently expected would be accepted as a suicide pact between himself and Mrs. Grant. The note reads:

"If we cannot live together we will die together. (Signed) Irene, Emil." Another note directed that the money found on his person be given to his children living at No. 1716 Belmont Court. He had $180 in his pocket.

A card was also found bearing the name of Dr. J. Green of San Francisco. The latter stated yesterday that he knew nothing of Holst, except that he had been a patient and appeared to be erratic. The latter part of last week Holst told Dr. Green he was going to Los Angeles to visit a sick son.

Before Grant married her, she was Mrs. Irene Eade, a trained nurse in San Francisco, and had two children by her former husband. Holst was sent a wedding invitation, and, for a time, discontinued his attentions to Mrs. Grant. After they had been married two weeks, Mrs. Grant insisted on moving, and they changed apartments several times, finally to come to this city to get rid of Holst.

THINKS HE'S DERANGED.

Mrs. Holst was nearly prostrated by the tragedy. She lives at No. 1716 Belmont court. She declared the only way she can account for her husband's act is that he was temporarily insane. Seven years ago, she says, he was a victim of lead poisoning at their former home in Niagara Falls, and has suffered greatly ever since. Often, she says, he told her that he had nothing to live for.

Mrs. Grant was not known to Mrs. Holst, according to the latter, and she does not believe that her husband knew the woman he killed.

On Monday she received a letter from him offering to send her money to buy tickets to return to their former home in Jamestown, N. Y., which they left four years ago to come to Los Angeles. She says Holst has been a perfect husband during the last year and a half, and he has been working at his trade in Portland and San Francisco and has provided for his family well. Only with his eldest son, Albert, aged 16, Holt was unable to get along, and the father's treatment of him is adduced by the widow as evidence of his sanity.

The funeral services for Mrs. Grant and Holst will be held at the John R. Paul undertaking chapel tomorrow afternoon at 2 o'clock. Interment will be at Forest Lawn Cemetery.

Figures in Tragedy, that snuffed out two lives at the pistol's point yesterday. Above is Emil Holst, who shot and killed Mrs. Rena Grant, bride of A. J. Grant, shown below, afterward turning the weapon upon himself with fatal efficiency. He is believed to have committed the act in a fit of insanity. Jealousy, the result of disappointed love, is hinted at, but denied by Mrs. Holst, who says that her husband did not know Mrs. Grant.

Homesick.

TRIES HARD TO DIE BUT FAILS.

MAN USES ROPE AND PISTOL WITHOUT SUCCESS.

Landscape Gardener Engages Room in North Main-street Hotel and is Apprehended in Act of Making Third Attempt at Suicide. Believed to Be Recovering.

Though the police say he made three attempts to kill himself, Jean Baptiste Buis, a Frenchman, is in the County Hospital and believed to be recovering. The attempts were made with a rope, a revolver and a knife. Nostalgia is believed to have been the cause.

Buis is 42 years old and a landscape gardener. About 10 o'clock Monday night he engaged a room in the Union Hotel No. 704 North Main street. He fastened a rope about his neck and to a hook in the clothes closet and then sat down. The hook broke, foiling that attempt.

Buis next took a dueling pistol and fired several shots into his right ear. The pistol was one of the old type of French arms and had to be reloaded after each shot.

The bullets did not penetrate a vulnerable portion of his head so he spread a quilt on the floor and reclined upon it, apparently intending to cut his throat with a knife. At this juncture Ernest Lombardo, proprietor of the hotel, broke open the door. Buis was taken to the Receiving Hospital and then to the County Hospital.

In one of his pockets were several letters addressed to Buis, at several different addresses, but at none of them could the police learn anything of him. Louis Sentous, the French Consul, is investigating in the hope of finding some of Buis's friends.

KIDNAPED CHILDREN FOUND.

Police Sergeant Sees Them Alight From Street Car and They Are Sent to Detention Home.

Peggy and Walter Elder, aged 8 years and 4 years, respectively, who disappeared in company with their father about two weeks ago, were found by Sergeant Ross yesterday afternoon and were taken to the Central Police Station and later to the Detention Home, where they will await the arrival of their mother from Redlands.

Elder, his wife said, attempted to take his own life a few months ago and acted in a manner which caused her to fear him. She said he later left her and she secured the custody of the children. July 18 he suddenly appeared at their home in Redlands and chatted pleasantly with her. When he was about to leave he asked permission to take their two children for a short walk. The mother consented upon condition that he would return with them within an hour.

When the time elapsed and they did not appear, Mrs. Elder became alarmed. The father and children were traced to the depot and there it was said the children had been placed aboard a train. The mother notified the Los Angeles police and sent a description of the children and the father.

Sergeant Ross saw the children get off a car on Main street and saw that they answered the description of the children who had disappeared from Redlands. He took them to the station and there they told the police they had been living at No. 6026 Echo street, where their father had taken them.

The police are now looking for Elder.

The mother has been notified and will take the children home.

RELIEF CORPS RITUALS.

For the Benefit of Members in This Section the Secret Ceremony Is Exemplified by Officers.

The ritualistic work of the Woman's Relief Corps was exemplified yesterday afternoon, in Mammoth Hall, for the benefit of the corps in this section. Members from the four corps of this city were chosen to do the work. The Department Inspector, Kate Reed Field, was the inspecting officer.

The women acting as officers were as follows: President, Ella Van Horn, Bartlett-Logan Corps; Senior Vice-President, Mattie Brown, Stanton Corps; Junior Vice-President, Jean Barrows, Uncle Sam Corps; Secretary, Jennie Heffelfinger, Bartlett-Logan Corps; Treasurer, Sarah A. Martin, Bartlett-Logan Corps; Chaplain, Mary M. Weeks, Kenesaw Corps; Conductor, Jennie Dravoe, Stanton Corps; Assistant Conductor, Alleen Anderson, Stanton Corps; Guard, Florence Phillips, Uncle Sam Corps; Assistant Guard, Annie Cowan, Kenesaw Corps; Patriotic Instructor, Marie Swigart, Stanton Corps; Press Correspondent, Ida E. Carpenter, Uncle Sam Corps; Color Bearers, Frances Monroe, Elizabeth Wright, Cora Radford and Mamie Dean, all of Stanton Corps; Musician, Grace Willard, Stanton Corps. The Auditing Committee was Jennie Hall, Uncle Sam Corps; Lydia McFall, Bartlett-Logan; Carrie Brunger, Kenesaw Corps.

Ten were selected from each of the four corps of the city to perform the work of floor members.

LOCAL PRODUCE MARKET.

Eggs, butter and cheese prices did not change. The market continues firm.

Supplies of apples are heavy, demand is slack, and the market remains weak. There is a wide range in prices, owing to variable quality.

Lemons sold slower. Holdings are only moderate, but the cooler weather has greatly curtailed the consumption.

Watermelons were only in fair demand. The market is overstocked, and prices are comparatively low.

Prices of local tomatoes were reduced, due to increased receipts, and only a fair inquiry.

Prices on local cantaloupes are exceedingly low. Yesterday locals in large crates were quoted at $2.00, while the small crates were quoted at $1.00. The receipts continue heavy.

Sweet corn is cheaper, though it is not plentiful. Buyers are indifferent. As a rule the quality is poor.

Peaches are in fair demand and prices firm.

The poultry market continues weak. The demand is only for young spring chickens. The receipts far exceed the demand.

Egg receipts were 125 cases. The market is firm. The demand is for the beter grades.

Butter receipts were 55,265 pounds. The market easily retains all the firm features noted last week, but the demand has not been strong enough to enable sellers to strain prices.

Cheese receipts were 1676 pounds. The market is firm.

Potato receipts were 1356 sacks. The market is firm to steady.

Onion receipts totaled 20 sacks. The market is weak.

Bean receipts were 256 sacks. Sweet potato receipts were 26 sacks. The sweet potato market is weak, due to the light demand.

Six hundred and twenty-six boxes of Northern apples were reported in. The bulk of the apple receipts were Gravensteins.

LOS ANGELES EXCHANGE.

The Market Among the Oil Shares Is Bearish, and the Trading Nothing to Brag About.

Something happened to the oil market on the Los Angeles Exchange yesterday, and prices in most instances dropped slightly. The bearish tendency was sensational in character, but Union Oil, the most active share, closed at 101.12 1-2, off 12 1-2, and Mexican Petroleum common also lost to the same extent.

The exceptions were Mexican Petroleum preferred, which made a gain of $2 a share, and Associated, which was up 12 1-2 cents a share. Consolidated Midway was almost lost sight of by the buyers.

SAN FRANCISCO EXCHANGE.

Early Comstock Prices Were the Best of the Day—Round Mountain Makes a Gain—Other Shares.

[Special Service to The Times by B. F. Taylor, 118 West Fourth street, Los Angeles.]

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 8.—The opening prices of the Comstocks were in most instances the best of the day. Trading at no time was large in this department; Mexican closed off 5, Union 2½, Ophir and Consolidated Virginia unchanged. It is generally understood around the exchange that the price of Mexican is going to be advanced considerably.

The Tonopahs were quiet, Tonopah Mining closed 5¾ bid up 5.

The Goldfields did not attract a great deal of attention. Consolidated and Florence were each off 2½. Merger opened 25 bid sold down to 23 and closed 23@24, off 2. The company will start the sinking of a four-compartment shaft, the work starting September 1. President J. Ross Clark leaves for Goldfield in a few days.

The strongest stock in the list is Round Mountain, closed 70 bid, no stock offered, up 4 points. The price of this stock has been advancing steadily.

Nevada Hills lost 5 points in sympathy with New York where it closed 3 5-8@3 7-8. Work below the seventh level of the Nevada Hills property has been suspended for some time owing to the large amount of water in the mine and pending the installation of the electric pumps on the eighth level. Development particularly on the seventh level has been meeting with favorable results. A rich ore chute has been encountered and at last accounts has been developed for a distance of 250 feet; for 200 feet the ore averages more than $100 per ton and in places up to $300 for a width of five feet, or an average of 10 feet in width this chute assays $80 per ton over 200 feet in length.

William Cossar had succeeded in opening up a body of good milling ore on 50-foot level of his lease on the Hat claim of the Blue Bull.

Production of the Tonopah mines last week was valued at $157,850.

TRICKY MARKET FOOLS TRADERS.

FLOOD OF SELLING ORDERS IN AT OPENING OF DAY.

Wheat, However, Picks Up and Closes Good Sized Fraction Over Previous Day—Corn Likewise Makes Small Advance—Bulls Hesitate in Oats.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

CHICAGO, Aug. 8.—It was a tricky speculative market today in wheat. The trade was filled with selling orders to catch an expected higher opening. A quick break resulted, and not withstanding Canadian fears of frost as well as rust, the close was ⅛ to ¼ under last night. Latest trading left corn ⅛@⅛ to ⅜ up; oats irregular, ⅛ lower to ⅜@½ higher, and provisions ranging from 7½ to 10, decline to 7½ advance. Oversharp dealers figured that with the weather cool and wet in the Canadian Northwest the price of wheat would show a bullish performance. Crop experts declared the atmospheric conditions just the thing to spread the black rust and to hold the growing grain back enough to increase the chance of frost damage about the middle of the month. There was an advance, but it practically amounted to nothing. Subsequently some early traders bought on the soft spots and there was a rally. September fluctuated between 92⅞ and 93¾, closing easy 7⅛ down, at 92⅞.

Corn traders feared bullish crop figures from Washington. September ranged from 64⅞@64⅝ to 65, and closed firm ⅛@⅛ net higher at 64⅞@65. Cash grades were steady; No. 2 yellow finished at 64½@64⅝.

With the new crop of oats moving freely, bulls hesitated without trying to force advance for that cereal. High and low points for the September option proved to be 42⅛ and 41⅛, with the close ¼ off at 41⅜. Long taking profits eased the market for hog products. At the end of the day pork was 5 lower to 7½ up, lard down 2½ to 7½@10 and ribs at a shade to 5@7½ decline.

Cash quotations were as follows: Flour, firm; No. 2 rye, 87; feed or mixing barley, 60@90; fair to choice malting, 1.02@1.12; timothy seed, 10.00@12.00; clover, 10.00@17.50; mess pork, per bbl., 18.00@18.12½; lard, per 100 lbs., 8.97½; short ribs, sides (loose,) 8.75@9.37; short clear sides (boxed,) 9.00@9.25.

NEW YORK COTTON MARKET.

[Special Service to The Times by E. F. Hutton & Co., Members N. Y. Stock Exchange, 118 West Fourth street, Los Angeles.]

NEW YORK, Aug. 8.—As a result of the covering of the large short interest on yesterday's advance the technical position of the market today was so weakened that leading bulls found it necessary to withdraw supporting orders. Liverpool was very weak, and spot sales of only five thousand bales were put through at a decline of five points. This was attributed to the English railroad strike, but it is probable that poor prospects for trade had more to do with it, as the British Board of Trade statement for July shows a falling off in exports of yarns amounting to 994,000 pounds, as compared with July a year ago, and a falling off in cloths of 92,785,000 yards. The weekly weather report was favorable, and the weather over the belt today was all that could be desired. New Orleans and commission houses with southern connections were good sellers throughout the session, indicating that the crop is still making favorable progress.

Logan & Bryan's letter says:

"Advices from abroad were disappointing. Liverpool resuming business after her holidays at a decline of 7 to 8 points, and at the close was 17 to 18 points lower than her previous close. Private cable advices from that side stated that a large crop was considered assured, the short interest small, and that the railway strike was assuming serious proportions. The enormous buying that was in evidence yesterday that served to lift values about one dollar per bale was lacking in today's trading, and the market was left to follow the influence of crop and trade news, both of which were against cotton values, prices felt the effect in a sharp decline. Initial prices were 10 to 12 points down, and the decline continued practically uninterrupted until the 11½ cent level was reached, where the bulls made a temporary stand, and attempted to arrest the decline, but the volume of cotton offered was too heavy, and especially in view of the fact that offerings of spots were increasing, and quotations were being lowered in the absence of demand. The decline extended to the end of the session, with the close at the lowest of the day, 40 to 43 points down. It is futile to expect a substantial rally in prices as long as weather conditions and crop progress are such as to warrant the belief that an already large promise is being added to daily, and the demand is not in sight to take care of the movement."

STOCKS OPEN UP; CLOSE AT LOSS.

LONDON ADVICES BULLISH, BUT FEELING SHORTLIVED.

Free Selling of Minor Grade Stocks Throws Almost Entire List on Toboggan Slide—Copper Production Larger Though Demand Shows Some Falling Off.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

NEW YORK, Aug. 8.—The stock market opened most auspiciously today, London sending over a list of American stocks that ranged ½ to 1½ point advance. The improved tone was short lived, however, selling of a number of the minor grade stocks at marked declines precipitating further selling, which finally overtook the entire list and recorded the lowest level attained in some months. On the decline prices fell so sharply as to indicate that many stop-loss orders were uncovered, and all securities conditions implied that exhausted margins were among the collateral causes of the movement. In the last hour prices recovered from fractions to a point or more in Union Pacific, United States Steel, Reading, and some less active issues, while Canadian Pacific regained two points of its extreme decline. The tone of the market at the close was heavy and hesitating. News of the day included the July statement of the copper producers' association, which was favorable in the sense that production was much under the previous month, even though demand was smaller. The declaration of the usual semi-annual dividend of Chicago and Alton prior lien stock after some delay was another incident, and conjecture was rife with the showing which the United States Steel figures of "unfilled tonnage" to be issued on Thursday will make. A small increase over June's statement of 3,361,000 tons is expected. Merchandise exports from this port for current week fell over $4,600,000, compared with the same last year, but the movement for the calendar year is almost $70,000,000 over 1910. The bond market was easy. Total sales, par value, $2,046,000. United States government bonds were unchanged on call.

THE COPPER INDUSTRY.

[Special Service to The Times by E. F. Hutton & Co., Members N. Y. Stock Exchange, 118 West Fourth street, Los Angeles.]

Copper production in Butte for July shows about 1,000,000 pounds decrease from the official estimate of a few days ago. The output at the Washoe smelter was 15,050,400 pounds; Great Falls smelter, 6,002,000 pounds, or a total Anaconda output of 21,052,400 pounds copper. East Butte production is officially stated at about 1,000,000 pounds, and that of the Tuolumne at 500,000 pounds.

Copper exports for July, as per figures of the New York Metal Exchange, amounted to 34,965 tons. The following table shows the movement by months since January, 1908:

Notwithstanding that they have not appeared in the domestic market as sellers of copper below 12¾ cents the United Metals Selling Company, American Smelting and Refining Company and other large sellers of the metal have, according to private cables, openly offered electrolytic in Europe at the equivalent of 12½ cents. In Germany the Guggenheims have made offerings at 118 marks. Members of the association in their estimates of the July statement of the copper producers vary from 10,000,000 pounds decrease to an even greater reduction in stocks. Preliminary figures show that the month's exports reflected very considerably the heavy sales of copper booked during May for foreign account. Domestic shipments should approximate 60,000,000 pounds.

The excessive heat prevailing during the opening days of July were sufficient to cause cessation of operations in some portion of the refineries along the Atlantic seaboard, which will be reflected in a smaller production of refined copper for the month.

The trade has had the report that Calumet & Hecla had sold 10,000,000 pounds of Lake at 13 cents, but a transaction of such volume could hardly seem likely with concessions offering elsewhere.—Boston News Bureau.

Manager George W. Heintz of the United States Smelting Company has returned from an inspection of the Gold Roads mine, in Arizona, just purchased by his company. He says they propose to increase the mill plant from 200 to 300 tons daily. There are two shafts and the principal development work is being carried on between the 300 and 700-foot levels.

The ore carries average values in gold of from $15 to $20 and the output from the mine is to be increased by 100 tons daily.

In running a crosscut from its new shaft the Adventure Copper Company management did not receive any great encouragement from the character of the ground encountered. The shaft has thus far been dropped to about 100 feet below No. 1 vein from which point the crosscut was started to tap No. 2 vein. Drifting along the vein should start very shortly.

With its recent assessment of $1 a share levied on stockholders the Adventure treasury has sufficient funds to carry along development work for at least another year.

Boston Copper Market.

[Furnished by Logan & Bryan, Members New York and Boston Stock Exchanges, Bradbury Building, Los Angeles.]

BOSTON (Mass.) Aug. 8.—The New York list continued erratic with heavy liquidation every time the market would take it. We feel convinced that the artificial level of railroads and industrials is going to be lowered and the public given a chance to buy stock at attractive prices. We advise sales at present prices. The local coppers are apparently liquidated to a standstill and the sharp break in the New York list only brings out offerings of odd lots. The copper producers report was distinctly favorable, but received only passing notice on account of lack of speculation.

COPPER STATISTICS.

MONTHLY STATEMENT.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

NEW YORK, Aug. 8.—The monthly statement of the Copper Producers' Association for July shows a decrease in stocks on hand of almost 20,000,000 pounds, compared with the previous month. Domestic deliveries fell, but this was partly offset by exports. The total deliveries over 1,300,000 pounds under the previous months. The detailed statement follows: Stock of marketable copper of all kinds on hand at all points in the United States, July 1, 157,424,164. Production of marketable copper in the United States from all domestic and foreign sources during July, 112,167,934. Deliveries of marketable copper during July: For domestic consumption, 56,962,582; for export, 74,880,658; total, 131,843,240. Stock of marketable copper of all kinds on hand at all points in the United States, August 1st, 137,738,858.

ABOUT YOUR OWN FIRST NAME.

Its Origin and the Famous Folk Who Have Borne It.

EMANUEL

MANUEL

An Old Hebrew Name Which Expressed a Dedication to Deity—The Emperors of Constantinople Who First Made the Name Famous—The Two Royal Manuels of Portugal—Swedenborg, Swedish Theologian, Kant, German Metaphysician and Grouchy, French Marshal, and What They Did to Make Their Names Remembered—Other Men of the Name—The Painter Emmanuel Leutze.

BY FRANCES MARSHALL.

Emmanuel is one of the names of Hebrew origin which signified a sort of dedication to the Deity; that is to say, a name containing a syllable, usually at the beginning or end, which had a divine meaning. Joshua was one of these names; and there was another great group, containing Elizabeth, Elisha, Elias, and other names, which began with the divine title El. Emmanuel contains this same Hebrew word, but of the end instead of at the beginning of the name. It is in this sense of dedication rather than as one of the names applied to divinity, that this name is used by man.

Emmanuel or Immanuel means God with us—"Imm' meaning with, "an" being the pronoun, and "El," the old Hebrew word signifying divinity.

The Christian Greeks were the first to use this name. They called it Manuel, and that form of the name became usual in Spain and Portugal, the feminine Menuelita. Italy took the name as Manovello. Immanuel and Emmanuel, with one of the "ms" sometimes omitted, are used in France, Germany, England and the countries of Scandinavia.

In spite of the ancient and interesting history of this name it has never been very usual; but for an unusual name it can claim a great number of world-famed bearers. One of the great metaphysilians and one of the most interesting theologians of modern times and soldiers, kings, writers and artists whose names are known to all the world have been called by this name in some one of its forms.

The first great man of the name, and the man whose popularity did much to spread it, was the Grecian emperor of Constantinople, Manuel I, or Manuel Comnenus. He was born in 1122, and when he was twenty-one years old he succeeded his father in the imperial chair.

His reign was filled with warfare, in Asia and in Europe. He carried on especially harrassing war with Roger, Kin gof Sicily. The Crusaders had these wars to thank for their easy passage through Manuel's domain; for in 1147 a vast body of Crusaders, under the leadership of Conrad III. of Germany and Louis VII. of France, passed through the eastern empire with little trouble because Manuel and his followers were already busy fighting.

Manuel Comnenus' reign was marked as a reign of great splendor; but his many wars and his forgetfulness of trade, of which the more enterprising merchants of Italy gained possession, impoverished the empire.

Manuel II., called Palaeologus, emperor from 1391 to 1425, had much trouble with the Turks in the early part of his reign. But for almost eighteen years before 1422 he was at peace. Then an unfriendly Sultan came to the Turkish throne, and trouble broke out again between Turkey and Constantinople. After signing a humiliating treaty with the Turks, Manuel II. became desperately ill, and after his partial recovery he retired to a monastery, where he died a few years later.

The two other royal Manuels were kings of Portugal. Manuel II., the ill-starred young king, who was recently deposed, was a sorry namesake of Manuel I., surnamed the Great, the king who governed Portugal in the days of her greatest power.

Manuel I. mounted the throne in 1469 and ruled for fifty-three years. He was a patron of arts and letters, and of conquest and exploration. It was his generosity which sent Vasco da Gama around the cape, Cabral on the voyage in which he accidentally touched the shore of South Africa, Albuquerque to the East Indies and other Portuguese travelers and explorers to other parts of the globe.

The three most interesting men of this name who were not kings—and perhaps their lives stand for more than the four royal Manuels—were Emmanuel Swedenborg, the Swedish scientist and theologian, Immanuel Kant, the German metaphysician, and Emmanuel Grouchy, French marshal.

The first of these in point of time was Swedenborg, although when he was born in 1688, his name was not Swedenborg, but Svedberg; it was changed in 1719 when he became ennobled. His father was the bishop of Skara, and took particular care of the son's education, bringing him up in the ways of the Lutheran Church. Emmanuel from early boyhood displayed a strongly religious disposition, and his fond parents used to say that angels spoke to him as he lay in his cradle.

It was as a scientist that Swedenborg first gained fame. He held several positions in Sweden, after his education had been completed with travel in Europe, Holland, Germany and England. But in 1745 Swedenborg professed to have had his eyes opened and from that date he became interesting as a seer, and because of the new religion he promulgated, rather than as a scientist.

Immanuel Kant, next in point of time, has exerted perhaps as great an influence on present-day thought as has Swedenborg. He was born in Germany in 1724, the son of a saddle maker of Scotch descent. With the help of a rich uncle, he received a good education; he studied philosophy, mathematics, physics and theology at the university of his native town of Konigsberg. For nine years Kant served as tutor in several families, and in 1755 took his degree from Konigsberg and began to lecture.

Kant remained at the university of Konigsberg until his death in 1804, although he had many tempting calls to other universities. He was a bachelor, and never traveled, and although he was kindly and courteous in manner, he was a man of strict and unflinching character. But in spite of the fact that his life was so quiet and calmly spent, Kant's influence spread throughout Europe and America by means of the works of metaphysics which he wrote.

Emmanuel, Marquis de Grouchy, was born in 1766. When he was fourteen he entered the French army, and by the time he was twenty-five he had risen to be a captain in the royal body guards.

In spite of his birth and education, Grouchy sympathized with the French revolution leaders, and when the war broke out he resigned his position in the royal troops and entered a line regiment. He soon rose, because of good service, to be a brigadier-general.

When Napoleon gained his power, Grouchy became one of his most trusted companions and followers. He too ka prominent part in all the Napoleonic campaigns, and during the dreadful retreat from Moscow led the imperial body guard, officers who were called the "sacred squadron."

With the defeat of Napoleon, Grouchy found himself out of favor in government circles. But he bided his time, and when Napoleon returned from his imprisonment on Elba, Grouchy was one of the first to offer his services, and stayed by the Emperor's side until Waterloo. The story of Waterloo is really the story of Grouchy's failure to bring reinforcements to Napoleon at the right moment. "I would have gained the day but for his stupidity," exclaimed Napoleon angrily, commenting on Grouchy's mistake.

And although Grouchy tried to make up for his fatal error in judgment the empire was lost, Napoleon was sent to St. Helena, and Grouchy spent the rest of his life trying to justify his actions before the world. Upon the second restoration, Grouchy was exiled, and he spent five years of his exile in Philadelphia.

Besides these three greatest men of the name several others have gained fame in various other walks of life. One of these is Emmanuel Hiel, a Flemish poet of the first order, who began active life as a bookseller. Another is Emanuel Leutze, a German-American painter, who died in 1868. Leutze was born in Germany in 1816, and removed with his parents to the United States. He displayed a liking for painting, and was placed under the instruction of a portrait painter of Philadelphia. One of the pictures he painted at this time attracted attention, he obtained orders for several other pictures, and so gained money which enabled him to study in Europe. He lived part of his subsequent life in Dusseldorf, Germany, and part in America, and he died in a room at Washington which looked out on the national capitol, where one of his most popular pictures, "Westward Ho!" still attracts attention. Some of his other well-known pictures are "Washington Crossing the Delaware," "Milton Entertaining Cromwell," and "The Amazon and Her Children."

Emmanuel Lasker, born in Germany in 1868, at one time world chess champion, and Emmanuel Las Cases, companion and historian of Napoleon Bonaparte at St. Helena, are two other famous men of this name.

THE RAILWAY WORLD.

A new method of demonstrating to employees the importance of saving small things is set forth by the Pere Marquette Railroad in the current issue of the Railroad Employees Magazine.

Where several other roads have shown their employees how five or ten cents a day may be saved, the Pere Marquette presents a table showing the cost of variously small articles commonly wasted, in terms of mileage for a ton of freight. This shows that every time a postage stamp is used needlessly the company must haul a ton of freight three and a half miles. Other similar examples are: Lead pencil, two miles; track spike, two miles; one lamp chimney, ten and a half miles; station broom, thirty-five miles; lantern, 100 miles; track shovel, ninety miles; 100 pounds of coal, twenty miles; one gallon engine oil, fifty miles.

The summaries of the Interstate Commerce Commission show that on June 30, 1910, there was a total single track mileage of 240,538.84 miles in the United States, including an increase of 3,604.77 miles over the corresponding mileage at the close of the previous year. All increase in mileage exceeding 100 miles appears for the States of California, Florida, Georgia, Minnesota, Mississippi, Nevada, Oklahoma, Oregon, Texas, Washington and West Virginia and the Territory of Arizona. Substantial complete returns were rendered to the commission for 240,830.75 miles of line operated, including 10,357.19 miles used under trackage rights. The aggregate mileage of railway tracks of all kinds covered by operating returns was 351,766.59 miles.

The number of passengers carried during the year ending June 30, 1910, was 971,683,199. The corresponding number of passengers carried during the year over 1909 was 80,210,774. The number of passengers carried one mile, or the passenger mileage, as compiled for 1910, was 32,338,496,329. The corresponding return for 1909 was 3,229,173,740 less. The number of passengers carried one mile per mile of road was 138,250.

The Soo line and Baltimore and Ohio roads will come into close relationship in the Chicago traffic field in a plan by which the Soo will spend $6,000,000 for a direct entrance into the terminals in Chicago. Soo line, or Wisconsin Central, passenger trains will no longer use the Illinois Central passenger station on the lake front in Chicago when the plan is complete, but will enter instead the Grand Central passenger station owned by the Baltimore and Ohio. Freight terminals of the Soo will adjoin the Baltimore and Ohio freight terminals.

The Rock Island lines recently operated for the Kansas Agricultural College a wheat special which visited eighty-five towns and covered 1735 miles. The total attendance at the several towns visited was 25,145.

The Rock Island lines in the past eleven months have operated agricultural trains in ten States. These trains have covered 10,640 miles, have been operated eighty working days and on them have been held 682 meetings, with a total attendance of 172,893.

E. S. Conway, a wealthy manufacturer of Chicago, in an article entitled "What Waterway Transportation Means to the State," declares that "carefully prepared statistics demonstrate the fact that of the sum total of every man's living expenses more than 50 per cent. goes for the transportation of the article he and his family consume. It is also estimated that we pay in transportation rates the sum of $26 for every man, woman and child in the United States."

President Ripley of the Santa Fe replies to this. It is true, he says, "that the gross earnings of the railways of the United States amount each year to about $20 for each of our population, but does Mr. Conway really believe, or think he can make any one else believe, that this constitutes one-half of the cost of living in the United States? The average American family contains perhaps four or five persons. Does Mr. Conway believe that the cost of living of the average American family is only $4 or $5 a week?

"The average amount per capita per year received by Mr. Conway's concern and the other manufacturers of the United States for their products is about $180, or seven times as much as the amount per capita received by the railways for the transportation they sell. The average value per capita of the agricultural products produced in the United States each year is about $75, or almost three times as much as the average cost per capita of railway transportation. What becomes of all these manufactured and agricultural products?

"Mr. Conway may answer that part of them are exported. That is true. But when the foreigner pays for these goods he also pays the freight on them, so that it is as fair to say that the people of the United States have to pay each year $180 per capita for supporting their manufacturers and $75 per capita for supporting agriculture as that they have to pay $26 per capita for transportation. It is well known that between the time that manufactured and agricultural products pass from the hands of the manufacturer and farmer and that they reach the consumer, the commission merchant, the jobber and the retail merchant must get their profits out of them. In view of these facts, could there be any more monumental nonsense than to say, as Mr. Conway does, that the cost of transportation constitutes one-half of the total cost of living in the United States?"

Battle Stories of The Civil War.

The War Day by Day Fifty Years Ago

CV.

August 9, 1861—The Confederate Privateer York Was Chased Ashore by a Union Vessel at Cape Hatteras and Fired by Her Own Crew—Activities of the Southern Privateers Causing Worry to Northern Ship Owners.

FIFTY years ago today a "long, low, rakish" schooner such as figure in pirate tales, was chased by a union gunboat off Cape Hatteras until she struck the beach, and was then set on fire by her own crew and abandoned to the flames.

The schooner was the Confederate privateer York. Her end was typical of what was to be expected by her owners, and was no doubt accepted by them as part of the hazard of their business. That they escaped a northern prison doubtless helped them to regard philosophically the loss of their schooner.

Southern privateers were not held as prisoners of war at that stage of the great conflict, but were tried as pirates.

The United States did not engage in privateering, which had also been abandoned, by international agreement, in Europe. The attitude of the Federal government, therefore, toward privateering, was held to be proper and logical by the authorities at Washington.

Those at Richmond, however, held another view, claiming that privateering was an ancient institution, that the southern privateers were legitimately commissioned private armed ships of war, and that their crews were entitled when taken to treatment as prisoners of war, subject to exchange.

Under these circumstances the destruction or capture of a Confederate privateer fifty years ago this time caused a stir both in the north and the south quite out of proportion to the amount of property involved.

The captured privateersmen were never referred to by northern newspapers as other than "pirates," or "the pirate crew," and more often than not a mob jeered at their heels when they were taken to prison or to court in Philadelphia or New York.

Such captures were the cause of deep irritation between the Confederate and United States governments, for the Confederates adopted a system of reprisals on union prisoners that was intended to be severe enough to force the United States government into recognizing privateers as prisoners of war.

Whenever a privateer crew escaped capture, therefore, the south rejoiced, and wise men in the north had little cause for sorrow, for the whole business of privateering and its train of events was one of the least engaging in the trade of war.

York Was From Norfolk.

The privateer York was from Norfolk. Built at Baltimore, she had been engaged as a pilot boat at Hampton Roads before the war, had been fitted with a single pivot gun, a six-pounder—that could be expected to do little execution except on unarmed vessels—and with a crew of thirty men, a large company for a vessel of but fifty tons in command of Capt. John Goeffrey, sailing under letters of marque and reprisal (as a privateer's papers were called) from the Confederate government, had put to sea on July 9.

As it was not the intention of Capt. Goeffrey to go far from the coast, cruising ground was chosen off Cape Hatteras, where shipping passing north and south came near the land.

There was a comfortable harbor near the cape at Hatteras inlet, and there the schooner made her headquarters, sailing out when the coast was clear, and harboring snugly under the guns of a sand fort at the end of each short cruise.

A month of this sort of cruising was productive of two prizes. The first, taken about July 25, was the brig B. T. Martin of Boston, Capt. C. A. French, from Philadelphia to Cardenas, with a cargo of sugar-mill machinery, stores and potatoes.

This prize was worth about $25,000, being an excellent haul for a schooner valued at $8000 at the outside. Her captain and crew were taken aboard the York, and a prize crew was put on the brig to take her into port.

The adventurers on the York already saw a fat sum coming to each of them as a result of this stroke of fortune. They were counting their chickens before they were hatched, however. As the brig approached the land her crew ran her ashore rather than to attempt taking her into the shallow channel at Hatteras inlet.

It was their intention to remove her cargo on the beach, but while they were engaged in the work the Union appeared.

The gunboat at once began shelling the brig, driving off the large force of men busy on the cargo and stripping the vessel of sails and rigging. Boats were then sent ashore to destroy the brig's cargo and set fire to the vessel.

This effectively done, the Federal sailors, delighted with the success of their work, withdrew to their ship and steamed away.

The York made no other prize until August 8, when she fell in with the schooner George G. Baker, bound for New York. This vessel was already a prize, having been captured at Galveston by the blockading steamer South Carolina. She was on her way north in charge of a prize crew of five men from the South Carolina, in command of Master's Mate W. Abbott.

The Union sailors were congratulating themselves, without doubt, on having reached Cape Hatteras—where they could "turn the corner" of the coast and enter on the last stage of their voyage—when the saucy little York, painted lead color and sailing fast, came within hail and with her gun shotted and aimed, demanded their surrender.

There was but one thing to do, and Capt. Abbott and his men were soon aboard the York, while a prize crew of Confederates manned the twice-captured Baker, and the privateer and her prize started for Hatteras inlet.

Beached and Burned.

All went well through the night, and on the morning of the ninth there was every prospect of the two vessels being safe under the guns of the inlet forts before nightfall.

About 9 a.m., however, a steamer's smoke appeared on the horizon, and soon the York found herself being chased by a Federal gunboat. For four hours the chase continued, the gunboat being slow and her engines out of repair. The York's best hope of escape was to slip into an inlet in the coast, and for the nearest, New Inlet, had accordingly been headed.

The steamer was in a position to cut the privateer off from this haven, and did so. It was now a forlorn hope for the schooner, and finally there remained to her crew but one thing to do—to beach the York and escape to the shore.

To lighten the vessel her gun was dismounted and tipped over the side. Then with all sail set the privateer was headed for the sands, at a point about four miles below Bodie's Island lighthouse.

As she struck the beach her crew jumped into the surf and made their way ashore, a few remaining to apply the torch to the schooner.

Flames were soon pouring down the cabin and fore hatchway of the York, and as her crew and their prisoners stood on the beach and watched the vessel burn, the Federal steamer, which proved to be the Union, Commander J. R. Goldsborough, swept the burning craft and the beach with shells and grape shot.

The wind being off the shore, and the tide rising, the privateer drifted off the beach, and out to sea, a mass of flames.

The gunboat now paid attention to the York's prize, the schooner Baker. She was soon overhauled, and her Confederate prize crew lost no time in acceding to a demand for surrender.

As they stood on the deck of the Union, ruefully regarding their captors, their worst fears were realized, for handcuffs and legirons were brought out. They were subjected to "double irons" and thrust below.

For the third time a prize crew climbed over the side of the Baker, and the much-captured schooner was headed for Hampton Roads, where she was to arrive without incident.

Influence of the York.

It chanced that the activities of the York were to have an effect in influencing the United States government to fit out a military expedition to operate against Hatteras inlet.

Fifty years ago today—while the York was yet burning on the beach—representatives of six Philadelphia insurance companies were inditing a letter to the Secretary of the Navy urging the government to take action toward "breaking up the nest of pirates" at Hatteras inlet.

Capt. French of the brig B. T. Martin, who had been taken into Hatteras inlet and kept about ten days—"being well treated" by his captors—had been given his liberty and had proceeded to Philadelphia, where he lost no time in resorting to the insurance underwriters.

Capt. French had kept his eyes open while a prisoner to the Confederates, and had made accurate mental notes of the channel leading into Hatteras inlet, of the size and strength of the two forts there and the number and caliber of their guns, and of the chief features of the privateering business at that point as he had observed it.

He reported that besides the York, two side wheel steamers made the inlet their headquarters. He had seen three vessels sail from the inlet for Europe, two or three for Halifax, and five or six for the West Indies. "They enter and go with impunity," he reported.

Such information as this must prove disquieting to the Federal government, for much depended on maintaining a blockade of the southern coast, which as yet most plainly was not effective. Without the blockade the work of subduing the South would be doubly hard.

It is to be imagined, therefore, that the report of the skipper of the brig was read by the Secretary of the Navy with more than his usual gravity.

The reply made to the Philadelphia insurance men was in language that might have figured on the page of the British admiralty records at the time England was proceeding against the pirates of Madagascar. It was:

"Our intention and efforts have been for some time engaged toward relieving the country of these piratical movements, although it is not deemed advisable to give publicity to all our doings, and thus put the pirates on their guard."

Plans were completed shortly after this date for an exposition to move on Hatteras inlet from Hampton Roads.

The "pirates," meanwhile, were getting their New York papers with more or less regularity, had an exact understanding of their importance to the Confederacy, and were determined, no matter what names should be applied to them in the North, to continue to cruise under their "letters of marque and reprisal," issued by President Jefferson Davis of the Confederate States of America, and to inflict as much damage as possible on the shipping of their wealthy enemy in the North.

TAP WATER FOR LARGE HOLDINGS.

FOUR THOUSAND ACRES TO BE PUT UNDER IRRIGATION.

Group of Pasadena and Los Angeles Capitalists Starts Improvement Project, Which Embraces Scheme for Citrus Fruits and for General Farming—Test Wells Put Down.

[Special Correspondence of The Times.]

DINUBA, Aug. 8.—Four thousand acres of foothill land, included in what were formerly known as the Levi and the Curtis ranches, is to be improved this fall and winter by a group of Los Angeles and Pasadena capitalists. Of the entire holding 500 acres will be put out to citrus fruits, chiefly oranges.

Contracts have been let for the driving of enough wells to irrigate the entire tract, the number of bores to depend upon the capacity of those brought in. Test holes have been put down to prove the district and it has been found that water can be developed over the entire ranch at an economical depth.

About 1400 acres will be devoted to general farming. The tract will not be sold, but cultivated entirely in the interests of the owners. It is hoped to secure a portion of the running and development expenses of the lands from the culture of such easily-grown crops as alfalfa.

ELECTRIC CONTACT KILLS.

FATAL TO YOUNG WORKER.

[BY A. P. DAY WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

FRESNO, Aug. 8.—Arthur Quill, a young electrician employed by the San Joaquin Light and Power Company, was instantly killed at Malaga today by coming in contact with a live wire. While in the act of taking a ground wire from a circuit that serves the town, the wire he was handling came in contact with a high-voltage wire on the same pole as that on which Quill was working. The entire voltage passed through his body and he fell to the ground. Physicians worked two hours in an attempt to resuscitate him. He leaves a mother who resides in this city.

LUMBER WORKERS WALK OUT.

Because of the alleged refusal of the Fresno Flume and Lumber Company to replace its mountain physician with one more suitable to employees, 150 men employed in the logging camps near Shaver in the Sierra Nevada Mountains, east of this city, walked out yesterday and are coming to town today on every stage. Recently the men submitted a petition to mill officials declaring that the resident physician was incompetent. The petition, it is alleged, was ignored, and the walkout followed. While the lumber firm admits that it is short handed, it declares that men will soon be secured to take the places vacated.

RECTOR RESIGNS.

The vestry of St. James' Episcopal Church of this city this morning announced the resignation of Rev. Harvey S. Hanson, rector of the church. The resignation is in the hands of Bishop Louis Childs Sanford. The resignation will be accepted, it is understood, at the next meeting of the vestry. Rev. Hanson is now in charge of All Saints' Church, San Francisco, and it is understood he will continue as rector there. For a long time the church membership has been divided into two factions, one urging that Rev. Hanson's resignation be requested. The withdrawal of the support of the rector's opponents has involved the church in financial difficulties.

Hunting for Teachers.

PORTERVILLE, Aug. 8.—Members of the Board of Education are still hunting for two teachers to fill the list for the Porterville schools, there being a position as manual training instructor in the High School and a similar place at the grammar school yet to be filled. There have been numerous applications from women who aspire to the place, but the board believes it is one which can be handled to advantage only by a man.

Enlarging School Courses.

EXETER, Aug. 8.—The Exeter Board of Education has definitely decided upon the addition this coming fall of a number of practical courses. Agriculture and manual training will be opened for the boys and domestic science, cooking and sewing, are to be added for the benefit of the young women. It is probable that some of the subjects in the agricultural courses will be given to mixed classes.

ALWAYS IN DEMAND.

In a section growing and developing as in Southern California today, there is a great and increasing demand for all kinds of live stock. Buyers or sellers of same will find it decidedly to their advantage to read and use the "For Sale" and "Wanted Live Stock" columns of The Times classified section.

BIG MONEY IN ORANGES.

It has repeatedly been demonstrated that there are few, if any, legitimate investments that pay larger dividends on the money than a bearing Southern California orange grove. Listed in the "For Sale Orange Groves" columns of The Times classified section will be found the best groves now on the market at reasonable figures.
